Ottawa has a genuine social sensation. The elopement of Mrs W. Middleton, nee Wise, and F. W. Hanilton, until recently clerk in the Bank of Montreal, is the absorbing topic of conversation there. It is said that Capt. Wise, A. D. C. to Gen. Middle-ton, and brother of Mrs Middleton, has followed, and if Hamilton is overtaken there will be a tragedy. Private information has been obtained that Hamilton has gone to Cuba. He will probably be followed. It has transpired that Hamilton, before his departure, extorted $10,000 from Middleton as indemnity for the letter's failure to venture into a bucket shop scheme in Montreal. Some Interesting Information Regarding Mr. Gibson's Enterprises.

Much has been said and much more written as to the business carried on and the improvements being made in the neighborhood of the Nashwaak. To one who has never visited the new incorporated town of Marjaville, all that could be written in extolling the beauties of that beautiful spot, would be of little avail. It is the intention of the writer of these lines, however, to give the readers of the Courser a glimpse of what he saw while on a day's vacation at the Nashwaak. The saw mill, containing five employment to sixty men, and with a fair head of water, cuts about 150,000 superficial feet a day. The lumber, as it is cut, is dropped into the river and borne along towards its mouth till it enters the St. John. Here a crew of men is stationed to place the same on rafts and woodboats. These, in turn, are-towed by tug to St. John and shipped to all parts of the world. The writer was told that it is considered a poor year indeed when the king of the Nashwaak does not clear $90,000 on his lumber operations. The boss of the concern is Alex. Gibson, Jr. Stationed a little further down the river is a three-gang lath mill. This mill, which is run by steam, is said to be one of the largest, if no the largest, of its kind in America. On entering this mill, the writer

WAS SIMPLY AMAZED men employed in lath making. The first thought that occurred was, "Who is he that can manage to keep such a crew of men all so busy?" It was a veritable her him and the such a second such as the such a second such as the s drones left out. In the mid-t of the bustle we espied our old friend, David Alexander of the Union. Mr. Alexander is overseer of this mill. He infoemed us that he had hed charge of the mill for nearly two vears. The mill gives employment to fifty-five men. Since the first week in June till the first week in October, the average daily output of latha has been 120,000. The latha after being done up in bundles, are placed or a slip, alongside of which runs an endles hain, on which, at equal distances apart are placed hooks, which carry the bundles u bout 20 feet, and there they are deposite on the cars. This contrivance was introduce Mr. Alexander, and saves the work of two men. The lathe here manufactured are said nexion over a wire 120 miles long. Frederiction ought to be connected with St. John.

at present there are about 300 hands employed. This number will be increased to chinery now being put in are in running order. It is needless to enter into the details cotton making, as the readers of the Courier have already been educated in this new enterprise on the banks of the St Croix. These who have visited the Mill own cotton mill; of three years ago, and become acquainted with the several heads of familiar faces in Mr. Gibson's mill. First will doubtless be met the able and gentlemanly superintendent, Mr. Woodman; ther Mr. Herbert E. Davis of the weaving department; Mr. Cheswell, in charge of the ring-epinoing, warping, etc.; the genial and competent overseer of the mule, epining de partment, Mr. Joseph Cheetham, his son loseph, Jr., being his second band; Mr. Chas. McPhereon, the overseer of the dye-house, and Mr. Crosset, second hand, with four or five others, all formerly of Milltows the envia ble distinction of being the first fer boss carpenter, Mr. W. D. This could be accom pliebed at a very small expense, and to those who have to walk to and from the mills, it would be a great boon. We cannot close without a reference to the handsome church at present ably presided over by the Rev. Mr. Read, of the Methodist denomination. The Sunday we visited the church was a very wet day. On that occasion, almost anyone but the minister would have been excused for non-attendance. But not only the winister, but the people, turned out in num bers which might put to shame many of our church going people of St. Stephen. I shall leave the readers of the Courier to guess the eason. It may have been because of the exmple set by Mr. Gibson, who is present at very service, rain or shine, when at home. and is the first to enter, the last the leav and ever ready to see that the stranger i cared for and comfortably seated.
