LOTUS TEAM TOOK TWO OF THE THREE

In the Opening Game of City Bowling League Last Night With the Orient Team.

The newly-organized City Bowling League got away to a good start at the Arcade alleys last night, when the first game of the season was played. The opposing forces were the Lotus and Orient quints, captained respectively by Jack McNea and Alf Sheere. Of the three games played, the Lotus team won two, although in the total score they were two points behind the Orient. Sheere was right on the job again, as he has been, and made the highest single score, 200. Jack McNea made the high average, 159.1-3. The next game is scheduled for Tuesday between the Tashmoo and the Rockets.

CRITICIZED, THEY BECAME LIBERAL

Bookies at Toronto Loosened Up on Their Odds at the Woodbine Yesterday.

Toronto, Sept. 17.—A large and fashionable crowd turned out again to witness the second day's racing at the Woodbine. The criticism to which the bookmakers have been subjected had the desired effect, and they were laying much more liberal odds than on Saturday. To all appearances, the combine among the bookies was broken for the time being, and hardly two books agreed on the opening odds, in striking contrast to the conditions prevailing on Saturday, when there was no perceptible difference in the prices from one end of the ring to the other. Summary:

First race, Havoc purse, for 2-year-olds and up, 6 furlongs—Lieber, 106 (Koerner), 3 to 1; Toots Mook, 106 (Mountain), 6 to 5; Scarfell, 112 (Foley), 25 to 1. 3. Time, 1:13. Massive, Gov. Orman, Herman Johnston, Miss Leeds, Robust, Nonie Lucelle, Taviana, Clifton Forge, Baby We, Cleely and Akker also ran.

Second race, Huron purse, selling, for 2-year-olds, 5½ furlongs—Reside, 102 (Shilling), 6 to 1; Fire Alarm, 105 (Mountain), 8 to 1; Irene A., 105 (Koerner), 6 to 1. 3. Time, 1:07. 2-5. Betsy Blinford, Lord Rossington, Ben Stille also ran.

Third race, Norfolk purse, for all ages, 1 mile—Ormonde's Right, 113 (Hennessy), even; 1. Royal Window, 118 (Koerner), 11 to 1; Peter Paul, 118 (Mountain), 15 to 1. 3. Time, 1:40. Joe Coyne, Nattie Bumpo and Mortlake also ran.

Fourth race, Prum purse, selling, for 2-year-olds and up, 6 furlongs—Bert Gera, 106 (Goldstein), 25 to 1; 1. Blue Coat, 118 (J. Foley), 12 to 1; 2. Garrett Wilson, 122 (McLaughlin), 7 to 1; 3. Time, 1:13. 2-5. Killa, Parkhill, Scotch Plums, No Trumper, Wyethfield, Felix Mozzes, Butwell and Lisa Karl also ran. Thesplan lost rider.

Sixth race, Kananga purse, selling, for 3-year-olds and up, 1½ miles—Granada, 107 (Pendergast), 7 to 1; 1. Anna Day, 104 (Swain), 3 to 1; 2. Request, 109 (Koerner), 3 to 1; 3. Time, 1:45. 1-5. Depend, Thistle Fo Bon Mot, Slenderly Belle, Nonsense and Toots also ran.

EIGHT TEAMS FOR INTERNATIONAL

Detroit Will Probably Be in Hockey League This Year—Chicago Also.

Detroit, Sept. 18.—The annual meeting of the International Hockey League was held yesterday afternoon at the Hotel Cadillac. The following magnates were present: Manager John T. McNamara, Portage Lake; President A. T. Ferguson, Michigan Soo; Manager D. J. McSwiggan, Pittsburgh; Capt. Thomas Houtson, Calumet.

The league will consist this season of Calumet, Portage Lake, Michigan Soo, Canadian Soo, Pittsburgh and probably Detroit, Chicago and St. Paul, making an eight-club league.

The league will likely meet with strong opposition this season in securing players, as a Canadian professional league is to be formed in the east. It is in the east that the northern teams have recruited many of their star players, and if the Canadian organization is perfected it will shut out further enlistments in this quarter by the International League teams.

