How Red Rose Tea is Grown

TEA is a native plant of Northern India. Transplanted to Ceylon it lost much of its strength and richness, but gained in fragrance and delicacy.

That is why Ceylon tea is not a strong tea.

That is why I blend Indian and Ceylon teas together—that is how the strength and richness, fragrance and delicacy of Red Rose Tea are secured—that is why Red Rose Tea has that "rich fruity flavor."

THE T. H. TAYLOR CO'Y

LONG ago we realized that the baking and roasting qualities of the oven of a range are of greatest importance to the range user. We brought our knowledge, gained by years of experience, to bear on this one point. The result was the Imperial Oxford Diffusive Oven. With this exclusive feature, the Imperial Oxford stands to-day the most perfect baking and roasting range on the market.

After getting this most important feature of a range to such a point of perfection we naturally did not neglect any other improvement which could add to the working of the range. These improvements were incorporated in the because they added to the life of the range, simplified its operation or economized fuel.

Of these improvements the draw-out oven rack is one which will instantly appeal to the cook. The handle of this rack is outside the range—always cool enough to hold with the bare hand. By pulling this handle forward anything roasting in the oven may be drawn out onto the oven shelf to be basted, without touching the hot pan or reaching into the oven. The same applies to the testing of bread, cake or pies.

We would like you to see the Imperial Oxford Range. If your dealer doesn't handle it, write us for illustrated literature and the address of the nearest dealer who does.

NOW IS THE TIME TO ADVERTISE

CLAIMANTS TO DIVINITY.

Attempts to impose upon the Fanatic and Credulous.

There have been many attempts made in the history of the world by claimants to divinity to impose upon the fanatical and credulous. Perhaps the movement of this kind which attracted the greatest attention was that initiated by Joanna Southcott at the latter end of the eighteenth century. This extraordinary woman was a domestic servant in the early part of her career; but, becoming probably the victim of religious mania, she announced herself as a prophetess, and very soon, by dint of her extraordinary claims and writings, she obtained no fewer than 100,000 followers.

Joanna announced in all seriousness that she was about to become the mother of the divine Shiloh and named Oct. 19, 1814, as the date upon which the event would take place. As showing the perfect faith her followers had in her claims, it may be mentioned that they subscribed for and bought a silver cradle which cost $1,000 and that $500 was spent in paper spoons. As the date approached she shut herself up in a house specially bought for the interesting event, and the fever of excitement which reigned may be better imagined than described, for Joanna was over sixty years of age. Instead, however, of the divine child appearing the venerable prophetess herself died on the 29th of October, or ten days after the date she had herself fixed for the birth of the Messiah.

But Joanna is by no means the only example of a human being arrogating divine powers to himself or herself.

When George III. was king one Richard Brothers, a master's mate in the royal navy, suddenly announced that he was "prince of Hebrews and ruler of the world," and that therefore King George should give up the crown in his favor. His claim met with scant courtesy. He was promptly imprisoned as a criminal lunatic—though he could not have been made deranged than the poor old king—and kept in captivity eleven years.

The navy seems to have been a happy hunting ground for this class of impostor at this period, for the next to appear was "Zion" Ward, an ex-shoemaker, who had served in the navy. In 1828 he had the impudence to announce himself as the divine Shiloh, who had been expected by Joanna Southcott. People were credulous then, as they are now, and "Zion" got quite a respectable following and died a wealthy man some years after.

FAILURES IN CANADA.

Business Difficulties More Numerous, But Liabilities Smaller.

Insolvency returns in Canada for the first nine months of the current year as compiled by Dun & Co. show the smallest total liabilities of any recent years, with the single exception of 1903, although the number of failures is slightly larger than in either of the three years immediately preceding. Compared with last year there were 959 defaults for $7,102,948, against 916 failures for $8,988,140. Of these aggregates there were 208 manufacturing failures for $2,269,992, against 225 for $3,644,261; 739 trading failures with liabilities of $4,781,320, compared with 665 last year, when the amount involved reached $5,060,986; and 12 other commercial failures for $54,183, against 20 for $283,893. Four banking disasters occurred, with liabilities of $420,000, but last year was also satisfactory in this respect; two suspensions involving only $30,749. There is no evidence of unsound conditions in Canada, the various provinces reporting about the usual proportion of failures, and no more.

The Ideal Diet.

Do the real needs of the body demand such quantities of food each day as the ordinary dietary standards call for or a man from his acquired habits has become accustomed to? A slight excess of food beyond the true physiological requirement is no doubt desirable as tending to prevent any danger of undernutrition, but any great excess must of necessity be detrimental. The ideal diet is that which suffices to meet all the wants of the body—i. e., the maintenance of body weight, nitrogen equilibrium, health, strength, vigor and endurance—and in the period of adolescence to supply material for the growth and development of the tissues of the body. Anything beyond this quantity is just so much of an excess which must inevitably do harm if continued indefinitely and detract in some measure at least from that high degree of efficiency which every enlightened man desires to attain.

Curious Burial Whims.

The glass coffin in which Tamagno, the great singer, was buried the other day was not the first which has inclosed a curious character. There was a miserly Sir Thomas Bancroft, who in old London days heaped up great riches. Even when his time came to die he could not bring himself to give his property away, and so he left his estate to be improved until he should rise again, which he expected shortly to do. He had a window built in his coffin, movable from the interior, and windows and a glazed door to his tomb, and convenient intervals between these should be opened and himself inspected by the trustees. But the latter had had enough of the gentleman. They built almshouses with his estate.
