The Irish Church Commission. The Freeman's Journal is in a terrible state of mind respecting the appointment of the gentlemen who have been chosen to act on the Government Church Commission. It is easy to see the traces of anger and mortification in our contemporary's elaborate and rather clumsy attempt at irony. The Freeman affects to regard the publication of the names of the Commissioners as "the greatest practical joke that has been successfully palmed on the Dublin press for a series of years," and spologiese for having fallen into the trap and unconsciously deceived the public and done an injustice to the government by the publication of the list in its columns. This is doubtless considered a vastly clever and witheringly sarcastic method of discrediting the commission, but it is not likely to influence any fair-minded and dispassionate man. The objection of the Freeman's Journal to the constitution of the commission is that four of the gentlemen named are members of the Defence Committee of the Church Institution, It is not alleged that they are wanting in intelligence, in character or in position—these are qualifications which no journalist would have the hardshood to deny to such men as the Hight Hon. Joseph Napier, Col. Robert Adair, Viscount de Vesci, and Mr Evelyn Philip Shirley. The one insurmountable disqualification in the eyes of the Freeman is that they are protestants, attached to their church, anxious for its mainten ance, and decidedly opposed to its spoliation. Now as the commission was appointed, not for the purpose of making out a case to damage the church like the mock "commission" of our contemporary, but to enquire and report on the existing condition of the establishment, we do not see how the sincere protestantism and toryism of four of its members can be regarded as a valid objection. There are other members of the commission equally strong liberals, and one of them the existing condition of the establishment, we do not see how the sincere protestantism and toryism of four of its members of making out a case to

Hon.Mr. Howe on Ireland.—Mr. Howe in the course of his remarks at the St. Patrick's concert, Montreal, referred to the grievances of which Irishmen complain, he said there was something wrong in the way in which the land was managed. Irishmen were not to be blamed for thinking that something might be done to relieve the people of Ireland. In Canada we had the Seignorial Tenure, but the Legislature stepped in, and this was da we had the Seignorial Tenure, but the Legislature stepped in, and this was removed and gave satisfaction to the people. The whole sum and substance of the matter with Ireland was, that money went out of the country, and did not come back to improve it, the consequence was that the people lived on a diet which would not be tolerat-ed in Canada for a week.

Gentlemes, -The watches manufic tured by you have been in use on this railroad for sever. I years by our enginemen, to whom we furnish watches as part of our equipmens. There are now some 300 of them carried on our line, and we consider them good and reliable time-keepers. Indeed, I have great satisfaction in saying your watches we have ever had in use on this road. As you are much longer without repairs than any watches we have ever had in use on this road. As you are aware, we formerly trusted to those or English manufacture, of acknowledged good reputation; but as a class they never kept time as correctly, nor have they done as good service as yours. In these statements I am sustained by my predecessor, Mr. Lewis, whose experience extended over a series of years.
