MONTREAL STOCK MARKET.

(Gazette, Monday.)

Easily the most encouraging results for the present year to date are shown in the recapitulation of last week's business on the Montreal Stock Exchange. Out of thirty-eight stocks to furnish trading in upward of 150 shares, no less than twenty-seven scored net gains ranging from a fraction to eight points. Only eight issues declined, the greatest net loss being two points. Three issues remained unchanged from their previous close. After getting off to a bad start on Monday with the smallest volume of trading in two years, by reason of a holiday at New York and the consequent drying up of trading locally, last week's trading picked up to close with nearly nine thousand shares more than the previous week. Total sales last week amounted to 29,247 shares as compared with 20,402 shares the previous week, 34,865 a month ago, and 60,653 a year ago.

The marked improvement in the local market accompanied a continuation of strength and activity at New York, a steady rise in wheat and sterling exchange, and rapid progress toward par of the Canadian dollar at New York.

AN OPTIMISTIC NOTE.

Sir Charles Addis, K. C. M. G., president of the Institute of Bankers, London, finds encouragement in present conditions for a period of trade recovery from the stagnation of the last year. As reported in the current issue of the Journal of the Canadian Bankers' Association he already sees in the Far East, where the trouble began, the first faint streaks of dawn, and a revival of trade in India and China. In speaking of the financial position of Britain with reference to the external debt, he states that all her obligations to other nations, with the exception of the United States, have been discharged, exclusive of one or two negligible amounts. During the last two years, Britain had succeeded in paying off over £200,000,000 of her foreign debt, and this he considers no mean achievement. A little more courage and a little more patience, he adds, will see her supremacy in the finance of the world again acknowledged.

IN WALL STREET.

New York, Feb. 23 (10.30)—Accumulation of buying orders over the holiday gave momentum to the further advance of prices at the opening of today's market. Foreign oils, especially Royal Dutch, Shell Trading and General Asphalt, were the strongest issues. Southern Railway and St. Louis and San Francisco featured the renewed inquiry for speculative rails and Sears Roebuck, Wilson and Pierce Arrow preferred denoted short covering. The only stock to show acute weakness was National Enamelling common. That stock dropped 8½ points on further postponement of dividend action.

FREDERICTON NEWS.

Fredericton, N. B., Feb. 23—J. S. Lord of St. Stephen, Grand Chancellor of the Knight of Pythias, was the chief speaker at a special meeting of Fredericton Lodge No. 6, on Wednesday night to commemorate the fifty-eighth anniversary of the Order.

The Fredericton Golf Club has abolished a regulation providing one free day's play for visitors. The membership of the club is extended from seventy-five to ninety gentlemen and the same number of ladies.

The club is negotiating for a new professional, Devlin, whom they had before, having taken a new engagement.

The officers of the club are: President, R. Fitzrandolph; vice-president, G. A. Taylor; secretary, Adam Cameron; treasurer, G. N. C. Hawkins; managing committee, W. A. Vanwart, C. F. Chestnut, J. J. F. Winslow, E. O. Turner, A. J. Thompson.

The Meductic Branch.

Fredericton Mail:—During his visit to Moncton last week, Hon. C. W. Robinson and other prominent Liberals interviewed the minister of railways and urged him to construct a line of railway from a point near Meductic, York county to connect with the New England system at Bancroft, Maine. The minister seemed to be very favorably impressed with the idea and promised to refer the matter to his engineers. The construction of the "missing link" by the federal government would go a long way towards solving the Valley Railway problem.

Returning From the West.

Fredericton Gleaner:—Senator Thompson, who spent the winter in British Columbia with his daughter, Mrs. Frank Gregory, is expected home on Saturday. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Gregory, who will spend a few weeks here.

LOOK FOR PEACE, BUT BE PREPARED

Lieut. Col. G. Forster of the War Office Speaks on World Conditions—Nothing Threatening.

(Montreal Gazette.)