The Borden Hockey League will again be in evidence this winter. The league games last winter were followed with much interest and the matches on the D. A. C. rink helped the game a lot locally. The following teams will be back again: D. A. C. of Detroit, Chatham, Tibbury, Essex and Amherstburg. Windsor will likely be added this year.

A game in the Bank of Toronto trophy series was played on the London Rowing Club grounds yesterday afternoon between the Oarsmen and the Asylum. The Rowing Club won by 11 shots. Skip Ed Weld beat three shots to the goal, and Skip McDougall eight.

PITCHING WONDER THREW SNOWBALLS

How Three-Fingered Brown, of the Cubs, Started to Get Into Condition.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—Mordecai Brown, better known as "Three-Fingered" Brown, the sensational pitcher of the Chicago Cubs, tells how he gets into shape:

"My success this year has been due entirely to my physical condition. I began getting into condition just as soon as the team started training in the spring by slugging snowballs at the lamp posts on the bleak streets of Chicago. No pitcher can hope for success unless he can go through an entire game and be ready to pitch each ball with all his might.

"You young pitchers who hope to break into the big leagues some day, listen to this: When you think you are ready to pitch a game of baseball pick up the ball and throw it with all of your might at your catcher. Then say to yourself, 'I wonder if I can pitch every ball as fast as that?' You won't have to hesitate for the answer. You will know it as soon as the ball is out. If you decide that you can't you are not ready to go in and do your best. You may be able to win, but you can't do yourself justice.

"The first necessity, then, is hard work to get yourself into physical condition.

"This work must be taken in moderate doses at the beginning, for if you jump in too hard it won't be long before your arm will be so sore you will not be able to lift it up to your head.

the waist. I feed him a couple and he backs up and the ball goes zipping over. Then when I have him in a hole I try a couple of the other kind—a fast straight one far out beyond the plate or a swift inshoot that cuts between him and the plate. If he doesn't bite at either of these he gets another one of the quick breaking cuts, and he either taps the ball to the infield or else he strikes out.

"For a long time I carried a little book in which I jotted down my impressions of this or that batter. For instance, Devlin, of New York, can simply kill a high straight one or an inshoot, but you slip a fast drop over that breaks at his breast and you've got him backing away.

"Each batter has his peculiarities; each one prefers one kind of ball. 'It doesn't take a pitcher long to find out the very kinds all of the batters like and then he gives them none but the ones they dislike.

"Some pitchers have something on certain batters, and there are certain batters who send pitchers into panic now and then. There are three batsmen who really frighten me at times when I am in a tight hole and they come up to the plate. Lately I have handed every one of them, but they have got on to me now and then. 'I know the weak points of the New York batters better than those of any other players, and I have been successful against that team this year. I knew that New York was the team we had to beat and I made it a point to put everything possible about each player.

THE TURF.
FAVORITE FINISHED BADLY.
New York, Sept. 17.—Cottonown, a New York shot, won the first special at Gravesend today. The favorite, Go Between, finished a bad fourth. Running Water cut out the pace for 6 furlongs, followed by Cottonown and Go Between. In the stretch Cottonown took the lead and won in a drive by half a length from Running Water, who was a head in front of Tangle. Momentum, the 6 to 5 favorite, won the Flatlands stakes by four lengths after making all the pace. Four favorites won.

down a perfect bunt and beat it out. Billy Hamilton, who played with Philadelphia in 1891, showed the National League what a fast man could do when he bunted his way to the front with an average of .338. Hamilton was a phenomenally fast man, who held his own in later years with Lajoie and Deleahanty when they were playing on the Philadelphia team.

"Cupid" Childs and Brouters tied for the batting championship of the National League in 1892, each man hitting .335. Childs became very heavy and fast, but he was very fast and clever at the bunting game when he ran a dead heat with Brouters.

Jesse Stenzel and Billy Hamilton finished ahead of Sam Thompson for the hitting championship of the National League in 1893. Thompson was a great slugger in his day. He batted .377. Year he ran third to Stenzel and Hamilton. Stenzel, like Hamilton, was very fast. He hit .409 and Hamilton batted .355. Hugh Duffy, of Boston, hung up the remarkable batting average of .438 in the National League in 1894. This is the highest average ever made in any of the major leagues.

