The Christian League.

A Union Formed at the London Y. M. C. A. Last Night.

The Reporters Were Barred This Time.

"If you reporters would move away from the front of those doors, we might possibly get a quorum," was a repeated request to the press representatives as they sat last night in the easy chairs at the Y. M. C. A. waiting for the arrival of sufficient material with which to form a Christian Citizen League. For four times within two weeks arrangements have been made to have a room to meet in, but no one showed up on any night, according to the janitor, but Mr. W. D. Buckle and Prof. James Bowman.

It was 8:45 before anyone concerned in the league organization turned up. The reporters that the meeting had been called for 8 o'clock. Prof. Bowman arrived first, then Mr. Fred Daly, and thirdly, Rev. Henry Rockford, of the Colored Methodist Church.

Following whom came Mr. Fred Simpson. These gentlemen had side talks with Mr. J. A. Spence, who had been called for 9 o'clock. Prof. Bowman arrived first, then Mr. Fred Daly, and thirdly, Rev. Henry Rockford, of the Colored Methodist Church.

Happy Crowd at Dundas Street Methodist Sunday School.

The Anniversary Entertainment—The Large Number of Children Who Took Part in the Programme Were Excellent Trained.

Last evening the Sunday school room of the Dundas Street Methodist Church was crowded to the doors throughout a lengthy but excellent entertainment furnished by the scholars. It was the festive celebration of the school's 27th anniversary, and every one, scholars, teachers and officers, parents and friends, entertainers and entertained, spent a happy evening.

The exercises in which the children of the primary classes took part were well calculated to be a pleasure to themselves as well as to the audience, and as a result the little ones were brighter and happier, were more natural, and showed their rich possibilities more than if the exercises had not been so well chosen. For this, and for the successful training of the juvenile performers, great credit is due Miss Belle Brown and Miss Nellie Keenleyside, who arranged and conducted the programme.

As a mark of appreciation of their services, the teachers and officers of the school, through Masters George Clark and George Willis and tiny Winifred Lancelley, presented Misses Brown and Keenleyside with beautiful bouquets.

After the opening hymn, and the invocation by the pastor, Rev. E. B. Lancelley, Mr. D. A. McDermid, the superintendent, delivered the opening address, expressing the general gratification felt at the progress of the school during the past year.

The programme included several orchestral selections; a kindergarten chorus; a dialogue, "The Old Folks at Home," in which the following little ones showed the old folks how to run a Sunday school: Misses Ethel and Lillie Ford, Stella Chapman, Annie Higgins, Will Wortman, Will and John Laundale, Arthur Lavelle, Chas. Dickie, Hope Florence, Marion Willis, Lenora Talbot, Anna Shuff, Florence Cole, Ethel Bradford, Irene Morrison.
