The Evening Chat-Chat

By MISS CAMERON

We were speaking of a young girl, who although only twenty, was a mother of three children. She has not had a particularly hard life. There is nothing especially difficult about her work. She has not had any more than the ordinary mortal's share of sorrows and disappointments. Why, then, this strangely premature death? I think it is because she has so many responsibilities. "Responsibilities," we scoffed, "what particular responsibilities has she, a girl of twenty-three, with a father and mother who give her a pleasant home, and not even any younger brothers and sisters to worry her?" "Well," said the lady, "she has her father's business to carry on, and then there's her mother's household, and just think of the responsibility of that married sister's home and two children, and then there's her older brother's business—think what a tax that must be for her."

"You mean that she carries all the family responsibilities as well as her own?" "Exactly," said the lady. "Just as most of these people who get old before their time do."

Aren't there innumerable people everywhere who are wearing themselves out just because they have not yet mastered the art of being a good wife and a good mother? I think so. I think that the most important part of the scheme of living is to learn just what our responsibilities are, and to let other people's alone."

When we were out driving the other day, our horse became frightened and bore down upon a crossroad at the most undesirable spot. Just as we reached the crossing, another carriage loomed up in front of us, and although we pulled in as hard as we could it looked for an instant as if something were going to happen. Fortunately, the other man whipped up his horse and got past in time to avoid a collision.

"Didn't you think we were going to run into them?" I said afterwards.

"Oh, no," said my companion cheerfully. "I knew that if the other man did his part we would be all right, and I thought he would. I believe in not trying to do the whole thing, but in giving the other fellow credit for having sense as well as you."

It seems to me that this is a philosophy which is too little regarded by many travelers on the King's Highway.

We feel that the whole responsibility of avoiding a collision rests on our handling of the reins, while all the time the other fellow is doing just as much to avoid it.

We feel the burden of whole situations upon us, while in reality we are only responsible for some tiny corner of the business.

We insist on thrusting our shoulders beneath other folk's responsibilities, even though in doing so we do not help at all, but merely weary ourselves and hinder and impede them.

If only we could throw off this foolish weight of other people's responsibilities that we are struggling with, how many of us might throw back our shoulders and lift up our heads and breathe freely once more. Can't we?

Can't we relax from the strain of all the little cares and worries, least things go wrong in spite of us, and from the fear that something will happen in this old world if we let go? Can't we quietly listen and reflect that great big question that God asks us as He asked Job: "Where wast thou when I laid the foundations of the earth?"

Despair and Despondency

No one but a woman can tell the story of the suffering, the despair, and the despondency endured by women who carry a daily burden of ill-health and pain because of disorders and derangements of the delicate and important organs that are distinctly feminine. The tortures so bravely endured completely upset the nerves if long continued.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive cure for weakness and disease of the feminine organism.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

It cures inflammation, heals ulceration and soothes pain. It tones and builds up the nerves. It fits for motherhood and motherhood. Honest medicine dealers sell it, and have nothing to urge upon you as "just as good."

It is non-secret, non-alcoholic and has a record of forty years of cures. Ask Your Neighbors. They probably know of some of its many cures.

If you want a book that tells all about women's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 51 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers. A handsome cloth-binding, 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N.Y.

Household Notes.

As you are working around the house, or perhaps are very intent upon some special piece of work, or maybe vexed about something, peep at yourself in the nearest looking-glass and take a moment or two to relax the muscles of the face—and smile.

Discolored marble can quite well be cleaned in the following way: First of all wash with soap and water, then wipe dry and apply a paste made of powdered bathbrick and lemon juice. Rub it well into the marble.

Large-sized collar supporters, says a clever mother, will keep children's soft ribbon sashes from having a "setting" appearance. Get the largest size of collifold or bone supporters and put one in front and one on each side of the sash—or more, of course. If the softness of the ribbon makes it necessary.

To take out rain marks from the cloth on the right side with a moderately hot iron, placing a clean damp cloth between the material and the iron. The cloth must be kept damp in order to be a success. Treated in this way the rain marks will not only disappear, but the cloth will not spot again.

Frequently only half a cabbage is required at a time. To keep the remainder fresh, wrap it in some of the loose leaves and afterward in damp paper. Put it in a cool place, and it will keep fresh and crisp for a day or two. Half a cut cucumber may be kept fresh by standing it in a tumbler of water.