Jesse Burkett, of St. Louis, and Cleveland fame, came along in 1895 and beat "Sluggo" Deleahanty for the batting honors with an average of .423. Burkett was fast and clever and his ability to bunt successfully.

Deleahanty was a fast hitter, and seldom tried to sacrifice or bunt, but his average represented straight hitting. He was very slow and was thrown out on many infield drives that would have gone for safe hits with a signaller like Burkett or George Stone running.

Burkett also led the Nationals in 1896. This year his keenest rivals were Hugh Jennings, now coming to Detroit as manager, and Ed Deleahanty. Jennings was fast and clever, but Sluggo Deleahanty was pressing them both very hard. At the finish, the figures being: Burkett, .410; Jennings, .397; and Deleahanty, .394.

Willie Keeler and Fred Clarke, two left-handed batters, who are still artists in beating out bunts, jumped to the front in the National League in 1897. Keeler led the Nationals again in 1898.

Deleahanty forged to the front over Flick, Keeler and Burkett in 1900. Burkett had things his own way in 1901. Deleahanty defeating Keeler by a small margin for second place, and Jimmy Sheppard was third, finishing a few points in front of Hans Wagner.

Lajoie's Great Record.
Napoleon Lajoie ran up the high-water mark of .422 in the American League in 1901. Ed Deleahanty beat him for the leadership by a small margin in 1902, but Lajoie led the American in 1903, 1904 and 1905, and is one of George Stone's keenest competitors for the championship of the organization this year.

Lajoie is a slugger of the Deleahanty-Brothers type, although the big Frenchman can play them down when it is necessary. Like Lajoie, Deleahanty was a right-handed batsman, but the Cleveland terror is much faster than Deleahanty ever was.

Clarence Beaumont, of the Pittsburgh team, who led the National in 1902, led the Deleahanty-Keller type of batsmen. Seymour and Keeler furnished the contention of the championship in 1902.

George Stone is playing his second year in fast company. He was with the Browns last year, and finished the season with a batting average of .396. Stone started out last year as though he would lead the American League, but he fell off in his work when his club commenced to lose, and dropped down fast.

Stone has been traveling a fast clip with the stick this year. He is thought to be reasonably sure of finishing the season on top. George is a great favorite with St. Louis fans. His hitting is responsible, to a great extent, for the splendid showing of the Browns this season.

PENN MAY LOSE FOOTBALL CAPTAIN
Philadelphia, Sept. 17.—While no official action has been taken in this case, it is certain that Edward Greene, captain of the University of Pennsylvania football team, will not play this year, unless he does what at the present time seems impossible—make up a deficiency of six conditions.

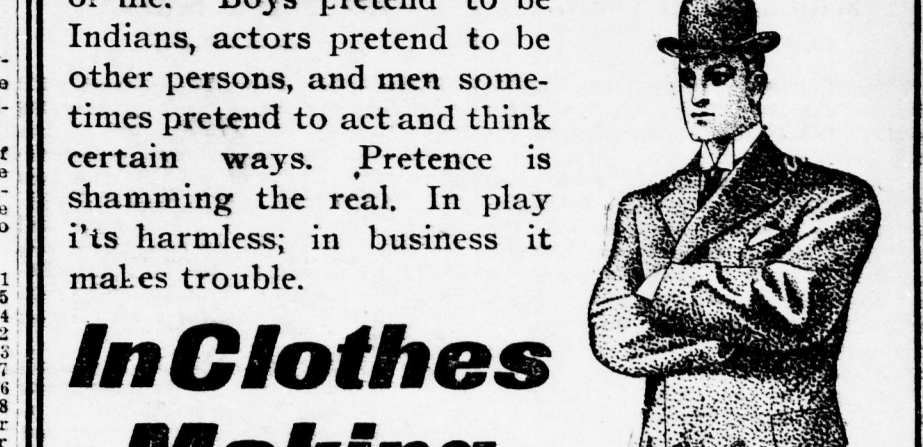

Greene was heavily burdened by his failure to pass satisfactory examinations last spring, but no action was taken in the matter upon his representation to the faculty that he would remove the conditions in time to be perfectly eligible to begin football practice this fall. But Greene has failed to better his class standing, and unless he satisfies the faculty in a few days, he will undoubtedly be placed on the athletic ineligible list.

