Tribe Lose First of "Farewell Series" To Hams, Score of 7-3

Harper No Puzzle To Shagmen At All, Who Swish Fourteen Hits Out-Tribe Held To Seven by Reddy.

The Shagmen were here yesterday in the first of the farewell series and nipped the leaders for a 7-3 win.

The Hams found Jawn Harper in a generous mood yesterday and collected.

The Hams found Jawn Harper in a generous mood yesterday and collected.

fifteen hits off his delivery, five of them in one unlovely cluster in the seventh frame, which they turned in for a similar number of runs. The Hams had already slipped one across in the third and added sitll another in the eighth on a bunch of three bingles. Harper himself repented in the eighth and started a rally with a double that brought in one run, and the Tribe stirred themselve out of their batting slump by landing on Reddy in the last canto for four hits, good for two runs. The Tribe showed conclusively that it was either slump or Reddy, when they failed to coax more than one hit out of the Ham twirler for the first seven innings. Bill Dowling stepped into the glare for this one hit in the third, after Reddy had struck out four before that. On the defensive they were a stone wall, with a few breaks, and these the Hams found with good clean sizzling hits that hadn't anything scratchy about them.

Manager Wetzel watched his players perform yesterday from the press box Manager Wetzel watched his players perform yesterday from the pless box, and a regular tatoo of fouls made the London leader hunch for cover, but he and a regular tattoo of fouls made the London leader hunch for cover, but he came out long enough at intervals to see that Reddy's mixture was too much for the Tecs' batting pace at this juncture. As for what happened most of that must be chalked up against Harper's inability to conceal anything yesterday the Hams. With the exception of Blake's hit, which Kennedy's might have got him under, but which Carmen was playing over too far for everything else was justly earned on good, clean, timely swats. Zinn's three-bagger, which scored two in the unfaithful seventh, being the cleanest and Shag As Usual.

Shag wore the usual until the seventh and then disguised himself in a wreath of smiles.

Grimm, the Hams' utility third sacker, distinguished himself yesterday from the herd by making two one-hand stabs into the dirt after what looked like hits, and one grand stab of Calbert's straight liner in the eighth. Calbert also pulled down Zinn's fly in the ninth sensationally.

The Hams collected their first when Micky Corcoran hit safely, stole second and came in on Blake's long curving hit to left. Harper only allowed them one hit for the next three frames, but in the seventh started the procession by letting Reddy stroll to first. Grimm sacrified him and Carlin's hit to left scored him. Shag's hit to the same spot scored Carlin from second and Corcoran followed with still another bingle to the northerly garden. Shag and Corcoran galloped over like a pair of youngsters on Zinn's three-ply swat and a moment later Zinn came in on Blake's hit to right. In the eighth the Hams added another. Reddy was caught at second on Grimm's choice, but both Shag and Carlin hit, Shag's hit scoring Grimm.

Only Six Chances.

Six chances to overcome a sevenrun lead didn't look any too heartening in the London eighth, but Dowling waited four balls out to start off. Harper leaned over to get one that would have been a homer with a few feet more to the left, scoring Bill. Carmen got on, but was stranded at first when Shay fouled out and Calbert poked a liner right at Grimm. Kuhn and Briger hit to start off the ninth and the first sacker was pushed across on Crichlow's single to right. Pitt and Dawling flied out and Harper drove Dowling flied out and Harper drove in his second run when his hit to right gave Briger a chance to flash in. The score:

Ball Club Gives Pennant-Winners SARNIA RUGBY Official Farewell Banquet

Directors With Representatives of K. of C.'s and Fans With Club Quartet Make Send-Off Merry One.

The Tecumsehs make their official farewell Mint League bow to the London fans this afternoon in a twin bill with the help Frank Shaughnessy has been bossing all season and which has been made by a boosters' day for the players themselves by the London Club. The original program of sports between the Hamilton and London players between the games featured by a race between Joe Briger and Frank Shaughnessy with a stand-up finish goes. Jack Beatty of Kitchener would have been secured to give an exhibition of how the maxim silencer works, but is busy at Kitchener with a double-header.

Last night Manager Wetzel and his pennant winners were guests at a banquet in the Tecumseh House tendered them by the London Ball Club as an appreciation of their work this sean appreciation of their work this sean appreciation of their work this sean of the first dinner given the players starting out the season. affairs, everybody said nice things about everybing that was said was meant. President Heard presided, and the Tecumseh quartet (Messrs. Pink, King, Roberts and oDwling), all dyed, in-the-wool fans, batted 1.000 vocally. Bill Moore representing the fans made a neat spech. It is regretted that lack of space prevents Buzz Wetzel's lengthy reply to all these complimentary things hurled at the team, being printed. Dr. Claude Brown and Ed. Ryan, represented the players with watch fobs and cuff links, suitably engraved. Afterwards, the banquet party were driven to Loew's Theatre, where they were given a box, the Hamilton that of the first dinner given the players starting out the season.