Oliver Cromwell's aphorism to the English troops, "Put your trust in God, but keep your powder dry," or, translated into modern advice to officers, watch events so as to provide against trouble in the future, was the underlying idea of an address given yesterday afternoon to the officers of the Montreal Garrison, at the Grenadier Guards' Armory, by Lt.-Col. G. Forster, C. M. G., D. S. O., Royal Engineers, G. S. O. I., to the Directors of Military Operations at the War Office, and one of the military advisers to the British Delegation at the Washington Conference. Lt.-Col. Forster, in his address, took his hearers on a quick trip around the world, especially dealing with the near East, India and other trouble spots, although it seemed from his remarks that almost every part of the world was a trouble centre, and that despite the efforts of peace conferences there was anything in the world but peace, so that it behooved all military men to keep their organizations in shape for whatever might happen.

There was an attendance of about two hundred officers, both overseas and home staffs, to hear Lt.-Col. Forster's address, and his analysis of the world situation was given careful attention, and warmly applaured at its conclusion.

The chair at the meeting was taken by Brig.-General C. J. Armstrong, G. O. C., who was attended by Lieut.-Col. R. O. Alexander, and Lt.-Col. R. Thackray, General Armstrong introducing Lt.-Col. Forster with a brief address, mentioning the distinguished services rendered by Lt.-Col. Forster, both in the South African campaign and the Great War, as well as with the war office, since the armistice.

In his address, Lt.-Col. Forster mainly confined his talk to military subjects, taking his hearers all over the world, with analysis of the varying conditions that existed, especially as political conditions might affect the military situation.

Dealing with the various danger spots, Lt.-Col. Forster somewhat discounted the talk of the yellow peril, since several of the so-called yellow races had taken an active part in the war, while the possibility of a real yellow peril was largely discounted by the fact that the two great yellow races of the Orient by no means agreed.

Passing thence to India, Lt.-Col. Forster discussed the state of affairs there, remarking that the British had a magnificent force of 60,000 troops in India, so trained and distributed that if the military were told to take India under their control they would be in position to do so without any dislocation.

As to the Polish agitation, Lt.-Col. Forster said it was a century old and had recently been largely conducted by paid agitators, with the result that instead of developing into an agitation against the whites it had become an internecine conflict against the Hindus.

Thence Lt.-Col. Forster proceeded to Egypt, with a talk on the military situation there, and the necessity for not only retaining control of the Suez Canal, but of the headwaters that fed the Nile, which was a problem for which the British would have to accept the responsibility, both in their own interests and in the interests of the world at large.

"The whole trouble throughout the world," said Lt.-Col. Forster, "seems to be based on an idea of the whites versus the non-whites, both in Asia and Africa. But I do not see anything threatening at present that might cause such a world conflagration as that we have just emerged from. At the same time it is important that we watch what is going on, so as to provide against trouble in the future."

From this, Lt.-Col. Forster proceeded to an expert analysis of the somewhat chaotic condition of affairs in Europe, with Russia always in the background, and a host of disintegrated and jealous small newly-created states, with Germany trying to make its way into Russia for development purposes, and the ever-present continuance of troubles in the Balkan States.

To combat these were the League of Nations, the Supreme Council, and the Washington Conference, which latter he considered the most hopeful for the future preservation of world peace, especially with the complete understanding it had brought between Great Britain and the United States for the purpose of preventing future wars.

"The great result o fall this," said Lt.-Col. Forster, "is that in future nations will discuss before they fight, which was exactly what Germany refused to do in 1914."

MATTERS IN INDIA

Calcutta, Feb. 23—(Canadian Press)—One hundred and sixty prisoners belonging to the non-co-operationist movement have been released from jail on the signing of certain promises.

London, Feb. 23—According to a Reuter despatch from Delhi, India, King George has directed that the monies in the king-emperor's fund subscribed during the war shall be used to build boarding schools for the sons of Indian soldiers. The schools will be called "King George's Royal Indian Military Schools."

The Prince of Wales will lay the foundation stones of the first two schools on Feb. 26 and March 1 respectively.

London, Feb. 23—(Canadian Press)—An extremely enthusiastic demonstration accorded the Prince of Wales yesterday is regarded as a severe blow to the non-co-operation movement in Delhi, for the city people attended spontaneously in enormous masses, says a Reuter cable from Delhi. The occasion was the prince's visit to the people's fair of the city. The organizers had intended to carry out a programme of sports including races and wrestling matches but the huge crowd, estimated at between 50,000 and 100,000 swamped the enclosures and when the prince arrived on horseback they literally pursued him round the grounds, cheering continuously. The prince rode through the masses for half an hour saluting and smiling, delighted at the reception. The police and military were powerless to prevent the attentions of the crowd.

