GOOD THINGS COMING TO THEATRES OF ST. JOHN

TRICKS OF CHING LING TOY ARE WONDERFUL OTHER FEATURES GOOD

Ching Ling Toy, the Chinese magician at the Opera House this week, is rather a departure from the old style maker of magic. He works quickly and without any of the old-fashioned passes and magic. He works quickly and without any of the old-fashioned passes and flourishes of the magic wand, but his tricks are certainly wonders. A good novelty and worth seeing.

There is good acting in the playlet presented by Lizzie Evans and Jeff Lloyd and a young chap—all three good actors—and this offering will appeal to those who like the drama.

John H. Clarke, his business is laughmaking, and in this he surely succeeds. As a sure cure for the blues he is an unqualified success.

Smith and Haley offer a good comedy singing and piano number that is above the average and Stevens and Falke, two likeable young girls, are both clever singers and dancers.

picture. The latter starred the noted Fannie Ward in a five reels play "Innocence,"—the story of a young firl, absolutely free of knowledge of the world, who is thrown into the social whin. The developments make a dramatic picture. You'll enjoy it.

Cowan and Fiske, in vaudeville are a snappy pair of performers with good jokes, singing and a striking finish to the act. Carter and Cooney—the latter black face—have a dandy fun-making act. That "Hieland" turn is a daisy. Flying Geer's sensational trapese act is making everyone sit up, and The Bernard Trio of girls combine singing, uproarious comedy and excellent dancing in a lively act that concludes a very entertaining programme. Tonight at 7.15 and nine; new, witture. Ethel Clayton in "Souls Adrift."

"STOLEN HONOR"

A Remarkable Fox Play With Virginia Pearson at Unique—Dramatic

A feature of excellence in every respect is the intense dramatic subject, "Stolen Honor," shown at Unique today, Tuesday and Wednesday. A story of intrigue and jealousy, scenes laid in and around Washington, D. C. In this subject Miss Pearson wears no less than twenty-five different gowns, each one representing the very acme of the dressmaker's skill. Other features as well. GERMANY ANXIOUS
ABOUT AFTER THE WAR

London, May 6—(via Reuter's Ottawa Agency)—With reference to cable messages anonuncing Germany's commercial preparations for after the war, the newspapers of that country are featuring German dependence on raw materials controlled by the Allies and the consequent necessity of making the question of raw materials one of the most important at the peace negotiations.

St. John's, Nfid., May 6—The extent to which the war has interfered with the Labrador codfishing industry, one of the most important Newfoundaind commercial pursuits, was revealed by official figures for 1917, made public today. These showed that exports fell off from an average of 250,000 quintals (112 pounds) of cod in pre-war years to 56,000 last year. The proposed enforcement of conscription in the colony is likely to reduce the fisheries still further this year.

MATHESON—In this city, on May 4,1918, at the General Public Hospital, Augustus Matheson, aged seventy-five years, leaving his wife, three daughters and one son to mourn their sad loss. London, May 6—Great Britain's pota-ta acreage in 1918 will exceed that of 1917 by twenty-five per cent, according to the food centroller's compilation from preliminary returns. Every county in England, Wales and Scotland shows an increase over 1917 in acreage.

SAY NO FRICTION IN L. C. R.

Moncton, N. B., May 6—Despite rumors to the contrary, there is no friction between the I. C. R. train despatchers and telegraphers and the I. C. R. tnanagement. The employes say they are perfectly satisfied with the progress of negotiations and that while they have presented a schedule asking for increases they have no doubt that a satisfactory settlement will be arrived at.

MAY HAVE TO SEND

Quebec or Montreal it is quite certain the purchasers will have to send their own ships there for cargo. A few firms followed this course last year. Canadian government railways will likely forward steamers and have them carry cargoes to Levis from which point it will be distributed. This is according to advices received today.

The lower St. Lawrence and gulf and Cabot Strait are packed with drift ice which extends for more than 100 miles along the south coast of Newfoundland.

