

Commencing with Vol. II No. I the dates given in the Index are the actual dates of the occurrences; not as hitherto the dates of publication.

The Index is published four times a month; but to form a complete file for the year it is necessary to preserve only the first issue in each month.

The intermediate issues contain the news of the current month to date.

We have to acknowledge with thanks the receipt of a large number of papers offered in exchange for the Index. As the Index is published principally for the use of editors, and has to depend chiefly upon its contemporaries for support, it is obviously impossible for it to indulge in the luxury of an exchange list.

The subscription is $6 per annum, payable yearly or half yearly in advance. Remittances should be made to

HENRY DALBY,
P. O. Box 864,
MONTREAL, Que.

MR. MARTIN J. GRIFFIN, LIBRARIAN OF PARLIAMENT, Ottawa, writes: I am sending you a subscription for two copies of your "Index," which will be most useful and which deserves encouragement. If you will take particular pains to give the dates and figures of elections and the dates of speeches of public men, with reference also to the place at which the speech was delivered, you will do a very grateful thing for public people and editors, and I may add librarians.

MR. JOHN M. DOANE, STATE LIBRARIAN of Ohio, writes:—Enclosed please find six dollars, in payment for State Library subscription to the "Index of Current Events" for 1889.

I regard it as a very valuable publication, and hope that you may meet with such success as to warrant its continuance, for it will grow more valuable every year.

MR. HERRIES, OF THE BROOKLYN Eagle, writes:—"I congratulate you most heartily upon having done a good thing, a very good thing, in starting the "Index" enterprise. I hope I may have the joy of congratulating you upon your success a year hence. A man with Index on the brain is one after my own heart. My judgment was formed upon Number I; if the indexing is kept up as thoroughly in all subsequent numbers it will be a great help to us."

SIR CHARLES TUPPER, BART., HIGH COMMISSIONER FOR CANADA, writes:—"It seems to me to be a very useful publication, and one that will be valuable for reference purposes."

MR. BERK, ASSOCIATE EDITOR OF THE PHILADELPHIA Public Ledger, writes:—"Your Index is highly appreciated at this office, where it has long been a desideratum."

MR. COLQUHOUN OF THE "TORONTO EMPIRE," writes:—"Allow me to congratulate you most cordially upon your admirable Index. The idea and its execution are alike worthy of all praise."

MR. VADEN, OF THE "NEW-YORK MORNING JOURNAL," writes:—"I find the Indices of great value, saving, as they do, much valuable time in looking up important events."

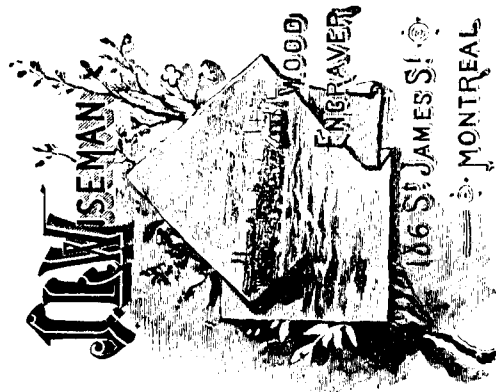

(FROM THE MONTREAL GAZETTE).

Mr. Henry Dalby, a well-known and respected journalist of this city, has been for some months past publishing a periodical which all persons, whose business demands accuracy of date, all students of contemporary history, all newspaper writers, and, in fact, all persons who would have within reach an unfailing aide-memoire as to the chronology of their own time, will find extremely useful. It is entitled "The Index of Current Events," and is published weekly. Though necessarily brief, the record of each successive noteworthy event is sufficiently clear to be no mistake as to its purport. Where fuller information is sought, the date supplies prompt indication of hundreds of authorities on the subject, as the reader has only to turn up the file of his local newspaper to bring all the particulars back to his mind. No memory however active and extensive could keep track of the rapid succession of occurrences of every nature and clime which, in this telegraphic age, form the raw material of history. But by this ingenious plan the searcher is never astray. Instead of perplexing himself and boring his friends, he consults his Index, and there, if a politician, he finds the election of which he desired the date; if a business man, the failure, or the rise in wheat or the promulgation of the new tariff; if an insurance agent, he is at no loss as to the fire in which he is interested; if a sportsman, he can learn when the great race comes off. In fine, such a chronological record is invaluable to some and serviceable to all. The subscription is $6, payable yearly or half-yearly, in advance. Address, 34 University street, Montreal.

(FROM THE ALBANY SUNDAY PRESS.)

The Index of Current Events, a weekly publication by Henry Dalby, 34 University street, Montreal, is an eminently valuable enterprise. It thoroughly reviews recent events, and is a great help to historically inclined readers.