FAST HANDLING OF A BIG LINER IN A STORM

(New York Times)

Captain Harold I. Cunningham brought the liner George Washington from Quarantine to Pier 4, Hoboken, yesterday, and made fast, all in seventy minutes, which was considered smart work in view of the weather. The steamship, which is operated by the United States Lines, was twenty-four hours late because of rough weather and delay in leaving Bremen, where the water in the Weser was lower than it had been in forty years.

When the George Washington was approaching New York on Saturday she was held up by fog and did not get to Quarantine until early yesterday. Captain Cunningham said he had hurried because the steamship was due to leave at noon tomorrow with 650 American tourists for the Near East, and had to be stored, coaled and cleaned before they could go on board. The liner brought $2,000,000 in gold for New York banks and a big consignment of mails. The only untoward incident on the voyage was the death of Sam Grouck, a sailor, from pneumonia. He was buried at sea.

One of the first cabin passengers was Emil Lederer, passenger traffic manager of the United American Lines, who went to Europe three months ago and was in Holland with W. A. Harriman, President of that corporation, when he purchased two 20,000-ton liners, Brabantia and Limburgia from the Royal Holland Lloyd.

Speaking of business conditions aboard, Mr. Lederer said:

"I found conditions most perplexing, especialy in Germany where the government is said to be bankrupt, while the shipbuilding industries are flourishing as never before in the country's history. The port of Hamburg, for instance, in 1921 regained her pre-war tonnage.

"The United American Lines will have in the two liners that they have just purchased, which will be known as the Resolute and the Reliance, two of the finest modern vessels operated under the American flag."

Mr. Lederer said he believed Mr. Harriman would succeed in his aim to have the finest fleet of ships flying the American flag.

The Resolute will leave Hamburg on her maiden voyage April 11 and depart from New York on May 2.

The Cunarder Albania arrived yesterday from Liverpool, after a stormy twelve days and being delayed another day by the fog off Sandy Hook on Saturday.

Amoy, parliamentary secretary to the Board of Admiralty, said that the number and destinations of British families assisted to emigrate during the six months ended January 31 last under the free passage scheme for ex-service men were:

To Canada, 679; to Australia, 4,056; to New Zealand, 960; to South Africa, 428; to other parts of the empire, 225.

The figures do not include families assisted by the dominion governments. Colonel Amoy was unaware what numbers had received assistance from the dominions.

'CANNOT INSURE STAR'S REPUTATION

All Other Contingencies Appear to be Provided For—Insurance Covers a Wide Field.

(Mail and Empire.)

"If the film corporations could only insure the reputations of such stars as Fatty Arbuckle and Mary Miles Minter, it would be a good thing," said C. P. Muckle, secretary-treasurer of the Excelsior Life Insurance Company, last night, in addressing the Insurance Institute of Toronto in the Board of Trade dining rooms at the February meeting of the institute, on "Nature of Life Insurance—Its Basic Principles and Uses."

Mr. Muckle was speaking about the recent negotiations by a film company for $5,000,000 insurance on the life of one of its stars, in order to prevent loss to the company in case death occurred.

In speaking of the principles, he enlarged upon the benefits of group insurance, its safeguards and elimination of risks, as well as the methods employed. His address was chiefly for those students fitting themselves for examinations, and it contained only the simple facts about the various forms of insurance in vogue.

It was a common practice, said he, for firms to insure the life of one of its members that, on his death, his part of the capital could be paid and the firm continue. Endowment policies were also taken out by firms wishing to float a bond issue that the two might come due together. Business or commercial insurance had in the last decade assumed large proportions for the protection of especially international firms.

Insurance was taken out for the education of the child, a marriage dower, a fund for a young man in business, provision for old age, protection of the family depending upon the husband as wage-earner and many other reasons. Managers of Paderewski or Mary Pickford were certainly an enormous asset in the success of the artists, and for that reason were generally heavily insured.

Students, too, he added, assigned policies to friends in return for capital to carry them through college, and where a man died, wishing to leave his estate intact for a period of years, companies advanced money to his heirs on assignment of their part of the estate as security.
