For "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated school teachers, milliners, seamstresses, housekeepers, and over-worked women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best of all restorative tonics. It is not a "Cure-all," but admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most potent Specific for all those Chronic Weaknesses and Diseases peculiar to women. It is a powerful, general as well as uterine, tonic and nervine, and imparts vigor and strength to the whole system. It promptly cures weakness of stomach, indigestion, bloating, weak back, nervous prostration, debility and sleeplessness, in either sex. Favorite Prescription is sold by druggists under our positive guarantee. See wrapper around bottle. Price $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.
A large treatise on Diseases of Women, profusely illustrated with colored plates and numerous wood-cuts, sent for 10 cents in stamps. Address, WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

West's Cough Syrup, a sure cure for coughs, colds and all diseases of the throat and lungs. 25c., 50c. and $1 per bottle. All druggists.

There is a difference between a hurricane and a cyclone. A hurricane devotes several hours to the work of scattering a man's house over several miles of territory, while a cyclone picks up the structure bodily and completes the job in about fifteen minutes. No eight-hour movement for the cyclone.

The world's best West's Liver Pills, the never failing cure for liver complaint, dyspepsia, indigestion and sick headache, 30 pills 25c. All druggists.

An observant contemporary notes that whenever a newspaper says a kind word of a man, that man never discovers the favor; but if a newspaper handles a man rather roughly, the man finds it out by eight o'clock next morning. This is the kind of man who, when conferring with the editor upon his grievance, says his "attention has been called" to the article in question.

The great health restorer, West's Liver Pills. They regulate the liver and promote good digestion. All druggists.

Servant (to drug clerk)—"Oi want twenty-five cints' worth of powder." Drug Clerk—"What kind of powder? Fine powder?" Servant—"Oi don't know, sorr." Drug Clerk—"Who is it for?" Servant—"It's for Mrs. Hendricks, the lady what kapes the boarlin' house beyant the corner." Drug Clerk—"Oh, yes I I used to board with Mrs. Hendricks myself. She wants insect-powder."

It is of the greatest importance that the liver should be kept in a good healthy condition. The West's Liver Pills, purely vegetable will do the work. All druggists.

Old John S——was one of those who liked a dram at an odd time. One morning at breakfast he said to his wife, "Jennie, I had a queer dream last night. I had got a big glass o' whisky in my han,' and I said to myself, "I'll mak' toddy o't, so I get's hot water, and in a short time it was ready, an' I was jist gaun to pit it to my mooth when—I waken'd!" "Losh, John," quo' Jenny, "I wid taen't cauld, an' been sure o't."

Pain cannot exist after the patent has taken a single dose of West's Pain King, the magic cure. Do not be induced to take a substitute, but insist upon having West's Pain King. Genuine sold by all druggists.

"Now, Patrick, do you know what libel is?"
"Sure, an' I do."
"What is it?"
"Libel is when a man does nothin' at all, and some spalpane goes and tells on him, so it is."—Rambler.

Changeable weather produces colds, coughs, sore throat. For these diseases use West's Cough Syrup, the best. All druggists.

"What's this newspaper article about the late John Smith?" enquired old Mr. Badger. "Is he our John?" "Guess he is." "Well, well! He allers was slower'n molasses in January. He never was on time in all his life, and they used to say he wasn't to his own weddin' till the day after the ceremony, and now on the day after he's dead they call him the late "John Smith." It beats all how the newspapers do learn so much about a person."

West's Pain King will never disappoint you. It is always ready and costs but 25c. It is indeed a friend in need. Purchase a bottle at your druggist's and you will never be without it. It cures cholera and all bowel difficulties.

"I can't imagine what the trouble is with that cow," said a New Yorker, who is giving his attention to amateur farming this season. "She looks all right," commented a neighbor. "Yes, she looks all right," agreed the New Yorker, "but the doocid critter won't give down her milk. When I bought her a mouth ago she gave twenty-four quarts a day; now I'm lucky to get five. And it isn't because she doesn't get milked enough," added the puzzled amateur. "Not a day passes I don't milk that cow half a dozen times at least."—New York Sun.

"I say aunt Chole, you is getting around right smart." "Yes, indeed I is, honey. I was pestered and sick abed with rheumatism for six years and done tried this West's World's Wonder or Family Liniment the people are talking so much about, and I was sure enough cured. It done saved this old nigger's life." Price 25 and 50c. per bottle. Sold by all druggists.

In a Chinese village during the time of drought, a missionary saw a row of idols put in the hottest and dustiest part of the road. He inquired the reason and the natives answered: "We prayed our gods to send us rain, and they won't, so we've put them out to see how they liked the heat and dryness." This plan might be tried on city officials Set them in the streets they will not clean or water.

Eighth Wonder of the World.

It is demonstrated by history that the Ancients in many of the arts, notably architecture, far excelled the present age, but it is reserved for the present decade to produce the eighth wonder of the world i. e., West's World's Wonder or Family Liniment, which is infallible for rheumatism, sprains, cuts, bruises, sores and all diseases requiring external application. 25 and 50c. per bottle. All druggists.

Beware of desperate steps. The darkest day,
Live till to-morrow, will have passed away.—Cowper.

"Hello!" we heard one man say to another, the other day. "I didn't know you at first, why! you look ten years younger than you did when I saw you last'.' "I feel ten years younger," was the reply. "You know I used to be under the weather all the time and gave up expecting to be any better. The doctor said I had consumption. I was terribly weak, had night-sweats, cough, no appetite, and lost flesh. I saw Dr. Pierce's 'Golden Medical Discovery' advertised, and thought it would do no harm if it did no good. It has cured me. I am a new man because I am a well one."

