NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Speculative activity continued unabated at the opening of today's stock market, with large blocks of representative railroad issues changing hands at higher prices. Kansas City Southern jumped 1 1/2 points on reports that it would soon take the lead in a new southwestern merger plan, and Norfolk and Western reached a new 1925 high at 140. American Car and Foundry led an advance in the equipment issues.

Morning Stock Letter

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—The upward move in the rails yesterday was the sharpest we have met, and we look for higher prices. Within the next several weeks July statements will be out, and these should give a good explanation of the great demand for rails. We expect that N. Y. C., Atchafalca, Southern Railway, B. & O., P. R., I. C., Texas and Pacific, and Nor. and Western are good speculation. There is considerable shifting from the industrials to the rails, which brings some softness into the price of certain industrials. We doubt if the industrials have completed their move, however. Steel hangs back, but we believe it and Consolidated are two of the speculations in the industrial list. Due to good earnings we expect higher prices for Atch. Gulf and W. I. Chemical will be out within the next several weeks, and we would buy the stock on any weakness.

Brokers' Opinions

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Block Money: "While we think stocks like steel will work higher, you will make no mistake, to take profits when you have them."

Hornblower: "Outside of normal technical reactions, no trouble is in sight, and we think, as we did in January, that speculative conditions indicate upward price trends throughout the year at least. Confine new commitments to special stocks called to your attention from time to time, and do not tamper with the short side."

Housman & Co.: "We still believe that it is highly desirable to adopt most careful and conservative attitude toward the average run of industrials. The oils have borne the brunt of the selling and probably will continue to do so as far as the situation warrants."

Charles Childs: "Oil, copper, steel and other industrials should follow in the footsteps of the rails."

SCATTERS MONEY; SHOOTS HIMSELF

Bank Teller Makes Scene in West Lynn—Believed Temporarily Unbalanced.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 18.—Napoleon Sanoraki, teller at the Sagamore Trust Company, West Lynn, scattered $7,000 about the floor of his cage at the bank, sounded the burglar alarm, shot himself in the left shoulder and then fought the watchman and the police who ran to the bank in response to the alarm. He was subdued and taken to the Lynn Hospital, where his wound was treated. The hospital officials believe he is temporarily mentally unbalanced.

The wounded teller is a world war veteran. He won a First Lieutenant's cross for bravery while in France and was wounded during the attack on Belleau Wood, north of Verdun, in October, 1918.

Sanoraki told the police that he had been shot by a fellow who tried to hold him up and rob the bank, but when the officers arrived they found the door locked and, once inside, they picked up Sanoraki's revolver, with one cartridge exploded.

MacMillan Fliers Report Discovery of Uncharted Mountain Areas in Arctic.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—A vast uncharted stretch of Arctic mountain country has been traversed by aviators of the MacMillan expedition in a flight to deposit supplies at their new base on Ellesmere Island.

Navy men aboard one of the airplanes reported they had seen many square miles of jagged, snow covered peaks never looked upon before by man.

Deep valleys divided the lowering ranges, and in one place there was an uncharted lake, frozen over.

The area thus explored was in the northwest section of Ellesmere Island, known to geographers heretofore only in general outline.

MAINE WOMAN LEFT TIED IN BATH TUB

Mrs. Davis of Ellsworth Thrown in Unconscious by Robbers and Water Turned on.

ELLSWORTH, Me., Aug. 18.—Two dope addicts are being sought throughout Hancock and Washington counties as the thugs who brutally trussed Mrs. Elizabeth M. Davis with heavy cord and then threw her unconscious into a bathtub, with the water turned on, in her home in High street here, and left her to drown.

The timely arrival home of the woman's husband, H. Blaine Davis, a contracting carpenter, saved her life. He rescued her just as her head was bobbing up and down in the overflowing tub.

WREATHEN LYNCHING.

Mrs. Davis has recovered sufficiently from the effects of the terrible experience to relate what had transpired. Two men, bent on robbery, gagged her with a handkerchief, then tied a pillow slip around her head, tied her hands behind her back with heavy cord, fastened the rope to her ankles and then tossed her body into the bathtub.

As far as Bangor and Bar Harbor searching parties have been combing the countryside, and threats of lynching are freely heard, in the event that the assailants of Mrs. Davis are captured.
