Companions "At Home."

There was a pleasant gathering last evening in Court Brighton's hall, South London, the occasion being a sociable "at home" given by Forest Home Circle, No. 67, A. O. F., Companions of the Forest, Comp. A. E. White filled the chair, and in a few pointed remarks explained the objects for which the Companions of the Forest were working. The principal entertainers were Mr. Lou Hessel, Miss Mary Moore-bouse, Miss Clare Tynan, and Miss Minnie Dawe, who gave recitations, songs and instrumental selections. During an intermission ice cream and cake were served by the ladies of the circle.

"Yes, madam, if you hit them."

A Practical Lover.

A most practical lover has been discovered at West Hartlepool, England. In one of his letters to his sweetheart he wrote: "I wish, my darling, that you would not write me such long letters. If you were to bring an action for breach of promise against me the lawyers would copy the correspondence between us, and charge 4 pence for every folio of 72 words. The shorter the letters the more we save from the lawyers."

Near Nisch, Servia, a building constructed of human skulls and bones was recently discovered.

A Lenely Death.

Last night the police, who had been notified by neighbors, broke in the door and found old Mrs. Carthrae dead in bed at her residence on Nelson street, just west of Wellington street. She had not been around for some days, and the residents in the vicinity began to suspect something was wrong. The old lady was $4 years of age and lived alone. A neighbor heard her coughing in the morning, and it is supposed she died from helplessness, old age and lack of nourishment combined. The body was taken to Hinton's undertaking establishment and a son in Ingersol was sent for. Coroner Flock considered an inquest unnecessary. A Lonely Death

It required three lawyers and nearly two hours of the police magistrate's time this morning to settle the assault cases of Fox vs. Beckett and Beckett vs. Fox. Contractor Crawford Beckett is laying the block pavement on Clarence street. He caught Abraham Fox making off with cedar block chips the other day and took him by the collar. Isaac Thomas Fox rushed out to help his papa and claims that Beckett's fists came into severe collision with his (Fox's) head and body. The whole neighborhood and all Beckett's employes were summoned to tell what they knew about the affair, which seemed to be an allaround serimmage. The charge against Beckett of felonious assault was dismissed but he was fined $10 and costs for common assault. Beckett's similar charge against Isaac Fox was dismissed. The former will lay an information against Fox for apprepriating the chips which the contractor claims were of use to him. Fox had been forbidden to take them before.

elections: Tories and Unionists, 2,146,940; Opposition, 2,417,88.

LONDON, July 20.—The Times says: On paper the Parnellite vote looks insignificant, but its importance is far greater than it appears on the surface. The Parnellites' bitterness toward Gladstone has in nowise lessened since Parnell's death, and the election methods of the Anti-Parnellites have not increased their love for them. The Parnellites will lose no epportunity to impale the Gladstonians and the Anti-Parnellites on the thorns of a dilemma, and no circumstance will deter them from voting with the Unionists if revenge prompts such a course. As Lord Salisbury has no husiness to bring up before Parliament, it is not clear why a speech from the throne should be produced at all. Mr. Balfour could intimate to Mr. Gladstone that no Government business would be introduced, thus leaving the Opposition to eject the Government by a vote of "no confidence." The Government has no desire to remain in office an hour after Mr. Gladstone has arrayed the majority against it. Gladstone will find no delays in the post. He will be met wrouldy and firmly by the Unionists, who are determined that there shall be another appeal to the country before a policy that has been studiously concealed from the electors of England is forced upon them against their declared convictions by Welsh and Irish separalists votes.

The Chronicle says: We advise Gladstone may, between this, have enormously strengthened his hand with the people and noticeably lightened the Irish task.
