RAILWAY MEN ORGANIZED TO ROB THE GOVERNMENT

Siberian Line Was Put Out of Business by the Wholesale Thefts of Those Who Were Employed on It.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 21.—The Siberian railway, which has been the scene of enormous proportions.
The defalcations are said to amount to millions of roubles. These were first discovered by the denunciation of an employee named Borisoff, M. Gurokoff, the chief inspector of the Siberian Railway, passes some weeks at Irkutsk, and has now returned to St. Petersburg and presented his report. Things seem to be even worse than originally supposed. The line was simply plundered right and left by the officials. One of the favorite methods of robbery was to invoiced freight at a higher weight than it really possessed, and then when it was delivered the consignee claimed for the difference which was supposed to have been lost on the line. In other cases the goods were simply sold by the employees and then paid for by the company as lost in transit. Then again, goods were forwarded without in-voices of any kind at reduced rates, and the employees pocketed the difference. Finally, what with diminished revenues and claims for compensation the line finished by having neither money or credit. The minister of communication had to advance seven million roubles to meet outstanding claims.
So far M. Gurokoff has discovered de-falinations to the extent of ten million roubles. The full amount will probably never be known. The inspector found goods which had been lying in the stations for two years past.

The chief of the line, M. Schewitzki, seems to have had no idea that his subordinates had organized themselves into a sort of Russian Mafia, and when the public prosecutor appeared at the head office of the line to seal up the documents found there he protested against this being done, and declared everything to be in the very best order.
A policeman one day found a packet of papers floating in the river Angara. It was the reports of the inspectors of the line over goods and freight which had got lost in transit. They had evidently been got rid of when the arrival of M. Gurokoff was announced. In consultation with the officials of the line, a number of business people were in the vicinity. They were encouraged to claim as lost, goods which they had already received, and then divide the sums paid in compensation with the officials. M. Gurokoff conducted his investigation under the most difficult circumstances, as the guilty officials, that is to say about 80 per cent. of the staff, put every possible difficulty in his way.

TO CLEAN SILK GLOVES.

Do not try to clean silk gloves with sudsine, but wash them very carefully.
White and black ones can be washed in soap suds, rinsed and dried, the white ones being dipped into bluing water to give them a clear white appearance. Tinted gloves should first be soaked in salt water to prevent the color from fading. If a few drops of lemon juice is added to the rinsing water, the tints will be revived. Silk gloves can be ironed through a piece of linen should be placed over a piece of the gloves when they are ironed and only a moderately warm iron should be used. Silk hose can be washed in exactly the same manner and ironed when perfectly dry.

CRIME ON DECLINE IN WESTERN CANADA

Mounted Police Force Now Distributed Over 120 Stations in New Provinces.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 20.—Colonel Fred White, commander of the Nor-west Mounted Police, who has returned from a tour of inspection of the police posts in Alberta and Saskatchewan, says that he was impressed by the absence of serious crime in the new provinces. While the number of prisoners in the mounted police barracks, which are still used as provincial jails, is larger than ever before, owing to the increased population, few crimes of a really serious nature have been committed. Most of the crimes for which arrests have been made have been committed through ignorance of the laws and conditions of the country.
There has been a great demand for mounted police in the new settlements, with the result that the five hundred mounted policemen who now cover the two provinces are distributed over 120 stations. This is the greatest difficulty which the department has to meet as the settlers prefer the uniformed mounted policemen to the town constantly of guardians of the law.
Col. White does not think that a fall of snow occurs every September, but it disappears immediately. When he left for home 25 per cent. of the crops around Edmonton had been harvested.
In the MacLeod and Edmonton districts where the crops are magnificent, harvesting was much further advanced.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 20.—Like Queen Alexandra of England, the Czarina is very much interested in amateur photography, and spends a considerable part of her time taking snap shots of the members of the Imperial family and their surroundings.
The present picture, which is published here for the first time, shows the five children of the Czar and Czarina in a pose arranged by the Czarina herself. At the bottom of the group is the three-year-old Czarvitch.

Father—"Well, and how does my son get on?"
"He is one of the best students at school, sir," replied the teacher. "I have no complaints to make on that score."
"That was the way with me when I went to school. I'm glad he is taking after his father."
"But he is unruly at times, Mr.
Farrabee, and frequently has to be reprimanded for fighting."
"Well, I suppose it is natural that he should have some of his mother's striking characteristics."
