most popular one, as there have been so many appeals of late to help this deserving nation who had sacrificed so much for us.

Each guest was presented with a bouquet of violets. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. James D. Seely, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Adams, Mrs. George K. McLeod, Mr. R. Keltie Jones, and Mr. Ambrose.

It is seldom St. John has such a delightful treat as was afforded the tremendous audience that attended the Imperial on Thursday evening when the "Variety Revue" under the auspices of the Loyalist Chapter, I. O. D. E., was given. It would be impossible to fully describe the delightful program, as each member was a gem within itself. The quartet costumes of "The Olden Time" worn by the young ladies called forth much admiration in the graceful minuet. Never before in our city have such wonderful tableaux been given. The Vision of Dante was wonderfully done, the staging of this picture being perfect. The young ladies in these tableaux were Miss Dorothy Tennant, Miss Leslie Grant, Miss Carolyn Page, Miss Doreen Gillies, Mr. Manning of Those Days in Old Virginia every detail was perfect. Miss Dorothy Purdy and Miss Jean Daniel were the principals in this Old South picture. Two much praise cannot be given for the works of art displayed in the beautiful pictures arranged by the French Club, the magnificent blending of colors so true to the original pictures. Madame Lebrun and daughter represented by Mrs. Daniel Mullin and her beautiful little daughter, Miss Catherine. One could have easily imagined they were in the long ago, gazing upon the original, so perfect were all details. Jeanne D'Arc represented by Miss Margaret Carvill was indeed a study in art; her costume of armor also being perfect and every detail carried out to perfection. La Belle Chocolatiere represented by Miss Madeleine deSoyres was much enjoyed and perhaps very familiar to many, the colorings in the costume of this picture were exquisite. "The Girl With the Muff" represented by Mrs. Harold Payson was very cleverly impersonated, being ideal. The Broken Pitcher by Miss Marion Macge was perfect, here too the colorings were beautiful and little intricacies so well looked after. Marie Antoinette by Miss Coster was simply perfection. The tableau "The Death of the Black Eagle" was a marvel and was represented by Miss Gullivar and Miss Corinne Cormeau. The wonderful costume of the Eagle as worn by Miss Cormeau deserves special mention. Miss Gullivar's beautiful voice rang out in the Marseillaise, rendered in French. Many of the audience joining in. This tableau was arranged by St. Monica's Society. The last tableau, John Bull, arranged by the Young Women's Patriotic Association once again brought the vast audience to their feet, all joining in Rule Britannia. Miss Catherine McAvity was most graceful and more like professional than amateur. The prologue by Miss Kathleen Coster was much enjoyed.

The marriage of Miss Vera Constance MacLauchlan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. MacLauchlan, to Major Frank Bennett Young, 140th Battalion, C. E. F., will take place on Tuesday, March 14th in St. Paul's (Valley) church.
