"Eddie" McGrath Dead.
Arlington, June 14.—Edward J. McGrath, one of the best-known horse trainers in the country, known all over the circuit as "Eddie" McGrath, died at his home on Saturday night. Mr. McGrath was an expert in his line and had handled some of the best horses that ever entered the race track, foremost among them being the great Ulan, whose record of 138 has never been broken. He was at the Arthur Parker Stock Farm in Bedford for eighteen years. Gentle, always wearing a smile, quiet and reliable.

Until He Took "Fruit-a-lives"

The Fruit Medicine

R. R. No. 1, Lorne, Ont.
"For over three years, I was confined to bed with Rheumatism. I treated with doctors, and tried nearly everything without benefit. Finally, I tried 'Fruit-a-lives'. Before I had used half a box I saw improvement; the pain was easier and the swelling started to go down. I continued taking this fruit medicine, improving all the time, and now I can walk about two miles and do light work about the place."

REPORTS FROM THE FARMS OF PROVINCE

Fredericton, June 16.—The weekly report on agricultural conditions in New Brunswick, as reported by district representatives of the department of agriculture, is as follows:

Seeding is reported to be practically completed in all parts of the province with the exception of the buckwheat and the turnip crop. Weather conditions have been very favorable for putting the crop in and recent rains have given all crops a good start. The pastures have been slow in starting, owing to the cool, dry weather during May. For the season the hay crop has been held back and has not the growth that it often has at this time of the year. Provided that there is good growing weather during the next month there may still be a fair crop. There is likely to be a considerable shortage of hay in some of the provinces this year. Ontario reports that the crop away below the average, while the same is true of some parts of Quebec. Live stock is reported to be rapidly improving in condition since going on grass. The spring has been very favorable for raising lambs and reports indicate that there will be a large percentage raised, with few losses. The largest quantity of wool ever assembled at one point in New Brunswick is now being graded at the exhibition buildings, Fredericton. There is still a considerable quantity to come in. The wool market is very uncertain, but sheep breeders are assured of the full market price when marketing co-operatively through this organization.

BANGOR WOMAN NOW TESTIFIES

Mrs. Linnell Was Almost a Nervous and Physical Wreck When She Began Taking Tanlac.

"I'm certainly glad I began taking Tanlac when I did for I was on the verge of nervous prostration but now I am feeling better than I have for twenty years," said Mrs. Ira W. Linnell of 79 Cedar street, Bangor (Me.), a few days ago.

"I was in dreadful health which had been brought on by years of suffering that had simply made me almost a complete nervous and physical wreck. My appetite was extremely poor and I never thought of such a thing as sitting down to the breakfast table. I could hardly digest a thing and no matter how light a meal I ate it always caused acute pains in my stomach. I felt bloated and stuffy all the time and often had such spells of palpitation and shortness of breath that I completely exhausted me and I would have to go to bed some times before dinner, and stay there the rest of the day. Rheumatism developed and my shoulders, arms and legs hurt so bad I could hardly move without being in pain. Rest, why I had forgotten what a night's rest was and often couldn't sleep more than two hours all night long. My nerves were simply a total wreck and frequently I went down town and became so completely upset I forgot what I was there for and I had to telephone home then to send someone after me. Headaches, oh, they were so dreadful I thought they would drive me distracted and many times I just had to go to bed."

"That's the condition I was in but thank goodness, those days of suffering are over and it's all because of the good Tanlac has done me. My nerves are just splendid and it makes no difference what I eat I never have the slightest trouble in digesting it. I am free from palpitation and shortness of breath and I am not bothered with rheumatism or headaches any more. My nerves are quieted down until now they are as steady as I would want them and I sleep so sound I have to have an alarm clock to wake me up every morning. I am enjoying all splendid health and I would be ungrateful not to be willing to tell others about it so they may benefit by my experience."

"Tanlac is sold in St. John by the Ross Drug Company and F. W. Munro; by J. W. McKay, Beaver Harbor; Willard J. Colwell, Evans; C. W. Pearson, High-land, and by the leading druggists in every town.—(Advt.)

NICE JUMBLE

solutions, but found towards midnight that the day was about four hours too short for the taxes.

Puzzle to Fix Things After So Many Changes

It's a Rush Job, Too, for Amendments Are Now in Effect—A Bit of Fun with Messrs. Drayton and Fielding.

(Special to Times.)
Ottawa, June 16.—The new taxes as finally amended on Tuesday, go into effect today. The bill incorporating them was read the first time today. That is the bill is now officially regarded as read. As a matter of fact, officials of the department were at midnight working strenuously to get it into shape, a tangled skein to unravel as today when they tried to prepare the bill.

The original resolution as introduced in the budget speech of May 18, by Sir Henry Drayton differ so materially from the bill as introduced that it is almost impossible to trace the amendments. The house and members of parliament within it, that it is like threading a needle with the exception of the new taxes in their appropriate places, item by item. Even when fully printed, and they were changed from category to category so that the bewildered ones trying to frame the bill could never tell, while deriving, whether they had finished a given category or not.

Newspaper men, finding that the government had not been able to get in the new taxes, strove to do the trick themselves with the help of Hansard and the original and later revisions.

The wool market shows an even worse state of demoralization, according to Mr. LaBryer. He says that wool which a year ago ranged from fifty to fifty-five cents a pound, it is now virtually impossible to get twenty-five cents for. The demand for wool is so slight, he said, that no dealers are making purchases except where they get an opportunity to buy at such low prices that they are willing to take a chance.

The recent attempt of the Wool Growers' Association to hold a wool sale at Enid, which was called off because there were no buyers, was cited by Mr. LaBryer as an illustration of the present day wool market situation. A single buyer offered twenty cents for the best grade of Shropshire wool if he could get a nation lot.

HOW TO PICK THE WINNERS

AND WHEN NOT TO BET

The man who, having bet, detects himself singing before a race, is doomed to lose. Money carried for three days in a man's shoe or a woman's stocking is invested with winning powers, while some men will never back a horse except at odds of six to five or nine to five. They assert that they always win at those prices and lose at others. Few betting men have the courage to wager their money after having seen a cross-eyed person. Such an occurrence is regarded as a bad omen.

When an accident occurs at the starting post, and a jockey finds it necessary to dismount, there is a great scramble of the superstitious to bet upon his horse. Many persons have an odd fancy for backing horses according to certain numbers on the programme, but the reasoning and deduction of no two men are the same.

Sticking a pin through the programme from back to front is a popular method of picking winners. Perhaps it is as good a way as any. Women who bet have their favorite messenger boys, and will allow no others to place their commissions. "Oh, where is my lucky boy?" is the anxious inquiry that is heard over and over again. If the lucky boy fails to turn up there is no bet.

A spectator in doubt resorts to innumerable devices in his search for tips. If only two horses go to the post he probably tosses a coin to decide. If there are ten starters, he writes their respective numbers on small bits of paper, shakes them in his hands, presses the palms close to gether, opens them, and blows the papers away. He pins his faith to the last one to leave his hand—Tilt Bits.

CANADA'S DEFENSE.

Just supposing Uncle Sam wielded the big stick on the pulpwood question, and said that no coal, sulphur, lead or dyes should come from the United States to this country unless the Canadian provinces permitted free export of pulpwood cut on Crown lands to that country. It is a sad thought that any economic war of this kind should come about, but in the meantime Canada's position in such an emergency becomes
