Chicago, Nov. 9.—The interest and importance concerning the foreign situation in wheat was partly dimmed by the northwestern and other domestic conditions today. Cash and December at Minneapolis were jumping upward, and extraordinary premiums were being paid for cash lots in our market, most notably for red wheat. Seven cents over the December quotations for No. 2 red ruled at one time. Much changing from December to May took nlace, and the high point of the year for the former—80½c—was quotable for an instant. Before the close, however, realizing became popular, and a break of 1½c from the outside resulted. The close was fairly steady, with 1½c net gain for the day established. The visible supply showed an increase of 1,243,000 bu for last week, the amount of ocean passage. 240,000 bu and the English visible supply 647,000 bu. Liverpool was up ½d, and Paris, Berlin and Antwerp all quoted advances. December wheat opened from 78½c to 77½c; advanced to 80½c, and closed at 78½c—½c higher than Saturday. Cash wheat—Sample lots were 2c higher, closing easier. Corn advanced ½c for May and ½c to ½c for cash. May oats advanced ½c to ½c and cash ½c. Provisions firm. The leading futures closed as follows:

Trouble. White and Fountain Remanded

Involves Two "Suspects" in Seriou

Charge of Burglarizing Mr.

Brooks' House. Edward Fountain, a young colored man, and Edward White, a cigar maker, charge with robbing the house of J. H. Brooks, with Joseph Hughes and Joseph Hunter, two drunks, were the quartet that appeared before Magistrate Parke at the city Police Court this morning. White and Fountain were arrested last night by Detectives Nickle and Rider. The pair "did up" the town yesterday with the money supposed to have been stolen from

Mr. Brooks' house. They were traced to several places, and must have spent $5 or $6. In making a purchase at a store in the south part of the city they paid for their goods with the quarter stolen from Mr. Brooks, and bearing the monogram "M. E. B." They soon discovered their mistake and returned to the store, where they tried to persuade the merchant to exchange the marked quarter for an other, but he refused, and sent word to the police, and the men were soon afterwards arrested. On being searched at the police station a table knife was found on White, which was nicked at the back, thus enabling them to use it as a saw. A short time ago Fountain completed a three-years term at Kingston for attempted highway robbery, and figured some months since on a charge of robbing a pensioner named Higgins of a gold watch.

The two men were remanded for a week, to enable the Crown to investigate the case. Joseph Hughes stood up in the box with a much mutilated face. The police magistrate thought his punishment had been severe enough, and discharged him with a warning. Joseph Hunter. a drunk, was fined $2.

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIO

Leotta at Wesley Hall-Fine Production of "Monte Cristo"-"Human Hearts" Tonight-Music Hall. "HUMAN HEARTS" AT THE

GRAND TONIGHT. A play to be an unquestioned success should be written and produced for all classes of people. There should be elements for the gallery, balcony, dress circle and parquette. Hal. Reid, the author of "Human Hearts, has succeeded in so placing these essentials that this play of the people has never yet failed to please one and all With a wealth of beautiful scenery and a carefully-selected cast, ncluding the author, Hal. Reid, under the direction of Hon. Henry C. Miner, of the Fifth Avenue Theater, New York, there can be no question of the wisdom of theater-goers patronizing this excellent attraction.

