INSUBORDINATION AND REBELLION

Caused a Congregation to be Dismissed Without Service on Sunday Evening.

Some Statements About the Trouble in the Church of the Good Shepherd, Fairville.

The Members of the Church Tell Their Story and the Rector of the Church Also Has a Say.

(From The Daily Sun of the 10th.)

There is trouble in the Church of the Good Shepherd, Fairville. Last Sunday night the congregation assembled as usual, but no service was held.

The affair is the talk of Lanceter, and as there were so many conflicting stories about the Sun has seen the members of the church interviewed and their statements appear below.

Lancaster has no parish church. Years ago the parish of Lanceter included what is now Musquash, and the parish church was in that portion of the parish.

Some years ago the Church of the Good Shepherd was built at Fairville for the use of the Church of England people residing there.

Some months ago his lordship appointed Rev. Mr. McKiel priest in charge and directed that the keys, etc., should be handed over to him.

The vestry met last night, and after disposing of the usual business took up and considered at some length the trouble in the church.

The motion did not pass. It was moved after a resolution to adjourn had been made and after some talk, the original motion was put and carried.

In the discussion a great many things were said, but the majority seemed to want peace. Another meeting is talked of, Capt. Hamlyn is not present last night.

Yesterday afternoon a Sun reporter saw two prominent members of the church, William Betts and John Gregg, and they were questioned as to the troubles in the church.

was silenced by me. The two young women persisted in remaining, and I had nothing to do but dismiss the congregation.

AUSTRALIA'S CENSUS.

A Growing Population, Nearly Forty Per Cent. of Which Is in Three Cities.

A considerable amount of useful and interesting information is contained in the "General Report of the Eleventh Census of New South Wales," by T. A. Coghlan, government statistician of that colony.

The Australian born portion of the population numbered 899,876 or 71.53 per cent. of the whole.

The educational status of the colony is very high. Of 563,768 persons of 15 years of age and upwards 590,291 can read and write.

THE FARM

Letter from W. H. Hubbard on Land Paster or Gypsum.

The Brown Leghorns - Characteristics of an Attractive and Profitable Breed.

Few fowls are more sprightly and trim than the Leghorn. The carriage is very upright, and the large and gaily carried tail of the cock increases his apparent size and adds greatly to his beauty.

In winter they need a good warm house, to prevent the freezing of their combs, and if provided with such a house, will lay quite well, even in very cold weather.

When anybody, and especially a breeder of thoroughbred fowls, says Fanny Field in Farm Poultry, runs over the common hen-says that she never did and never will pay her way on the farm or anywhere else.

The food was wheat bran, cracked corn and a few old potatoes, and not another thing. The potatoes were food last night, and given in the morning.

To boom the poultry business as a bonanza for gathering in the shekels so dear to every eye is a cruel wrong. There are hundreds of successful poultry breeders in this country.

The question of laying qualities of hens and pullets is not yet settled. Some claim that a hen two or three years of age will lay more eggs and better eggs than a pullet.

early hatched pullets ready to take their place. Of course he refers to the farmer and not the fancier. He says: A fancier who wants his best egg yield to come in March, April and May can be very well content with few or no eggs during the period of 120, the food sluggish laying during December, January and February.

How many of the fanciers are there, do you think, that kill off the old hens each year and depend on the early hatched pullets for their egg supply? And yet we can assure them that the egg supply will greatly increase with the same number of pullets as of the old birds.

After the first year a hen has generally seen her best days as a layer, and she will generally lay on fat instead of eggs. How much better to have pullets that will lay three days and lay off one than old hens that lay one day and lay off three!

LAND PLASTER OR GYPSUM.

One of the five questions among the farmers of New Brunswick today is, How can we increase the productive power of our farms? And upon a solution of it depends very largely the prosperity not only of the farmers but of all classes of citizens in the province.

Land plaster directly applied to the soil is a specific for the growth of clover. A very plain illustration of this can be seen in a field overlooking the plaster rock near the quarries on the Tobique river, where year after year a most abundant crop of clover grows without any attention beyond sowing the seed.

A GOOD RATION.

One man who lives in the outskirts of the city keeps about 300 hens. The morning meal he feeds his fowls mash. Sometimes this is composed of bran, middlings and ground corn and oats, and sometimes of but one or two of these. A little egg food is added to this mash three times a week.

HONESTLY PACKED APPLES.

Charles McLellan, a former resident of the county, but now one of Falmouth's enterprising fruit growers, was in town a few days ago, with a car load of apples. In conversation with the Press, Mr. McLellan said that shipments to the English market this season have packed fairly well.

Poultry Notes.

In buying new stock be sure to purchase from reliable breeders. There seem to be more opportunities for cheating in the poultry business than in any other.

A good cure for roop is to put three drops of camphor on a piece of bread to give to the fowl. In two or three days it will be all right.

ONE SHORT OF FIFTY.

Brother farmers, let us hear from you. W. W. HUBBARD, Barton Hill, Sumbury Co.

Dingham's Ferry, Pa. Dec. 25.—"I've killed forty-nine coons this year," said Dave Angle of Delaware township, "and I'm madder than anyone can guess, for I went out the other night to make it fifty and get a record, when what do you know but they turned up and spoilt it. Mad? Well I guess I am! The dog started the coon, and I says: "Thurs! This be number fifty! Nobody ever done that in Pike county before! I'll be the boss of coon gatherers!"

"The dog led me over four miles and at last tired the game. The night was pretty dark, and the tree was high, but I thought I saw the coon in a little branch, way up toward the top. I began to blaze away, and I kept on blazing. I shot twelve times, and the coon didn't fall.
