success, and for the present the mining companies may be held out of its scope. The attorney-general added that he has spoken to a great number of competent judges and only one man had objected to the principle of "blue sky" legislation. He had, however, failed utterly to get any united opinion from those consulted. All seemed to feel it necessary to protect the public against certain mining promotions, but the difficulties presented were very great and it was felt in many quarters that results would follow any legislation that was not most carefully considered. He would like to have from every quarter of the house discussion of the bill which he felt was one of tremendous importance.

Due to Mining. J. C. Elliott asked whether the objection of the attorney-general recited were largely due to the mining clauses? Hon. Mr. Lucas: Various interests object to any bill that can be applied as well to mining as to other classes of companies. The bill was read and reported. A shower of women's legislation fell upon the assembly. Sure sign of an election.

Premier Hearst, seconded by Hon. Mr. Lucas, introduced a bill to enable farmers' wives to become eligible as members of school boards.

A number of minor government bills followed. The house, in committee, then tackled the supplementary estimates, and in an hour and a half voted $3,370,255. The Liberals kick about the cost of civil government, they allowed the speed from fifteen cents to twenty cents, as well as the sums called for the administration of justice. Education came next, and many new votes were asked. The work of the board was the explanation offered to many a query. There was a sum of $100,000 for consolidated schools grants and contingencies additional.

Mr. Mageau, Mr. Proudfoot and Mr. Marshall wanted information.

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson explained that the money was estimated in connection with the consolidated schools act, under various heads, even to the conveyance of children to school.

Mr. Mageau pressed for definite assurance that the advantages of this bill would be extended to New Ontario, and Mr. Ferguson gave the assurance.

A sum of $20,000 for medical and dental inspection in schools was closely examined, and several members of the government explained that it covered propaganda as well as inspection, and that it was not confined to large centres, but all school districts would be covered.

There was a disposition to question $400 allowance to P. W. Merchant, inspector, for extra service; but the government attested that it was deserved.

The large item of $200,000 for industrial and technical education, day and evening classes grants and contingencies, went thru on the assurance that small places as well as large centres would not be neglected.

A "lady fall fair specialist," valued at $1000, woke up Mr. Marshall's curiosity.

What was she? Specialist on women's work, said Hon. Mr. Henry.

"What is a woman's work?" Why, work contributed by women to fall fair.

Another specialist, who will be financed to the extent of $7000, will be able to tell when he sees an egg, of the chicken that emerges from it, whether the said chick, if permitted

Want War Loan Experts.

Dr. Edwards was informed by the secretary of state that the civil service commission had received applications for the position of executive head and four assistants, in connection with the war loans. The finance department emphasized the necessity of the immediate employment of these officials in order to obtain a working knowledge of the arrangements to be made for floating the loan, as the commission was not in a position until after September 19, to furnish the officials required to take complete charge, and to assist him in this work. The department availed themselves of the services of four expert men loaned by the Victory loan organizations in Toronto, and Montreal. Their services will be required until the final adjustment of the loan. They each receive $2500 per annum.

Mr. J. H. Sinclair was told by the government that approximately 3600 cable messages were refused transmission by the cable censorship at Hazel Hill, and Canoe, N.S., during the period of the war. Dr. Clark Says Return. Dr. Clark (Red Deer) said that he neither regarded Sir Charles Fitzpatrick as a thief, nor would Dr. Clark have his vote regarded as indicating that he thought Sir Charles a thief.

He believed that Sir Charles took the money in error. Putting aside legal cobwebs, Dr. Clark said, the position to him was clear—Sir Charles was paid for traveling. He did not travel. Therefore, he should return the money.

The Hon. Hugh Guthrie declared that there was no stigma on Sir Charles Fitzpatrick. The vote had been approved and if a mistake had been made, parliament made it. This debate might have the effect of casting a slur upon him, and this was undesirable.

H. C. Hocken, of Toronto West, said that if a postman took 50 cents improperly he would be sent to jail for five years. He would not say that Sir Charles had stolen the money, but he was the one man in Canada who should be careful, being the chief justice of the supreme court.
