My dear Gibson:-

This is just a brief note to thank once again yourself and the members of the McGill Alumni Society of New York for a very pleasant evening.

I cannot tell you how much I enjoyed our dinner together last Tuesday night. I hope the members do not feel that the time was altogether wasted. I was glad to learn that the Society was in such a flourishing condition, and I am sure that under your Presidency and the active and capable Secretaryship of Higgins it will grow and prosper.

I am also glad to report that I had a splendid time in Philadelphia.

With all good wishes, I am,

Ever yours faithfully,
