C. of E. Educational Campaign.

II.
In the first part of my notes on the Church of England College Educational Campaign published Saturday, I was led to refer to the fine spirit of co-operation that is manifesting itself among the denominations, and I pointed out the most rapid way of destroying it. I also laid stress on this fact—that the campaign was for the cause of education in its widest sense, and that the attitude of the Church on the subject was broad and generous, free from petty sectarianism. I should like to give chapter and verse for this statement and refer the sceptical to the proceedings of the sessions of the Diocesan Synod held in 1916 and 1918.

What I have mainly in view in writing these notes is to tell of the College, its history, its work, its potentiality; but before I come to these particulars there is one more subject of general importance with which I should like to deal briefly in order that the more particular items may have their proper setting. It is the question: What is the ideal of national education? In dealing with the question, I do not think I can better express my thoughts on the subject than in the words of a recent writer, who writes in part:

"The course of the war has brought home to us our responsibilities in the matter of educational reconstruction. Clear vision of the goal, and that goal a worthy one, is the first essential of the reformer. Let me illustrate. In the early stage of the war many were naturally surprised by the efficiency of German organization of applied science in the service of national economy and war. Assuredly organization of knowledge and application of science are matters of importance, but they do not suffice for the aim of national education. Germany gave evidence of this; her education as guided by their aim was neither education nor efficient. It was not education, for it is contradictory to the very idea of education to enslave knowledge to national policy, thus reducing men to machinery, to means instead of ends in themselves (as Kant in former days has taught). It was not efficient, for the chief source of Germany's disaster was her ignorance of the personal human factor in the world's life; ignorance of her own national character and destiny and above all, of that of her antagonists."

Here is my point, education must rest upon the recognition of the worth of human personality. It must aim at producing, not machines, not even citizens merely (for that suggests subordination to the State), but men and women qualified in the familiar phrase, "for the service of God in Church and State." He continues: "Ash the workers of the nation what they desire, they will answer 'a better life' for themselves, and, above all for their children. Other claims for a minimum wage, and standard of comfort, for shorter hours, and more leisure, for better housing, are but means to this end. It is the same answer as the Greek philosopher gave of old, a better life not of indolence or pleasure, but of worthy action. For such an end, there is real knowledge, knowledge not for a privileged class, but for a people; directed, not to material efficiency, but to the enrichment of personality; not to professional success, but to worthy life. The Hebrew prophets and the Greek philosopher were right; the want of this knowledge—knowledge of self, the world, God—lies at the root of all strife and ingratitude among individuals, classes, nations."

There is here to-day, as there has been elsewhere a tendency to materialize educational effort. Oh, the crime of it!

In following notes I shall have little difficulty in showing that the influence of the Church of England College in education in Newfoundland has been on the side of that form of education that puts character in the foreground.

Big Seizure of Moonshine.

On Saturday night Head Constable Byrne and Sgt. Mackay, made a seizure of "moonshine" which is the biggest since Prohibition came in force. The brew was found on the premises of Ptk. Devereaux, who conducts a grocery on Flower Hill. The seizure consisted of one barrel of whisky, two cases containing six bottles each of gin, two boxes containing twelve bottles each of rum, and one box containing twenty-four bottles of rum. The hearing of the case against Devereaux will be delayed a few days while the police are making further enquiries.

To-Night's Footer.

The line-up of the competing teams in to-nights Football game will be—
Collegians.—Wornell, goal; Chancey, Ellis, backs; Garland, Quick, Heath, halves; Conliss, Macklin, R. Quick, Goobles, Chafe, forwards.
C. C. C.—W. Clure, goal; Doe, Power, T. Duggan, backs; T. Christopher; C. Spurrell, G. Galgay, halves; W. McGrath, W. C. M. M. Madigan, W. Cullerton, J. Evans, forwards.

Veterans' Drive Closes.

The final stages of the Great War Veterans' attack came to a close at the meeting in the C. C. C. Hall on Saturday evening, when Pres. Mitchell announced to the meeting of the organizers the fact that the collectors had raised since Thursday the approximate sum of $22,000. Saturday was a difficult day for collecting in view of the fact that most of the mercantile firms were busy and most people were occupied, but the following shows the result of the day:—

St. John's West.
'A' Section—Lieut. Cyril Carter. Commander—$177.85.
'B' Section—Captain Leo Murphy. Commander—$2,404.85; this includes a special contribution from the team captained by Mr. Ken. M. Blair whose receipts were above the average.

St. John's Central.
'C' Section—Lieut. Lloyd Woods. Commander—$606.25.

St. John's East.
'E' Section—Lt. Col. Bernard, M.C.—$436.51.

'D' Section—Capt. Geo. Everson, M. B. E.—$55.75.
During Saturday President Mitchell and Secretary Le Grow called upon many representative firms and were given a cordial reception. They collected $1,442.00, in addition to which they received written assurances of another $1,200.00. The days work was thoroughly successful. The Association are especially loud in their praise of the excellent work performed by the ladies associated with the different teams; particularly those who apply to Lady Cashin, Mrs. J. Brown, Mrs. M. McKeen, and Mrs. L. Paterson. A word might be said for the professional and business men of the city who were in charge of the different sections, and who devoted much of their valuable time to the affair. Incidentally our returned soldiers and sailors ask us to express gratitude for the offering of Mr. P. E. Outerbridge who gave all his advertising in the Daily News and Evening Telegram to the G. W. V. A. during the period of their drive. We are also asked to say that the veterans appreciate the action of Captain Arthur Bulley, who on behalf of the Cadet Band, placed the C.C.C. Hall at the disposal of the Committee during the three days of their campaign.

Over-Seas Club.
June 30th, 1919.
G. J. Keough, Esq.,
Box 53, St. John's, Nfld.
Dear Sir—I am here from the Old Country as the Special Commissioner of the Over-Seas Club and shall be visiting Newfoundland during the period from July 17th to 23rd. Arrangements are being made for me to speak in St. John's and other centres, and I trust it will be possible for us to meet.

We are doing important reconstruction work for the Empire, assisting to solve the problems of emigration from the Old Country and to secure that the best of our manhood is directed into the Overseas Dominions; also we are exerting considerable influence towards the development of British Trade within the Empire, and endeavoring in every possible manner to promote a good understanding between British people everywhere.

To carry out our aims and accomplish our mission, we need a vast increase of membership, and I shall be glad if you will use the enclosed forms to secure at least one new member while I am over here. I will gladly supply more forms, but if each member we have will help by getting only one friend to join us, our membership will be doubled.

Applications for membership may be handed to the Local H.C.S., sent direct to Headquarters, Over-Seas Club, General Buildings, Aldwych, London, W.C.2, England, or sent to me.

I feel sure I may count on your kind assistance.

Ever with kind regards,
Yours faithfully,

FRANCIS R. JONES.
Special Commissioner representing the Central Council of the Over-Seas Club and Patriotic League.
P.S.—My permanent address in Canada is the King Edward Hotel, Toronto.
