Judge Macdougall will hear appea the decisions of the Court of Revision disclaimed. We must first remark that the phrase employed is "not a happy one." Of late Cauada has been trou-bled a good deal with two distractions in par-ticular. One is with regard to Provincial rights, concerning which some people appear to have "gone cracked." Others there are in amongst us who, after having given the Pro-them, would apparently see nothing else to do with the residue of power and authority than to hand the same over to the Imperial Gor-arument, to the Government of Washington,

The World believes in putendeavor where the same is its And therefore we do battle against the idea that Provincial rights constitute the be-all and the end-all of patricitism and states-manship; also against that other anti-national idea-that commercial annexation to the United States is necessary to save Canada. What we believe is that Canada's greatest need, at this time, is to have the Provincialist crass cooled off, and the com-mercial annexation fever stamped out; also that this can best be done by promoting a healthy developments of Canadian mational apirit. To-day's fluctuations in the Chicago grain and produce market are as follows : the high ocean rates are higher than for years, freights are stiffer than expected. Building operations continuing make trade in that lime better than for the same season for years; the machine shops and foundries are all busy and the engineer trade is brick. Business is improved and there is a good all-round demand and Christmas trade. Prices are stendy and strong with no sign of weak-ness. If the demand had been as farge as
