DEATH OF MISS BRIDGE
After a lengthy illness, Miss Lucy L. Bridge passed away this morning at the Mater Misericordiae Home in Sydney street. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bridge and is survived by one brother, Henry T. Bridge, of the city. Her many friends will be sorry to learn of her bereavement. The funeral will be held from the Mater Misericordiae Home at half past two o'clock on Wednesday afternoon.

JOHN E. WILSON'S POSITION
In his speech last evening, John E. Wilson, P. M., said that he had told the people on a former occasion that if ever the policy of his party conflicted with the interests of the city he would consider the city first. In one of the morning reports this was not brought out clearly, and it is due to Mr. Wilson to state his position correctly. He says he still puts city before party.

RICHARD J. SULLIVAN
The death of Richard J. Sullivan, of 82 Frederick street, which occurred at an early hour this morning, will be regretted by a wide circle of friends. Mr. Sullivan had been engaged in the teaing business for many years and was well known throughout the city. He had been a severe sufferer from asthma all his life, but had been able to conduct his business and had been able to go out as usual within the last few days. Last night, however, he suffered a severe attack, and died at an early hour this morning. Mr. Sullivan leaves a widow, two sons, William and Richard, and two daughters, Margaret and Lila. He also had three brothers and four sisters, only one of whom, his brother John, is present in the city. William J. Sullivan, the town marshal of Sackville, is a brother. Mr. Sullivan was only 53 years of age. He was a man of fine character, and had very many warm friends, who will extend deep sympathy to the bereaved family. The funeral will take place Thursday afternoon at half-past two o'clock.

BISHOP RICHARDSON SPEAKS OF ROTHEASY FOOTBALL MATTER

(Fredericton Gleaner)
The Gleaner today publishes a copy of the rules governing the Intercollegiate Football League as provided in the way of a deed of gift with the trophy by the U. N. B. students.

His Lordship Bishop Richardson, who takes an active interest in the management of the Rothesay Collegiate School and follows the work of the institution's football team closely, feels that the Rothesay School's position has been unfairly stated in discussions of the league affairs and to substantiate his claims His Lordship has provided The Gleaner with a copy of the rules, published herewith.

It will be remembered that Fredericton High School pulled out of the league at a meeting held at St. John because the Rothesay School intended to play Mr. Harley, one of the masters at the institution on their team this year. The rules show that the Rothesay School is perfectly within its rights in playing Mr. Harley.

Appointment of Trustees.
It was also claimed by Fredericton High School that the trustees of the cup had no right to attend a league meeting. The rules show that the trustees are included in the committee of management of the league. The trustees are J. H. A. L. Fairweather, C. M. Lawson and T. E. Powers, all of St. John. They were appointed by the U. N. B. students' committee. Mr. Lawson was not a member of the Fredericton High School teaching staff at the time of his appointment, as alleged by the Fredericton High School representatives, and the term of their appointment is indefinite. "Mr. Lawson has been a member of the teaching staffs at Rothesay school, and St. John High School," said the Bishop on his visit to The Gleaner sporting department, "and is thus eminently fitted to act as one of the trustees."

Want Master to Play
"We are particularly anxious at Rothesay that the playing of a master on each school's team should be allowed," continued His Lordship, "and we have several good reasons therefor. We believe that the presence of a master on the team does away with unnecessary roughness in the play, and the use of bad language by the boys in the heat of the excitement and makes it possible for the master to referee the contest. His team in the science of the game than he could from the sidelines."

"The action of the Fredericton High School in this matter has not been governed by the motives which rule good sportsmanship. The Fredericton school seems to be pursuing a policy of win at any cost, or perhaps sure victory or we won't play." They have asked the U. N. B. students, as donors of the cup to change the rules, but subsection C of Section 5 of the rules, which practically constitute the deed of gift of the trophy, states that the power to change the rules rests only with the trustees."

BOARD OF TRADE SECRETARY GIVEN WELCOME IN BANGOR

Mr. Hoag in Pretty Maine City on Way Home From New York

Bangor, Me., Oct. 7.—(Special)—Henry T. Hoag, secretary of the St. John Board of Trade, was a visitor in this city over the week end, coming here to join Mrs. Hoag on his return from New York, where he has been conducting a successful campaign for industrial prospects for that city.

He is a friend of Wilfrid A. Hennessey, secretary of the local chamber of commerce, and was an interested visitor there. He spoke of St. John in most enthusiastic terms, and although he has been connected with the commercial organization there but a comparatively few months, he is delighted with the city and its life, and predicts a wonderful future.

Mrs. Hoag, while here, was the guest of Mrs. Jones, whose husband, Hon. N. M. Jones, is the manager of the Partington Pulp & Paper Co., Ltd., of St. John. Mrs. Jones opened her beautiful home in State street for the week of the Maine Music Festival, for her guests.

He and Mrs. Hoag were Mrs. Jones' guests at the closing concert of the festival on Saturday evening, and they were well impressed with the size and character of the audience at Maine's annual musical treat.

FATHER FINED IN LOCAL TRUANCY CASE

There's a Lesson in These Questions and Answers

"I think it is a disgrace to St. John, the way some people here bring up their children," said Magistrate Ritchie in the police court this morning when a truant case was before him. To the boy the judge asked:

"How old are you?"
"Fourteen."
"Can you read?"
"No."
"Can you write?"
"Yes."
"The boy wrote his name for the education of the court."
"A boy of fourteen ought to do better than that," commented the judge.
"When did you go to church last?"
"About a year ago."
"Did you ever belong to a Sunday school?"
"Yes; I did until I quit about a year ago."
"And school—when did you go to school last?"
"I ain't been to school for a year."
"It's a case of plain neglect of the youngster by his father," declared the court. "Tell me, can you recite the Lord's Prayer for me?"
The boy said he could not.
"I wouldn't mind saying that you are one of the four hundred and odd boys in St. John belonging to the Anglican church who cannot say the Lord's Prayer," commented His Honor. The boy hung his head.

Civil cases are:

Frances H. McNair vs. W. Albert Saunders. This was adjourned until Oct. 16.
R. Wesley McAfee vs. Headley Northrup, adjourned for hearing in Chambers in Sussex, on Oct. 20. The jurors were all directed to be in attendance at ten o'clock on Oct. 16 to which time the court then adjourned.

STREET CARS WERE HELD UP

For two hours, beginning at 11.30 o'clock this morning, the street car service was off its running schedule, the large motor truck belonging to R. P. & W. F. Starr having broken down in Main street near the corner of Harrison.

The truck with a heavy load of coal was going towards Indiantown and kept between the street car tracks owing to the big hollows on the side of the street which the traffic law requires vehicles going in that direction to take. It was about 120 when all was clear.

The worse feature of the accident was that it happened so near the noon hour when a large number of all classes of people employed in different parts of the city were returning to their homes in the North End. The street cars when first obstructed collected at the scene of the accident and then ran back to the city again. On their return, however, they were switched off and ran both ways to and from the city on the one track.
