The feature of this morning's session of the London Methodist ministers' conference was an address by Mr. Herbert Booth. The ministers at any time, yet, when made, it present were delighted with the ad-caused quite a shock to many. Indeed, dress.

The desire of knowledge was the keynote of Mr. Booth's address, eliciting a most interesting discussion. He said: "If you should ask me what is the yet we are ever striving to penetrate its mysteries. We are the stewards of the mysteries of God."

Mr. Booth touched a live point when he brought forward the subject of the coming of Christ.

"There will always be signs of the n't a sober person in the house, and that they were so disorderly that they could be heard a block away. Bottles of whiskey were all about the place, and serious fights were threatened in The coming of the millennium proved to be an interesting subject for discussion and little unanimity shown, but, as Mr. Booth put it, are all agreed that the millennium is to come, but as to how or when there are great differences of opinion." At the conclusion of Mr. Booth's address, Rev. Mr. Whiting rose to move a vote of thanks, and said that it was many months since the First Methodist Church had such a day as Sunday. Continuing, Mr. Whiting advocated the keeping open of the churches every day in the week.

"Here we have $120,000 locked up in a plant and it is closed up six days of the week," said Mr. Whiting. "It seems to me that the doors of our churches should be thrown open day and night every day in the week, so that anyone may enter and have a
