This specification is a complete bar to concrete pipes being used in the sewer construction. I have been manufacturing in London about ten years, and have made it aspecial study so as not find it all smooth sailing, he will find that it is almost impossible to burn and sewer purposes, but I must own fectly. They are extremely brittle, and are often fractured unaccountably; will fit Mr. Graydon's specification, and that does not keep the manufacturer clear of the penalties attached to the specification and his inspector.

I have been reading specifications more or less for over thirty years in My Christian friends, have we a right to delegate to others the discharge of this duty which God demands of us? Suppose that four wood-thrushes propose to do all the singing some bright day, when the woods are ringing with bird voices. It is decided corporation, but they also bar out private individuals from using concret in their private sewers or drains where they have to make connections with the sewers, as the concrete pipes, as they are supposed to conform to specifications, clause 17, on concrete pipes Mr. Graydon's specification regulates the making of concrete pipes for private parties, or says that they should conform to his specification.

In addressing myself to the rate-payers of the city of London and civil and sanitary engineers, I do so with a great deal of confidence, first, in the ustice of my claims, and second, in the conviction that justice will appeal to others. Some engineers seem to regard Portland cement concrete pipes as a material which they even cannot admit to equal favor with clay or other kinds of glazed pipes. In their specifications some engineers are un-reasonable, but more open to conviction. Any word I can say to the The opposition to these pipes is more apparent than real, and is due mainly o two causes-first, lack of informa tion with the doubts naturally engendered by imperfect knowledge; ond, determined opposition by inter ested parties. Strenuous efforts are brought on the grounds at the expense of the manufacturer or contractor. The being made to prejudice the public against Portland cement concrete stone length of concrete pipes has got to be pipes.
