It is only in this life that we can win souls for Christ.—E. M. Bruce.

LIFE, like the waters of the sea, freshens only when it ascends towards heaven.— Richter.

THERE is nothing so strong or safe in an emergency of life as the simple truth.— Dickens.

We must love the Lord, if we would learn to serve Him and win others to Him.—Dr. W. Ormiston.

I HAVE discovered the philosopher's stone that turns everything into gold. It is—
'Pay as you as "—John Randolph.

THOUGH an archer shoot not so high as he aims, yet the higher he takes his aim, the higher he shoots—Leighton.

THE limit man consists not in seeing visions and dreaming dreams, but in active charity and willing service.—Longfellow.

My greatest sorrows are those of my own heart. Outward troubles serve rather to steady than to disconcert me.—Rev. G. Paul.

"Do you feel that you love Christ?" was asked of an aged and dying Christian. "Better than that," was the reply, "Christ

The Tord's Prayer is not, as some fancy, the easiest, the most natural of all devout utterances. It may be committed to memory quickly, but it is slowly learnt by heart.—

**Maurice**.

A SANGTIFIED soul is offered up to God in the flames of love, upon Christ, the alter. Paul gassad in some by his preaching, not to keep them to himself, but to offer them up to God.

THE world goes up and the world goes down, And the sunshine follows the rain, And yesterday's sneer and yesterday's frown.

Can never come over again.

Charles Kingsley.

Love never exhausts itself by giving. The more we love others and seek to do them good, the more power and good se have to give them. The more we love, the larger our hearts become.

A COTTAGE will not hold the bulky furniture and sumptuous accommodations of a mansion; but if God be there, a cottage will hold as much happiness as might stock a palace.—James Hamilton.

GOD is within all things, but is shut up in nothing; outside all things, but excluded from nothing; beneath all things, but not depressed under anything; above all things, but not lifted up out of the reach of anything .- Augustine.

"Gon looks not at the oratory of your rayers, how eloquent they are; nor at their geometery, how long they are; nor at their arithmetic, how many they are; nor at their logic, how methodical; they are; but He looks at their sincerity, how spiritual they are."

MERE reasoning never convinced a single doubter, because the devil in our hearts is always ready with a sophism or a cavil in answer to our best judgment. Reason cannot grapp the infinite, or discern the spiritual. But, where we adore God, reason becomes faith

Nothing so clearly proves that we are not of the world as having our "conversation in heagen"—not necessarily of heaven, but constantly manifesting unworldliness of spirit. Our "speech betrayeth" us, and shows where our thoughts love to dwell, and what are the fountains of our emotions.

OUT of the soil in which decidnous leaves are buried, the young tree shoots vigorously, and strikes its roots deep down into the realms of decay and death. Upon the life of the vegetable world the myriad forms of higher life sustain themselves—still the same the sacrifice of life for fife.

Robertson.

THERE is need of prayer similar to that made by an old coloured woman who, praying for one who had been guilty of alander, said: "O Lord, won't you be kind enough to take the door of his mouth off, and when you put it on again, just hang it on the gospel hinges of peace on earth and good will to men?" Amen.

CATARRH-A NEW TRRATMENT.

CATARRH—A NEW TRRATMENT.

Perhaps the most extraordinary success that has been achieved in modern medicine has been attained by the Dixon treatment for Catarth. Out of 2,000 patients treated during the past six months, fully ninety per cent, have been cured of this stubbom malady. This is none the Last startling when it is remembered that not five per cent, of the patients presenting themselves to the regular practitioner are benefitted, while it is fatent medicines and other advertised cure nevertheory a keyle at all. Starting with the claim now generally believed by the most scirnlife men that the disease of the presence of living parasites is the disease of the presence of living parasites is the disease of the presence of living parasites is the disease. Mr. Dixon at once adapted the cure to their extermination; this accomplished, the Catarth is practically cured, and the permanency is unquestioned, as cures effected by him four years ago are cures still. No one clse has attempted to cure Catarth in this manner, and no other reatment has ever cured Catarth. The application of the remedy is simple and cat, be done at home, and the present season of the year is the most favourable for a speedy and permanent cure, the majority of cases being cured at one treatment. Sufferers should correspond with Messrs. A. H. DIXON & SON, 305 King street west, Toronto, Canada, and enclose stamp for their treatise on Catarth.—Montreal Star.

"Among good books for devotional or practical religious use we may incuted with commendation 'Walks About Zion,' a service of brief interesting and practical addresses of religious topics."—New York Independent.

"Clear in thought, currect in expression, and cogent in argument and appeal. —Halifax Chronicle.

"These addresses for brief, pointed, eminently practical. Mr. Elliot if well known in this community as an accomplished screening the word of God, and with the gift of stying much in little much meaning, few words. This is the characteristic of these addresses which we most cordially commend to the thoughtful redder. We confess to be reminded by these brief and terse discourses of our dear old favourite, John Foster. —Presbyteriam (Halifax)