To remove the deposit from the inside of tea kettles, fill the kettle with water and add to it a drachm of sal-ammoniac. Let it boil for an hour.

Chafed and Aching Feet

Makes walking a misery to many who do not know of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

How far can you walk without suffering in one way or another from discomfort to your feet? Modern footwear is a prison house and the result is chafed, scalded, inflamed feet.

You can get a world of comfort by using Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment when your feet give you trouble. This treatment is so delightfully soothing and healing that helps you at once. Unlike unsanitary powders which clog the pores, Dr. Chase's Ointment makes the skin soft and smooth and prevents corns and bunions.

When the feet are chafed, scalded, itching and tired, it takes out the stinging and burning and its benefits are both quick and lasting.

This ointment also affords relief and cure for chilblains and frost bites. Whenever there is itching of the skin or a sore that refuses to heal you can use Dr. Chase's Ointment with most satisfactory results. 50 cts. a box, at all druggists or by mail from R. & Co., Toronto.

The Terrible Misery Of Piles

Cured by Dr. Bovel's Herb and Gum Salve

If any one has a doubt as to the efficiency of our Salve as a cure for Piles, the reading of the following letter will convince him better than any technical argument we might bring forth:

Dear Sir:—
I have suffered for years with Piles and have tried many remedies, but nothing cured me. About six weeks ago I attended a funeral and took cold, which made me worse than I had ever been before. I could hardly stand the pain. It was something awful, I was hardly able to stand upright. I resolved to try your Herb and Gum Salve. The first time I got some relief and now after using it four days I feel almost well.

I really feel it my duty to recommend your Salve to any person suffering as I did.

Gratefully yours,
MISS LILLIE PURDY.

Dr. Bovel's Home Remedies are sold by all dealers. Ask for them. If not obtainable through your dealer write to the reasonable time, send 25c (in stamps) to "for" any article you require. Bovel Mfg. Co., St. John's Nfld.

When the fur or petted substance found on the metal will be dissolved and can be easily removed. Rub the kettle well, then boil out once or twice before using the contents.

Marks caused by silts or cracked places on furniture are easily filled in with beeswax and the mark is never detected. First, slightly soften the beeswax until it is like putty, then press firmly into the cracks and smooth evenly with a thin knife. With sandpaper rub over the surrounding wood and work the dust into the beeswax.

Woodashes may be scattered freely upon the grass after it has grown. This should be done just before a shower, or the ashes should be watered before they are blown away or lifted by the wind. Only wood ashes are to be used for this purpose. It is better to scatter them over the turf in the late autumn. They protect the roots and sweeten the soil.

Montreal Sued for Ten Thousand Dollars.

Montreal, Sept. 14. — An action claiming $10,000 damages has been entered against the city of Montreal by the Metropole Hotel Company, as the result of the civic authorities having seized all the stock of liquors in the hotel, which contained the liquor after the commissioners had refused to renew the license. The claim rests upon the legality or otherwise of the notification to the hotel company of the commissioners' refusal.

Members Expelled.

Sydney, N. S. W., September 20. — An uproarious scene took place today in the New South Wales parliament. Speaker Willis and the Liberal members at odds for some time outside the House and to-day Willis' rulings were questioned, whereupon the speaker summoned and had seven members expelled amidst wild confusion.

FOOD AGAIN

A Mighty Important Subject to Every-one.

A Boston lady talks entertainingly of food and the changes that can be made in health by some knowledge on that line. She says: "An injury to my spine in early womanhood left me subject to severe sick headaches which would last three or four days at a time, and a violent course of drugging brought on constipation with all the ills that follow. My appetite was always light and uncertain."

"I began to eat Grape-Nuts food two or three years ago, because I liked the taste of it, and I kept on because I soon found it was doing me good."

"I eat it regularly at breakfast, frequently at luncheon, and again before going to bed—and have no trouble in sleeping on it." It has relieved my constipation, my headaches have practically ceased, and I am in better physical condition at the age of 63 than I was at 40.

"I give Grape-Nuts credit for restoring my health; if not saving my life, and you can make no claim for it too strong for me to endorse." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

"Read the little book, 'The Road to Wellville,' in pkg. There's a reason."
