

GRAVIES AND FRIED MEATS.—If fried pork must be used as an article of food, to some extent, do not suffer the drippings or fat to be over-placed upon the table for gravy. Turn it out, leaving but a spoonful or two in the skillet, then pour in water or milk, and thicken with boiling, with a little flour and water mixed till free of lumps. With the addition of salt, this makes a wholesome and palatable gravy. Gravy should be made in the same way for all fried meats. Fried meats usually, however, absorb too much fat to be strictly healthful. Meats broiled on the gridiron or baked in the oven are more desirable.

WOOD PAPER.—We are now writing, says the Ledger, upon folding paper of a very fine quality, made from wood, at Lee, Massachusetts, by Planter & Smith. These experiments in paper-making are made necessary by the scarcity and high price of cotton and linen rags, which have advanced so much that newspapers can scarcely afford to be published at their former rates, the cost of paper being so heavy. If wood, straw, and other fibrous substances, of a cheaper price, can be made to supply the deficiency of rags, every branch of the printing business will be relieved of an onerous expense.

THE GREAT BELL OF VIENNA. For a birthday excursion, I yesterday ascended the tower of St. Stephen, which rises up to the enormous height of 430 feet. About 200 feet above the floor we reached the Cathedral bell, the largest in Germany, weighing 35,400 pounds. A small family could conveniently lie under the immense structure. It is 11 feet high and 10 1/2 wide. Eight men are required to ring it, as the clapper alone weighs 1400 pounds. It was cast in 1711 by the Emperor Joseph II., from 100 Turkish cannon taken by the Austrians. At the height of 250 feet in the clock.

In the room with the latter is stationed a man to watch for the breaking out of fires in the city and suburbs. He takes the angle by means of a fine telescope, and on a chart prepared for the purpose, finds the street and house. The Alarm is then given. I ascended to the top of the tower, but as it inclines three feet from a perpendicular, and trembles at the slightest blow, I did not remain long at so dizzy a height.—Correspondence of Northern Advocate.

HOW KOSUTH WOULD TAKE SEBASTOPOL.

M. Kosuth, speaking of the taking of Sebastopol, said:—"I don't think you can take Sebastopol by the sea.—The opportune moment of a coup de main being lost, it would afford no risk, and as to taking it by land, to a fortress accessible by trenches, and having but a garrison to defend it, that is but a matter of art and comparative execution. It can be calculated to the hour. But to take a retrenched camp, linked by terrible fortresses, and an army for garrison in it, and new armies pouring upon your flank and rear, and you in the plain of the Crimea, with also cavalry to resist them, is an undertaking to succeed in which more forces are necessary than England and France ever put on foot in this quarter for such an aim. Ask about it whichever staff officer who has learned something about tactics and strategy.—And in that position is Sebastopol, thanks to your Austrian alliance, which, having interposed herself between you and your enemy in Wallachia, made the Czar free to send such numbers to Sebastopol as he likes.

You will be beaten, remember my word. Your brass will fall in vain under Russian bullets and Cossack aim—as the Russians fall under Turkish bullets and Danubian fever. Not one out of five of your bravos, immolated in vain, shall see Albion or Gallia again. But I will tell you in what manner Sebastopol is to be taken. It is at Watan that you can take Sebastopol. Napoleon landed at Tmolus, and brave Poland rising at his gallant call, will at the very first moment engage 100,000 Russians. The first report of Poland's insurrection can but spread dissolution in the Polish ranks of the Russian army; in three weeks the Czar shall have 200,000 men less, and still want 200,000 men more. His bravest provinces, 15,000,000 of Poles, will have not only slipped from his grasp, but fight against him—10,000,000 left by your impelling to be the source of his power and the tools of his ambition. Was there a truth ever evident if this is not? And that's not all yet. Poland, with your authority and with your aid in arms will secure King Oscar of Sweden that he is not to be left a sacrifice in the hands of an ever powerful Russia. Poland in arms gives you Sweden for an ally, and Sweden, again, occupies at least 100,000 Russians in Finland—and succeeds by your feet, pushes on towards St. Petersburg. Thus you may take Sebastopol under these conditions. It will be but a fortress with a garrison. Your 20,000 bravos will do the work."

CHIEF PAPER.—The New Orleans Bulletin says:—"We are inclined to believe that the plant of the South is destined to alleviate the greatest evil under which all plantation laborers. We have seen specimens of strong white rope manufactured from the flax. It will make rope it will certainly make paper, and if it will make paper the greatest scourge of the South will be removed, for the supply of the paper material will be as inexhaustible as flax."

ERRANDMAN'S REVERIE. At a recent meeting of one of the French Agricultural Societies, a curious fact was related. A farmer took a pea in a potato, and planted them together in March last. The pea produced a stock which was covered with pods, and the potato grew above healthy roots. The farmer is of opinion that, by this means, it is possible not only to obtain a two fold crop, but to prevent the mildew to potatoes.