INFANTRY UNIT FROM LAVAL UNIVERSITY. Quebec, May 6—At today's sittings at Laval University, Father Filion, rector, read to the students a letter received from the deputy minister of militia, suggesting that a company of infantry be formed exclusively of young students of Laval and of the colleges affiliated with this institution. This would require the enlistment of 250 youths. The organization of the company is left in the hands of Major T. Pacquet and judging by the way the suggestion was received by the students today, this company will soon be formed.

students today, this company will soon be formed.

The men who would join this particular unit would be entitled to compete for non-commission posts, and they will also compete for commissions and, further, they would be allowed to choose their unit, once in France.

This idea of having a particular unit from Laval University was carried out in the Toponto University and the results were most gratifying.

Quebec, May 6—Dominion Coal Company officials say that, owing to lack of shipping facilities, it is unlikely that much coal will be sent from Sydney up the St. Lawrence this summer. The company is taxed to find bottoms to supply the maritime provinces. Should coal be required in any large quantities at Quebec or Montreal it is quite certain the purchasers will have to send their own ships there for cargo. A few firms followed this course last year. Decided This Morning to Have Form of Censorship on Local Performances

From now on vaudeville shows in th Cape Town, South Africa, May 5—General Louis Botha, premier of the Union of South Africa, appealing for recruits to fill gaps in the South African brigade in Europe, asks that the men of wealth who cannot go themselves send substitutes, with whom they may make arrangements themselves. The prime minister concludes his appeal by announcing that he will open the list of names of South Africans willing to provide three, five or any number of substitutes.

Believing that the business man would not risk the injury to his credit, which would result from being involved in a gambling scandal, Reynolds began to press for a cash installment of the $53,000, but the guest picked up a telephone and threatened to attract attention from the outside by throwing it through the window.

This scared Reynolds and the man got his wife and left at once. He took the story to the police without delay. Inspector Costigan picked out Detective Bernard McQuade to pose as a millionaire lumber merchant from Montreal. He then got acquainted with Reynolds through a woman whom he met in a hotel corridor.

When he was taken to the West Sixty-eighth street station, he was anxious that a certain city magistrate should be notified at once. When Assistant District-Attorney James E. Smith arrived at the station, Reynolds explained:

exclaimed:

"Why, hello, Jim. I'm awfully glad to see you."

"I'm awfully glad to see you," said Smith, who had been warned that Reynolds boasted of official influence and that an attempt would be made to get him out on light bail. "Lieutenant, the bail in this case ought to be $15,000 at least. If anyone appears to bail him out left me know before anything is out, let me know before anything i

Assistant District-Attorney Smith said yesterday:

"This man has never been arrested before, although he has been in this kind of business for years. He has been running the house near Central Park for three years and has probably cleaned up a million dollars in that time and spent most of it." An interesting diary and some corre spondence of Reynolds were taken to the district-attorney's office. One was a letter to him shortly after the first of the year, officially thanking him in behalf of King George V. of England for his expression of a wish for the continued health and prosperity of his majesty. There were two letters of introduction, one to Mrs. James Welch, 30 Lauderdale Road, London, and another to Lady Morris, describing the "sterling qualities" of Reynolds. One was signed "Ella F. Might we ask the advertisers in the Times-Star to let us have their ad. copy not later than 6 o'clock the night before the day on which insertion is desired?

The crush of advertising, which The Times has been carrying the last few months, makes a call fo. HELP on the part of the business office an urgent necessity.

It's hardly necessary to state the value to YOU of this feature, as the earlier the paper is out, th larger the sale—hence, an increas ed market for you.

It also means that your advertisement will receive the best cattention as regards typographic treatment; will be dressed in the way your PUBLIC SALESMAN should be dressed. Best work, of course, can't be done in a rush, and neither you nor The TIMES is satisfied with a poorly dressed ad.

The unfortunate fact that quite frequently advertisements have to be omitted from The Times on account of late copy, prompts this S. O. S. call, and really your own best interests would demand that it be heeded.
