Another great fire took place last week, when the city of London was visited by one of the most disastrous configrations in its history since the great fire of 1666, Two acres of buildings were ruined and property to the value of $25,000,000 was destroyed. The outbreak of the fire was due to an explosion in connection with a gas engine, and for four and a half hours the flames had their own way. Only after more than an hundred engines had worked an hour was the signal sent Thankegiving day passed off very quietly in Wolfville. Most of the business places were closed and a great many people were cut of town. Appropriate services were held in the Presbyterian and Episcopal churches in the morning.

The football players ought to be proud of the tribute which puglist Corbett pays to their courage and andrunnee. Mr. Corbett says that he is not afraid to meet the best wan that ever stepped into prize ring. But all the king's horses and all the king's mer could not draw him into a football game. "I have too much regard for my limbs," be says. "I could not flow thin into a football game. "I have too much regard for my limbs," be says. "I could not flow thin this town. Publishers The ACADIAN. The Christmas number of the Delineator is to hand with its usual fund of interesting matter for the ladies. Its richly tinted color-plates illustrate the charming possibilities of Fashion's latest discovories, as well as current fancies in dress goods, trimmings, millinery, etc. The recognition given the season of good cheer includes articles bearing on every phase of Christmas literature. The departments well sustain the usual interest and the whole magazine will instruct and please.

A famous explorer was amazed the her day in talking on the train to a other day in talking on the train to a plainly dressed man, living in Rockwood, who got on at Guelph, Ont. "Surely," said the explorer, "you must have been a great traveller in your day, to be so well posted." "No," was the response. "I have us been out of Canada, but I have taken the Family Herald and Weekly Star for twenty years." The explorer ordered the paper.

DEAR AGADIAN: — Doctor Borden was in Canning last week looking after his interest in his dykes and his wharf at Blomsdon. He then went to Kentville looking after his interests there. He passed through Wolfville on Saturday morning, but as he did not want to use the akating rink or any of the public halls he did not stop. When he passes along the next time he might get some of his friends to tell the people of Horton that they want a wharf at the month of Mud Creek for steamers to come to and load apples for the English market, and Mud Creek for steamers to come to as load apples for the English market, as potatocs, pressed hay, lumber, fruit, etc for the West Indies.