LEOTTA'S DECITAL. "Leotta," the daughter of Samuel Longfellow, brother of the renowned poet, assisted by Miss Charlotte A. Hills, the harpist, drew a large and fashionable audience to Wesley Hall last night. Leotta's recital was far above the plane of the average elocutionist. Her dramatic power was perhaps seen at its best in her impersonation of Coriolanus, which held her audience spellbound. Her recital of Bret Harte's "Entertaining Grandmother's Guests" was highly appreciated as a contrast to the heavier pieces. "Lullaby in Black" was a clever imitation of the negro dialect of Missouri. It differs from the dialect of Tennessee and Kentucky about as much as the dialect of Devonshire does from that of Yorkshire. It was in this piece that Leotta made such a hit in the Eastern and Western States, as her mimicry of the negro voice of Missouri is perfect. Her Shakespearean renditions showed thought, study and intuitive percepion, allied to dramatic skill, and were worthy of the highest commendation. Miss Hills, the harpist, received several encores during the evening. The instrument upon which she played is handsome one, and valued at $2,500. At the close of the recital a series of statue poses and musical recita-tions, with brilliant calcium light effects, were given by Leotta, assisted by Miss Hills. These were representa-tive of Love, Hate, Dawn, Morning, Evening, Twilight, Watching, Surprise,"By Jingo," Disdain, Shame, Suspense, Sympathy, Defiance, Beseeching, Waiting, Desperation and many other emotions. Tonight there will be an entire change of programme, excepting that "Bobolink" will be repeated by special request. "MONTE CRISTO" AT THE GRAND.

"The Count of Monte Cristo" is one of the most fascinating romances in the whole range of French literature, and makes a very picturesque melodrama, when staged with any degree of splendor. Mr. James O'Neill seems to have set a standard for "Monte Cristo," which no other actor on the American stage has attained, and his name has become almost exclusively identified with the role. His production was seen here some years ago, and made an impression since been effaced. Last night another large and delighted audience witnessed a superb performance, which was notable for its brilliant and sumptuous stage effects, providing a perfect atmosphere for so sensational and imaginative a story. Mr. O'Neill has a majestic presence, a musical voice, and all the qualifications of a romantic actor. As the sailor, the priest or the count, he was equally as effi-cient and attractive, the triple role serving to display his versatility in a striking manner. Mr. O'Neill has surrounded himself with a capital company. Miss Anglin, his leading lady is a daughter of the late Hon. T. W Anglin, M.P. She is slender, graceful and pretty, and, more than that, clever. As the mature matron, she was quite as satisfying as the gay young girl.

EVELYN GORDON LAST NIGHT. At the Music Hall last night Evelyn Gordon and company presented Bart-ley Campbell's comedy-drama, "Fate," in a thoroughly capable manner. Miss Gordon, in the part of Florence Grantley, deserves special mention, and the support was competent. The audience filled the Music Hall to the loors. The engagement continues bill nightly. The play tonight will be a dramatization of Mrs. Braddon's famous novel, "Lady Audley's Secret," with Miss Gordon in the title

We have something to make a joyful noise about. There is no store or stock like ours, either in size or quality, in Western Ontario. We realize that we've got to do better than anybody in order to bring you here past everybody. We've been doing better than anybody for a long time. We're going to do still better. Our store facilities are such that it would be a sheer waste if we did not work them to their utmost capacity. In doing this we bring our customers into close contact with manufacturers. We buy in immense quantities direct from them, and you buy direct from us. Thus you buy at wholesale prices. It wouldn't pay us to buy through jobbers-they have to get a living, and they get it out of the consumer—and if it wouldn't pay us it wouldn't pay you. The point is very plain to see. Our customers see it, appreciate it, and profit by it. Let all the people see it, appreciate it, profit by it, and we will buy bigger quantities and sell at still closer prices. This week we are showing what it means to buy big lots. We intend doing

The Water Shortage Explained - Engineer Chipman Approves Sewerage Plans-A Poor Old Man.

The mayor today received an annymous letter, warning him that a shortage of water would certainly occur "if the water commissioners did not cease working on Sundays." The writer evidently believes that people should lay in their Sunday supply of water on Saturday night. It is not likely that the consciences of the water commissioners will be much affected by the letter. The Sunday work is done by the pumps.

A letter has been received from Engineer Chipman in which he expresses approval of the sewerage plans as outlined by the city engineer's staff. He suggests two or three slight changes, which are now being made, and will be ready for the Board of Works' meeting Thursday night. The board will likely call for tenders for the work, and then submit the whole