EXPORT OF GRAIN FROM SAN FRANCISCO.—An extract from a letter from San Francisco, dated 24 inst., placed upon the Merchants' Exchange table, says:—"Ship S. S. Bishop, which cleared yesterday for New York, takes some 200 tons wheat and wheat, and another vessel loading takes about the same quantity to England. All kinds of grain are extremely low with us now, and not one kind pays the freight for raising."

The Mironich Otcnor says.—Extensive fires are raging in the woods in all directions, and we learn that the grass on several meadows has been consumed. Our towns are enveloped in smoke. A person who came through from Richmond on Thursday informed us that it was with the greatest difficulty he succeeded on his journey, as the fire was frequently burning on both sides of the road. "The weather continues dry and hot till the day, and cool in the evening."

COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS.

UPON this title, for which there is no more foundation than for calling George Colver "Captain," or rather La. Colonel the Hon. William Strabury is to receive £300 per annum of the public money. In our last, we stated that in order to preserve appearances, the Administration had concluded a bargain with the Hon. T. H. Haviland for 4,500 acres of Land, to become the property of the people of Prince Edward Island—not the Queen—but even in this we were, it seems, mistaken. It is true that the Hon. gentleman made an offer of land for Five Shillings Sterling, or Seven and Six pence Currency the acre, and upon the principle of lowest price giving consent, it was supposed by all to whom the transaction was known, that there was nothing more to do, than have the necessary Deeds made out according to the provisions of the Statute. But, behold! the Hon. Colonel is no longer installed in office, secured in his £300 per annum, than he writes to Mr. Haviland, from the "Crown Land Office," stating that the Government will accept his offer as respects a part of the land tendered at the rate of Six Shillings Currency the acre; and, as respects the rest, either declines the purchase, or will take it at Two Shillings Currency the acre.—we are not certain which—be that as it may, Mr. Haviland, we understand, writes back that he made no tender at Six Shillings an acre, and will not allow of any division, and will have the Seven and Sixpence Currency for the whole, or will not sell at all. So that it appears that at the time Mr. Strabury was appointed Commissioner under the Statute, the Government had made no definite bargain with any body for any quantity of land,—for the negotiation for the Worrell, now Pope's Estate, is still going on. Now, we openly and boldly defy the Addressers of the present Administration to point out any part of the Family Compact equally in reasonableness and want of principle than this appointment of Strabury. And why all this unnecessary haste? This selling of the Skin before the Bear has been caught? Because, forsooth, Robert Mooney had threatened to publish an exposure of the actions and doings of the party to which he was attached? To let out the secrets of the cabinet who are solicited for the purpose of sharing among them as much of the plunder of the public Treasury as they can well lay their hands upon! Had the Administration been composed of men of that firm determination to do every thing in a fair, open and candid manner, so that not only their actions, but the motive to those actions should be such, as rather to court than dread exposure, they would have treated Mooney's communications to the Addressers with the contempt it would have deserved. But, what do they instead? Appoint him to an office for which he is totally unfit as Colonel is by Secretary, or "Washington" Treasurer. It is true that Mooney claims to be a Poet, and so does Andrew Mitchell, and it may be that they will interchange communications. Mooney may sign his "Tribune," and treat his friend Worrell with an epistle of the "Hymn of Flimsy Glim, or how to do the Scotchman?"—being a full, true, and positive account of how the author got £200 a year for letting another man do his business, by frightening O—s, W—s, and W—s, with a threat of letting the Cat out of the bag—and in return, Worrell could oblige his friend Trobor with "Lines to a Duck, turning up its eyes in thunder," or an "Elegy on a drowned Kitten," or any thing equally moving and interesting. It may seem beneath the notice of the Addressers with contempt, but what can we do? To treat them otherwise, would be to pour forth a Jeremiad that would be as little to the taste of our readers as to our own. And as we are well aware that all we can say or do, will not turn them from the evil of their ways, we are determined for the future, to do the other thing,—that is, to laugh at their blunders, and make merry with their ignorance and absurdities. It is a part of our duty to keep the public informed of the course of events, and we may as well perform our duty by any means pleasant, as to keep good-humoredly as the severe.

DIED. At Beach Point, on Monday the 4th inst., aged 23 years, Harriet, eldest daughter of Donald Ramsay, Esq., of the above place. The deceased was characterized by an amiable disposition, which attracted to her those who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. Her illness which was tedious and severe, she bore without murmuring, often concealing her distress from fear of giving pain to her relatives. As she drew nearer her demise she expressed an increasing firm faith in a crucified and risen Redeemer, and we trust is now with him in bliss.—Com. At Charlottetown, on Sunday the 27th of August, aged about 90 years, Mrs. Mary Lewis, one of the oldest inhabitants of this Town, whom she has resided for a period of sixty-four years.
