

A COLD PREVENTIVE.

Have you ever come out of a theatre, or church, or over-heated room and felt, immediately the cold night air caught your throat and breathing passages, that you were going to catch cold? That is the time to take Peps. Two or three Peps taken at once will prove an unfailing preventive. A cold developed means needless suffering and expense. Safeguard yourself by always keeping a box of Peps on hand.

They are also best for coughs, sore throat and bronchitis. All dealers, 50c. box.

ROUND HILL

Mrs. Jack O'Brien had a letter from her brother, Private Gerard Coakley, 44th Battalion, saying he was doing well, altho suffering some pain. His leg was blown off to the knee, by a shell, known as a Whizbang. When it struck him, so great was the concussion, he was thrown some ten feet, in the air, was receiving the very best of care and hoped to be able to return to Canada by the New Year.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitman were advised by minister of Records, Ottawa, that their son Private R. C. Whitman, 85th Battalion, is now in the Queen Alexandra Military Hospital, Grosvenor road, London, and was progressing satisfactorily. A great relief to the wife, parents and friends, altho "Reg" must go thru life with one leg, having lost the other at Cambria. This will never be a handicap to him, rather his mark of honour as one of the world's heroes.

Mrs. Wilshire has received from Private Malcolm McCharles, who has been a prisoner for over two years in Germany, a most interesting letter, thanking her for all her many kind parcels and letters she had sent him and also thanking the Round Hill Woman's Institute, thru his letter to her, for all their kindness to him and other prisoners in Germany. Private McCharles was one of the prisoners adopted by the Round Hill W. Institute. Private McCharles is now at the Hague, having been exchanged last April.

Mrs. J. Albert Foster and her daughter, Mrs. Reginald D. Bailey, have had some very interesting letters thru the late mail from France from Mrs. Foster's only son Bernard C. Foster serving with 101st Engineer Coy. A. E. F. In it he mentions several digouts they had found in their advances on the enemy. One they were living in was fitted up with electric devices, was built of solid concrete and faced up with brick, divided into three rooms. There were six Sargents in his party he and five others and they were very comfortable. Another one they had been in a few days before writing, Sept. 29th, was finished with barbed wire, glass doors, and electric lights, cupboards, mirrors. A Chandelier hung in the centre, three ventilators and a chimney. One day while looking for a lumber pile he says "I came across a dandy, built into a hill, also faced with brick two rooms done in black walnut, closets with diamond shaped glass doors, bird houses, on the railings outside, hammock, and travelling rings for exercise. "Now this all goes to prove these human beasts (because, I cannot call them men and pay due respect to the honor the word man stands for) know how to look after their own comfort. The wonder is how long did they expect to stay. Some time, one would think, after reading these most interesting letters next, where did they get the fillings for these digouts, must have been stolen from the one time comfortable homes of France. Then to show how exhausted these brave lads must be "Bern" goes on to say "One night several of us were sleeping in a clover patch in front of several batteries, with a heavy barrage going on in spite of all the noise, we slept soundly."