This is the copy of an autograph note that a New Yorker received not long ago from the old head of the Confederacy: "Sir, I am too old to quarrel, too old to boast. The man of sense in his old age likes to be let alone. With respect, yours, etc., Jefferson Davis."

SHE THREW HIM OVERBOARD.

He Was Good Enough to Elope With; but she Found Bigger Fry Out West.

CHEYENNE, Sept. 4.—One of the conductors on the overland road tells of a queer customer that he had for a passenger the other day. The man was a New Englander of middle age, who had been in the west long enough to get a pretty good idea of the country, and he was eastward bound not for the purpose of settling down but to secure a wife, he having picked one out by letter, as he said when speaking on the subject.

"You see," he told the conductor in one of their confidential conversations, "the west is no place for an eloping woman. I had one of that kind. In fact that was the reason I happened to go west. I'd been farming in Connecticut for a good many years, ever since I was a boy, and the wife of a friend of mine and I got to smiling on each other, and the first thing I knew she was suggesting that we skip for the west. She had some money of her own and was a smart woman, and as I had always hankered after a little western adventure I concluded to join in. Now, stranger, to tell you the truth I've had more adventure than I counted on. In the first place, the woman's husband got on our trail and clung to it for all of one winter, and in the next place I lost the woman.

"When we got out here I wanted to get a farm somewhere and settle down, but she wouldn't do it. We went to Idaho prospecting, and before we had been there a month the madam's head began to swell. Women are very scarce up there, and it didn't take my woman long to find it out. While I was only a plain sort of farmer man, she pretty soon discovered that there were judges, colonels, bonanza kings, silver mine owners, and big ranchers who were liable to want wives, and, by crackey, mister, she had lit out with a colonel before I knew it. They got married, too. Well, I didn't have much business on hand, and I thought I'd just chase them. So I followed. When I caught them, in Helena, what do you suppose she said to me? She said, said she

"'You are good enough to elope with from Connecticut, but you are small potatoes and few in a hill, out here. I'm only taking advantage of the opportunities which a new and growing country offers.'"

"After that I let her alone. You see, she was just cute enough to see that, being on the ground, she could marry in great shape, if she wanted to, and so she threw me overboard. She's rich now, and will make a big splurge in the east some day. But what I wanted to say to you is: Don't bring any eloping women out here. If they elope once, they'll do it again, and there's altogether too big a premium on them in this section. The young woman I'm going back after now is 41 years old, has never been married, and has taught a Sunday school class thirty years."

KILLED HIS RIVAL.

A Woman's Vain Attempt to Save the Life of One of her Admirers.

ROCHESTER, Sept 5.—The police were notified this afternoon that a murder had been committed in "Smoky Hollow," the name applied to the Italian quarter of the city. Smoky Hollow consists of a row of tumble down tenements in an alley. The police entering this alley stumbled over the body of a man. Blood was flowing freely from a bullet hole in his temple. No one was in sight, and the tenements were all dark. The brother of the murdered man was finally found. He said the victim's name was Annelle Angelo, and that he saw his brother killed. His brother had engaged in a fight with Antonio Moni, another Italian, over a woman named Rose Boncillo. Both were her admirers. Angelo in some way had obtained possession of her photograph. Moni took exceptions to the way in which he obtained it, and on last Tuesday he had a fight with Angelo over the matter. The feud daily became more bitter.

To-night these three Italians, Angelo La Peorda, and the woman about whom the men quarrelled, were together in the Hollow. Moni attacked Angelo, and excited words passed between them. The latter struck Moni, whereupon Moni drew a revolver and pointed at Angelo's head. Seeing her two lovers in deadly combat, Rose Boncillo shrieked and threw herself between them, but Moni had discharged the weapon, killing Angelo instantly. The woman's face was burned by the powder.

After seeing the result of the tragedy the men fled, while the woman threw herself upon the prostrate form of her dead lover. Joseph afterward returned and urged her away, saying that the police would soon arrive and all would be arrested. The dead man was left lying in the hollow. Moni made good his escape, and at midnight had not yet been found.

"Are you a Baptist?" inquired a Rockland woman of her milk gentleman, as she noted the color of the liquid he was measuring out. "No, I am not," promptly rejoined the milk gentleman. "Why?" "Nothing—nothing," murmured the woman, "only I didn't know." And she went into the house and softly shut the door, while the milk gentleman stepped off the stoop and went out the yard with several different kinds of doubt gnawing at his heart.

A FRUITFUL SEASON.—The fruitful season of this year is prolific with many forms of Bowel Complaints, such as Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Colic, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, &c.; as a safeguard and positive cure for those distressing and often sudden and dangerous attacks nothing can surpass that old and reliable medicine Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

Some college girls made up a sponge cake and sent it without a label to an agricultural fair. They got a notice from the judges some time afterwards that their sample of concrete had been received, and the city would like an estimate as to the cost of block pavement of that kind, it being the most desirable of any presented, and just the thing for streets where the traffic is heavy.

WORTH REMEMBERING.—In a long letter from John H Hall of Baddeck, Cape Breton, N. S., he says: "I believe were it not for Burdock Blood Bitters I should be in my grave. It cured me of kidney and liver complaint and general debility, which had nearly proved fatal."
