CURRENT TRADE CONDITIONS

ONTARIO.

Present lumber prices show more irregularity, we think, than at any previous time this year. It would not be fair to say that the market is depressed, for the feeling of the trade is quite the reverse, but that there has been shading of prices by more than one concern is admitted. There seems to be more old stock offering than was believed to be available, and the disposition of manufacturers to move the stock is reflected in lower quotations. The common and better grades of the new cut are also offered at concessions ranging from $1 to $3. No. 3 cuts and better are about $3 lower than one month ago. Ten inch box and common is held at the mills at $17, 12 inch at $18, and 5/4 and 6/4 box and common sidings at $16. Mill cull sidings are worth about $12.50, and 10 and 12 inch mill culls $11.50. Hemlock continue very firm, 2 inch in the narrow widths alone showing any decline, and that only 55 cents.

While the hardwood demand is quiet and enquiries few, prices have not declined much. Maple flooring is offered at concessions, partly owing to large arrivals from the United States.

QUEBEC AND NEW BRUNSWICK.

There is a very fair demand for spruce lumber for shipment to the United States, boards being worth from $11.50 to $11.75 per thousand f.o.b. St. John. Provincial boards sell about $1.50 below these figures. British deals are about steady at the reduced figures previously named. Cedar shingles are selling freely and there seems to be a disposition to stock up at each favorable opportunity in anticipation of a stronger market later in the year. Laths are, if anything, a little easier,