Action in Greene's case will be taken by the faculty athletic committee prior to the playing of the first game by Penn, which will be with Lehigh on Sept. 29. Before this game the ineligibility of every candidate for the team will be considered, and while no date has been set for a meeting of this committee, it is more than likely it will be held next week.

Greene has played two years on the Penn team and last spring was elected captain for this year, after several attempts to decide upon a leader, his opponent having been Bob Folwell. The latter will most likely be elected captain if Greene fails to remove his conditions and thereby be barred from playing on the team.

Pretence

appears in about every phase of life. Boys pretend to be Indians, actors pretend to be other persons, and men sometimes pretend to act and think certain ways. Pretence is shamming the real. In play it's harmless; in business it makes trouble.

In Clothes Making

pretence consists in claims of quality and value which the wearer does not find; in assertions which the product when called upon fails to back up.

There is no sham in Sovereign Brand Clothing. No representations made which the wearer will not find a hundredfold.

It's just what we claim for it. Equal to custom work for much less money.

pendency of the British Empire, the greatest empire in the world. Continuing, he welcomed the Oddfellows with all possible warmth and cordiality. "We give to you everything you see," said Mr. Whitney, "and if there is anything you don't see just ask for it."

Mayor Coatsworth, in his address, royally welcomed them to this city, and unlike the Premier, he was practically their only protector while in the city. When any of them got into trouble they could come to him to get out of the difficulty. He was glad of the opportunity of extending a hearty welcome to such a noble body and offered them the full resources of the city. J. J. Graham, chairman of the reception committee, added to the words of welcome.

Grand Master's Address.
Grand Master W. S. Johnston dilated on the great prospects and resources of Canada, one of the greatest countries of the world. "As the United States was the nation of the nineteenth century, so Canada was the nation of the twentieth century." He extended to the delegates a most hearty welcome on behalf of the Grand Lodge of Ontario. Grand Patriarch Joseph Powley, in welcoming the members, stated that the Grand Encampment of Ontario joined with the Grand Lodge in tendering to this great fraternal parliament, the supreme legislature of the order, a hearty welcome on its return to Canada. Grand Lodge in 1890, because of the impetus which was given to the encampment in anticipation of it and also as a result of that session.

Continuing Mr. Powley noted the many changes (taken place during the 25 years, the order now flourishing in every country in the world. Miss Ida J. Robbins, in a short, but pointed address, welcomed the members on behalf of the Rebekah Assembly of Ontario. A pleasing feature at the close of Miss Robbins' address was the presentation to Mrs. Wright, wife of the grand sire of the order and to Miss Robbins, of beautiful bouquets of flowers, the presentations being made by Miss Allen, Coatsworth daughter of Mayor C. Coatsworth, and Miss Lillian Oliver, daughter of Joseph Oliver, past grand representative who presided as chairman of the meeting.

Deputy Grand Sire's Reply.
In reply to the addresses of welcome, Deputy Grand Sire E. S. Conway dwelt chiefly with the individual development in the order.

"Our society," he said, "being organized for individual benefit and protection, it is the duty of the individual to repay in kind by contributing his mite to the assistance of those who need material help."

"The growth of Oddfellowship," he continued, "during the past fiscal year has been quite satisfactory. We have shown vitality that is pleasing in a high degree. In the last nine decades the order has expended $100,000,000 for relief work, and is now spending about $450,000 annually in the same way." In closing Mr. Conway thanked the Prime Minister of Ontario and those in authority for throwing open the House of Parliament.

"We appreciate it most heartily as one of those many kindnesses which we shall not wait until the end of the week to enjoy." Concluding, he said: "May we not expect that each and every one will put his shoulder to the load and give a long pull and a strong pull, and a pull altogether in raising the standard of Oddfellowship numerically and financially."

At the conclusion of the opening ceremonies the Sovereign Grand Lodge held its first business meeting.

SOMETHING MORE THAN A PURGATIVE.—To purge is the only effect of many pills now on the market. Purgative "vegetable" pills are more than a purgative. They strengthen the stomach, where other pills weaken it. They cleanse the blood by regulating the liver and kidneys, and they stimulate where other pills compounds depress. Nothing of an injurious nature, used for merely purgative powers, enters into their composition.
