A Night Clerk's Adventure.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Harry Warner, night clerk in the drug store of E. A. Holiday, Eighteenth street and Wabash avenue, had a terrible struggle for his life early yesterday morning with two robbers. He was shot in the mouth and then beaten on the head with billies until the thieves left him, as they supposed, dead. The cash register in the store was rifled and an attempt made to rob the saie. From Warner the thieves took $20. A Night Clerk's Adventure.

Police Court Items.
Seated upon a bench before the dock in the Police Court yesterday morning was Ida Powell. She was there charged with keeping a house of evil repute. Apparently she felt her position keenly. Her face was buried in a handkerchief, and she wept copiously. This was as an actual fact merely feigned. When Magistrate Parke suspended judgment on condition that the city was abandoned immediately, she made a blithul rush for the door. Matthew Hunter, a frequenter, who is alleged to be the woman's husband, was told that the corporation could exist admirable without him. The Powell woman was convicted on him. The Powell woman was convicted on similar charge last December. Unt three weeks ago she was in Detroit. Lat-terly she has been living on Horton street three weeks ago she was in Detroit. Latterly she has been living on Horton street east.

Harvey W. Babcock, as the magistrate adjudged, has committed a breach of the bylaw. He drove a small wagon for delivery purposes without possessing a license. In mitigation of his offense he pleaded that no soliciting was done by him upon the usual stand, and that someone else had the wagons, unlicensed, going from store to store seeking custom. Sergt. Crawford stated that the latter only did work at the unasked bidding of merchants. Magistrate Parke held that there was no difference in the two cases, and adjourned the case for a week to allow Babcock to get a license.

Joseph Thompson and Robert McIntyre, two barbers, were charged with Sabbath desecration. The former admitted the offense. McIntyre equivocated slightly. The magistrate warned him to tell the truth or it would go hard with him. Both were field S?

Western Fair Preparations.

Preparations for the "great and only" Western Fair go on apace. The grounds and buildings are rapidly being put into shape by a small army of carpenters, painters and landscape artists. Already the framework of many of the displays in the main building are going up. The hay supply is coming into the cattle sheds in quantity. Workmen were busy yesterday stringing the electric lights all over the grounds. The judge's stand in the ring has been much improved and moved back.
The special attraction platform has been raised considerably and can now be plainly seen from any part of the grand stand.
The attraction committee have reported the entry list of class races and will keep Western Fair Preparations. The attraction committee have reported the entry list of class races and will keep the list open until Wednesday, thus giving all horsemen a chance to forward their entries. Many of the live stock will come direct from the Montreal Exposition, entries having been received as far away as Stanstead, Como and Petit Lac, Que. The main building premises to be as well filled as ever. From the number of entries and the class of exhibits in the fine arts life, this department will, to lovers of art, by worth the price of admission alone. The offices will be moved out to the grounds on Thursday morning. Thursday morning.
