ENGLAND IS NOW THOROUGHLY AROUSED

To the Great Need of the Hour--Lloyd George's Great Success--Recruiting for Munitions Works Receives Great Impetus--Workmen of Great Britain Subjects of Unwonted Consideration--Regarded as the Saviors of Their Country

London, June 25.—The enrollment of war munitions volunteers is engaging more attention for the time being than the enlistment of recruits for the army, a striking proof of how Lloyd George, Minister of Munitions, has succeeded in awakening the country to the paramount necessity of concentrating on the production of shells and other war material.

At six o'clock this evening Munitions Work Bureaus are opened in nearly two hundred town halls in various parts of the country of which fifty-three are in London alone.

Every skilled worker who is ready to go will be put into his new job with the least possible delay, said Morgan, a well-known business man, who Lloyd George has impressed to help mobilize the new army of skilled workmen.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer, McKenna, meantime is appealing to workmen to subscribe to the new War Loan. At the Treasury today he received a Deputation, representing the principal Trades Unions and other organizations which exercised great influence over workmen's savings and urged upon them the necessity of co-operation to make the loan a success.
