GERMAN MIND NOT ALTERED BY THE WAR

Holocaust of War fails to shake her out of Self-Contempt.

CANNOT UNDERSTAND WHY DEFEAT COMES

People Are Just Waiting for New Party to Come Out and Lead Them.

By G. VALENTINE WILLIAMS, (Copyright, 1921, by Standard Daily Mail and Cross-Atlantic.)

Jan. 7.—It is nearly seven and a half years since I was last in Berlin. The city which in 1913 was still spick-and-span, prosperous and proud, is poor, like its views, decidedly hidden away, is today a shambles, its people cold, and abandoned to an open orgy of infamy which must surely be unique among the capitals of Europe.

The German mind does not seem to have altered. Neither the holocaust of dead nor the crash of thrones has shaken Germany out of her self-contempt.

Aleksandr pushed to account for the utter breakdown of the entire German system, in his outlook on life the German of 1920 is to most intents and purposes the German of 1918. In a world which to British eyes is strangely changed by five years of world war, the German is the German absolutely. To talk to him makes you feel that the German of today is the meanest creature on God's earth.

Wondering Why Defeated

Yet with heavy deliberation he is concerned with himself to ascertain the cause of his defeat. But he is not examining consequences.

Any Berlin bookshop will show you the chaos prevailing in the German mind.

Professor Steinach's reparation of the theory of Einstein's theory of relativity, Maxwell's theory of Normal Angles on the Versailles Peace, both books in German translation and prominently displayed—treatises on spiritualism, atheism, free love and the like—works of this description stand side by side with a mass of frankly pornographic literature. Here you have the German experimental of the past, complicated schemes for the future, but nothing practical to deal with the problems of the present. And, above all, no contrition for Germany's crime against mankind.

Floundering in Doubt

The German surveyed the world from his castle of militarism. Now that it has collapsed he is left floundering in a sea of doubt and fears.

The Germans with whom I have spoken expect us to hold them guiltless of the past because, they say, they have rid Germany of her military caste.

The Germans, however, repeat the bloodily-minded blunders according to that eminent honest man, William the Second, because they failed to keep their promise to establish German world-domination. But the German people is governed by herd instinct, and the expansion of the Old Gang in the direction of military defeat and home panic in which the Hohenzollern schemers were sent away requires weightier evidence of a change of heart than is forthcoming in Germany today if it is to be accepted as a proof of the death of German militarism.

Talk to a Frenchman of any class, and you will find him later coming up as a well-balanced and sincere amount of German abhorrence. Talk to a German about his government and you will find, at the best, lukewarm interest; at the worst, resentful ridicule towards the German Republic.

The average attitude is one of blank indifference. The German man in the street never thought for himself. He does not do so today. The question of the future is: What party will emerge from the present chaos to do his thinking for him?

The Germans are perfectly willing to forgive us for the war. They talk glibly of "our unhappy war with the air of a man making penitentiarily excuses for some social lapse. By today, I had that the great majority of Germans have no idea of the horror in which the very name of Germany is held in the Anglo-Saxon countries and in France and Belgium.

Roosevelt and Congress.
(Washington, Saturday.)

A number of men were dining at the White House one day during a terrible winter. President Roosevelt was having a particularly difficult time with Congress. Among those were Carl Akerley, the big-game hunter, and a certain Cecil Rhodes from Illinois.

After dinner, while talking how one evening in the heart of Africa he had seen elephants coming out of one cave, "The President's eyes shone."

"By George!" he exclaimed. "I will catch those lions loose in Congress!"

"But Mr. President," interposed the Congressman, "you're afraid they might make a mistake."

Roosevelt snapt his teeth together.
"Not if they stayed long enough!"

The Cause of Gout Rheumatism

According to medical men such as Garrod, Minkowski, Hans, Vogt and Reisch, the cause of gout is due to an excessive accumulation of uric acid in the blood. The same effect happens in rheumatism.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead, when your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; when you suffer with sick headache, or dizziness, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather changes, you draggin' for Street, St. John, and get a good course of treatment.

ENGLISH SCULPTOR MODELS BUSTS OF LENIN AND TROTZKY

Mrs. Clara Sheridan Reaches London After Trip to Period.

(Copyright, 1921, by Standard Daily (London, Jan. 7)—Olivia Sheridan, the brilliant young English sculptor who went to Russia to model the clay figure in the Russian revolution, has returned to England. She is a cousin of Mr. Churchill and niece of Lady Randolph Churchill. She has brought back with her life-size busts of Lenin and Trotzky.

"I wanted to see," Mrs. Sheridan said, "the results of Communism, who ensured that I would secure my clay figure of Lenin and Trotsky. This was a chance to meet me to be missed. The Foreign Office refused to grant me a passport, saying I would be shot. So I went without a visa, and you see I have not been shot."

We Used Well

"I was given comfortable quarters in a requisitioned house. Both Lenin and Trotsky are excellent visitors. I had eight hours with Lenin and twenty-four with Trotsky. Trotsky talked picture art, and literature. He has the head of Mephisto. He has a wonderful personality and is full of fire. He has read the best English literature, and once told me that if England had never done anything else it would have justified its existence."

Lenin Extraordinary Man.

On Lenin Mrs. Sheridan said: "From the art point of view I think he is the most interesting man in the world. His eyes are most extraordinary. His whole personality is in them. I modeled him in his room at the War Office, while he was at work at his desk. His calmness in all circumstances is extraordinary. No matter how excited others get he always preserves his impassiveness."

Mrs. Sheridan is a very handsome woman. She has the dark coloring and the fine expressive eyes that mark her aunt, Lady Randolph Churchill, who charmed her often when she was a girl. Her intimate friends include Miss Patricia Hamley, and her husband is one of her next-door-neighbors. Another admirable admiring sister is that of Mr. Asquith, done for the Oxford Union, while his cousin, Mr. Winston Churchill, has been an admirable sitter. Other cousins who have played a part in politics of a very different kind in Ireland are Lady Carson and Mr. Shane Leslie.

Mystery Solved at Last.

We now know who won the war.
It was Smith. There were $4,150 of him in the American forces. The United States War Department says that all the Smiths who served in the Army, Navy and Marine Corps would make fifteen regiments of a strength of 5,000 each. When we count in the Smiths in our Army we can estimate quite probably who took the scale against the Germans. —Liverpool Post.

iness in future. We are, Madam, yours

"This is a very paltry sort of letter," remarked the judge.
