We hope he will be able to make up his mind as to what he is going to do about the Pacific Railway and other matters, and not keep his colleagues and his organs asserting contrary things anylonger. The country wants information Mr.

A general election may be istrations of the Priest. This will account for its regular page and light. peat them. A general election may be carried by political standers and personal abuse, but the business of the country cannot be carried on without something more substantial. We hope, therefore, that the promised Election, Bankrupt, Militia and other bills, will be ready when Parliament meets, and that a definite scheme will be unfolded with regard to the P cific Railway. The new Government, after so many promises, will be expected to push the public business through the House with energy and dispatch. We are sure that every one of the New Brunswick independents of the New Brunswick independents will aid in perfecting their promised neasures. The farce of a want-of-conidence debate will not we should say be played during the next session. The fight of the session will be over the Parific Railway policy of the Government. That policy has been indicated so bewilderingly by different members of the Cabinet that it has, probably, not been definitely fixed upon as yet. In common with the Minister of Customs, who is to be responsible for it, and Mr. DeVeber, who has pledged himself to support it, we know but little about this policy.

Since the arrival of the news of the overthrow of the Bennett Government in Names and the accession to the covernment of the covernme uch speculation as to the effect of the posed by most people that the triumph of Mr. Carter meant the immediate triumph of Confederation. For the purpose of clearing up all doubts on the subject we telegraphed to an occasional correspondent of the TRIBUNE at the Newfoundland capital for full information. The Cable dispatch in reply is given in our telegraphic columns to-day, and shews that any terms of Union that and instantly killed Tuesday, being caught rest—if you can't vote them."

Mr. Day says "the young n may be agreed on must run the gauntlet of a general election. We should suppose, however, that Confederation is a certainty for the island, and that the Mackenzie Cabinet will have the pleasure of receiving Newfoundland into the Union. that, apart from the meaning attached to fitting other sufferers as much as it has it by Dr. Pusey and his followers, the me use of the Gown in the Pulpit is of no great importance. Beyond immemorial custom, also, there is no law on the subject whatever. There is nothing in any Rubric, Episcopal order or Canon, positi or Gown in the Pulpit. The true rule must be gathered from the indirect or inferential statements of Royal Instructors and Canons, interpreted and illustrated by the contemporaneous exposition of distinctly relied upon in the Purchas case. These, moreover, are so strong from them. In the Rubric of the first Prayer Book of the Reign of Edward VI., as is now well Prince Wm. street. understood by all who have paid any attention to the subject, it is directed, "Insaying or singing of the mattins and evensong, baptizing or burying, the Ministers, in Parish Churches and Chapels annexed Colleges the Archdeacons, &c., being graduates may use in their choir, besides their their several degrees which they have taken in any University within the Realm. Minister shall be at liberty to wear his Surplice or no. It is also seemly that such graduates, when they do preach, should use such hoods as pertained to their several degrees." This rubric almost settles the question at once,—for preaching in Parish Churches is not even mentioned. This is, in fact, the first Statute Law on the subject; for by Elizabeth Cap. 1, c. 2, which is a part of the Statute Law, and also by the Rubric, before the Common Prayer, it is enacted "that such ornaments of the Church of England by asthority of Parliament in the Common Bros."
