FACTS FOR FARMERS

FEEDING VALUE OF WINDFALL APPLES.

In consideration of the scarcity, adulteration and excessive cost of feeds information on the feeding value of windfall apples may be opportune. When the choice lies between feeding them or using them as fertilizer it is often preferable to use them as feed.

In order to use a feeding stuff intelligently a knowledge of at least a general sort must be obtained regarding its content, and especially its true value in the case of fruits. While apples may often be fed advantageously to stock and sound fruit may be used because of the pectins, gums, vegetable oils, etc., contained in them, but they are not highly nutritious.

They must be classified as a succulent feed, and because of their succulence their percentages of the nutrients are very small; their value for furnishing fat and protein, the two most important and valuable of the several nutrients, is almost negligible. They have, however, a fairly high carbohydrate content.

The accompanying table shows their percentage composition, compared with that of shorts:

Average Composition of Apples and Shorts

Volatiles Protein Ether Extract Carbohydrates Fibre Ash

Apples 82.5 1.2 12.5 7.7 4.2 1.3

Shorts 3.21 16.10 5.08 58.29 6.75 4.20

From this table it is evident that the feeding value of apples is comparatively low. With shorts at $60 per ton, apples are worth from $2 to $3 per ton.

COURAGE.

(Jane Bates, in Forbes Magazine, New York.)

Where is your record of yesterday? Is it near the top, or low?

Well, what does it matter, anyway. If you've watched the score and know.

The biggest men in the world today—Began and some jobs were mean—But they won because they were willing to play.

The game out fair and clean. They cared not a whit that the odds were long.

For their faith in themselves was true. They faced the mark with a courage strong.

And headed straight for the line. It's playing the big game right that pays.

It's not what you win, but how. So forget to regard the wasted days, Start right on a new one now.

MUST TEAR DOWN
ANCIENT BUILDINGS,
COMMITTEE RULES

St. Thomas Board Will Notify Owners To Rebuild or Remove Old Stores.

L. & P. S. R. CASE PENDING

Commission Wants To Lay More Tracks—Port Stanley Village Opposes Move.

ST. THOMAS, Sept. 27.—Number three committee, transacted routine business tonight.

Chairman Hill once more advised the committee that the lamp on Margaret street had not yet been installed, although the fireman of the electric light department had time and again been ordered to place the light on that much advertised corner. The question will again be carried to the council on Tuesday night.

City Clerk McNaughton, Fort William, of the board of conciliation under the industrial disputes investigation act, wrote for information relative to the wages paid the firemen, the population of St. Thomas, and working conditions. The investigation is made to aid the board in settling the difference between the council of Fort William and the International Fire Fighters' Union of that city.

Condemns Old Buildings. The city engineer was ordered to notify the owners of the stores on the north side of Talbot street in the west end of the city to either remove or rebuild, and in case of refusal action be taken under the building by-law. The bill board, also recently erected in the brow of the hill on the property of A. E. Fensholt, be taken down. These buildings were declared by the committee to be dangerous to the public.

Unpaid Rent On City Property. Ald. Meehan demanded that the rent due on the city property, opposite the famous hotel, be at once paid. The man Hill advised the committee that about $1
