THE BISHOP takes this opportunity of suggesting to the Clergy, that as much difficulty has been found in sending the winter collection for the Church Society, in time to be inserted in the Report read at the Annual Meeting, he thinks it might be desirable to preach the two Sermons in behalf of the Society, in the early part of June and in the middle or latter part of October, by which means the contributions made each year would be kept perfectly distinct. Should this arrangement be found to be attended with unforeseen inconvenience, it may be altered hereafter; but the Bishop thinks it quite worth while to make the trial for this year. The Bishop desires to impress on the minds of all the Clergy, especially on those whose Parishes are largely assisted by the benevolence of the Church Society, the duty of exerting themselves to promote its objects, for its grants have always been given to meet and call forth local resources. There can be no parish possessing a resident Pastor, where by a little exertion, a local Committee may not be formed, and some contributions obtained.

Frederickton, February 19th, 1849.
