FORTUNE DRIVES MAN MAD.

Sudden Accession Leads to the Suicide of Beneficiary.

PARIS, Nov. 24.—An old man of 72, named Thomasset, who unexpectedly inherited a large fortune, lost his reason and committed suicide. Thomasset, who was very poor all his life, worked as night watchman in the Boulevard de la Villette. Recently he heard that his brother had died in America, leaving him all his property. The old man seemed changed in his behavior after receiving the news, but insisted on going about his work as usual.

Last night terrible yells were heard in the house where he was employed. On entering the building the police found him demolishing the furniture. Before he could be arrested he fractured his skull by dashing his head against the wall.

DEATH PENALTY DOOMED.

French Cabinet Approves a Bill For Its Abolition.

PARIS, Nov. 24.—The cabinet today approved the bill prepared by the minister of justice for the abolition of capital punishment. The measure is to be introduced in the chamber next Monday.

The formal abolition has been anticipated ever since the budget committee stopped the salary of the late executioner, M. Dehler, last July. Since then France has had no executioner to carry out the death sentence. The late executioner received $5000 a year for his services, but public opinion in France has long been adverse to the death penalty that his services were very rarely called for. Indeed, Dehler's salary worked out at about $2500 for every criminal he dispatched.

TRAIN WRECKER KILLED.

Robbers Make Mistake Which Ends Fatally For One.

PARIS, Nov. 24.—An attempt to wreck a mail train from Marseilles for the purpose of robbing the passengers and mails was made last night on the line between Orléans and Besiers, by a band of armed men. The train was made off, but one of them was struck and fatally injured by one of the wrecked vans. He recovered sufficiently to confess that it was the intention of himself and his companions to wreck and rob the mail train.

ATTEMPT TO BLOW UP TRAIN.

Tourists Escape Terrible Death Plotted by Anarchists.

GENEVA, Nov. 24.—An attempt was made to blow up the Simplon express, bound for Lausanne, near Villeneuve, yesterday. A railway inspector named Raymond discovered a bomb containing thirteen dynamite cartridges, with a fuse attached, lying on the rails where the line runs over a bridge. Had the bomb not been found in time, the bridge must have been wrecked, and the express, which was crowded with tourists, chiefly of English nationality, destined for the work of anarchists, and vigorous inquiries are being made.

ENGAGED GIRLS.

Ninety-nine engaged girls are exercised over the question of their wedding robes where one is supposed to be in the matter of her ability to run a house. "Good Housekeeping."

MISLEADING ADAGES.

The world is full of lying proverbs or adages. Modesty is a most dangerous quality to possess. You are so apt to be snowed under.—Bart Kennedy, in "The World and His Wife."

CATHEDRAL ROBBERED.

Art Treasures Worth Thousands of Pounds Looted by Vandals.

MADRID, Nov. 24.—Art treasures worth thousands of pounds have been stolen from the cathedral at Seville, and the greater part of them are believed to have been sold in London and Brussels.

The missing objects include exquisite miniatures, large paintings and sculptures by Alonso Cano, which are missing from the choir.

Several of the miniatures were found in a dealer's shop at Seville. The custodian of the choir has been arrested.

Man Who Wants Wife's Money Goes About Getting It.

PARIS, Nov. 24.—A woman named Peru, who has been mortally injured by a fall from a third-story window at Vienna, is said to have been thrown from the window in order to kill her and get her fortune. The woman, who is 32 years old, married the man who is 38, in Algeria, where he was on military duty. She possessed a comfortable fortune, and he induced her to sign a will in his favor. Peru has been arrested.

LOTTERY FOR AID OF CANCER INSTITUTE.

PARIS, Nov. 24.—The sum of $20,000 generously given by Dr. Henri Rothchild for the establishment of a cancer institute in France is daily being added to. A committee has been formed, consisting of Dr. Roux, director of the Pasteur Institute, Prof. Poirier and several other members of the Academy of Medicine. In the appeal for funds, which they are issuing, they address themselves to the intelligence, the heart and the purse of French men and women. The newly formed committee will also take the necessary authorization for a lottery in aid of the institution.

Dr. Doyen, whose reputed serum cure has been so roughly handled by certain members of the Academy of Medicine, on being interviewed today, said that the idea of a cancer institute in France was not a new one. He himself had established a sanatorium for a similar purpose, and the results obtained had been excellent.
