

A. K. MACLEAN WILL SUPPORT KING'S MOTION

From "No Man's Land" Former Unionist Minister Gave His Amendment Views.

CLAIMS 1917 FIGHT WAS WAR TIME ONLY

People Were Sure Mandate Given Then Was for Struggle Period Alone.

(Continued from page 1.) Amendments to the Dominion Elections Act providing for revision of Ontario lists for use in the Dominion referendum in April, were given third reading in the House this afternoon, and now go up for royal assent.

Mr. King Objects
Prior to the bill being given third reading, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, the leader of the Opposition, said that while offering no objection to its final passage, he wished, however, to protest against the practice of bringing down legislation and rushing it through with the greatest possible speed.

Mr. King said that we were now approaching the end of the financial year. It was altogether likely that the government would shortly come asking for money to carry on with. He warned the government that he would be wise to bring in the estimates as soon as possible, because the Opposition had no intention of voting money without seeing the estimates.

M. R. Blake
M. R. Blake, Winnipeg, N. said that the government had been subjected to undue, unjust and unwarranted criticism by members of the Opposition during the recess. This criticism still continued, and it would indicate that the Opposition was trying to stir up "war" in the country. Dr. Blake took the ground that conditions in Canada today were good. Industrial relations were of the best, and there was less unemployment here than in any country in the world.

Hon. A. K. Maclean
Hon. A. K. Maclean, Halifax, speaking from the benches of "No Man's Land," opened by congratulating Mr. Meighen on his appointment as prime minister. It was a precarious position which none would realize better than Mr. Meighen himself, Mr. Maclean spoke of his entry into the Union Government in 1917. "I do not regret the action which I then took," he said. The leader of the Opposition, Mr. Maclean went on, might have many reasons for presenting his amendment to the address. But his speech on the opening day of the debate gave one basic reason for support of his amendment.

Supports the Amendment
The reason was that under the Canadian parliamentary system and under the peculiar circumstances in which the election of 1917 took place, there should be a dissolution of parliament at an early and appropriate time in the future. "Upon that ground," Mr. Maclean said, "I have no objection to the amendment."

Reason for Dissolution
Two pieces of legislation, Mr. Maclean quoted as being good and sufficient grounds for the belief that such a limit would be placed. The Military Service Act, with its peculiar requirements from all classes of people, had seemed to call for a coalition ministry to carry it out. Then there was the War Time Elections Act. Mr. Maclean had thought it "mischievous and dangerous" in 1917, but had let the more important consideration of the war override his objection, he said. His George Foster had started frantically on the floor of the House that only the war justified the extraordinary provisions of the War Time Elections Act.

His Last Vote
Regarding his failure to support the motion of no confidence in the government, Mr. Maclean said:

Go On Strike To Get More Bread

Troops Called Out to Quell Disturbance at Riga Where 14,000 Men Quit.

Riga, Latvia, Feb. 25.—A report received here from Moscow today says a strike was begun yesterday by 14,000 employees of the government works and in various industries, including printers. The men are demanding an increased bread ration, the convocation of a constituent assembly and the rights of free trade.

Troops Called Out

During the disorders which followed troops were called out to disperse the strikers, several of whom were killed or wounded. When the report was despatched some members of the Red army had joined the strikers. The government had ordered a mobilization of communists who were guarding government offices.

argument introduced last session, Mr. Maclean said that he had then reasons for not doing so. Some of them were personal. None of them had any real bearing on his attitude of this session and he did not propose to take up the time of the House with re-echoing them. He did not think that redistribution of seats was a sufficient reason for prolonging the life of parliament when there were so many good reasons for dissolving it.

Mr. Maclean declared that the people of the West were prepared to forego redistribution if an election could be secured. Placing redistribution as an essential before an election was the political doctrine of might is right. No province was suffering from want of adequate representation. He would support the amendment.

Pledge To Buy Only British Made Goods

St. John Local Council of Women in Regular Session—Much Business Done.

A motion reaffirming their pledge to buy Canadian and British-made goods was passed at the regular meeting of the St. John Local Council of Women held yesterday afternoon in the Board of Trade rooms. A statement, made by Miss Grace Leavitt, that she continued her purchases wholly by not only Canadian, but to St. John stores, was greeted with hearty applause. Plans for the Council's meeting were made. Mrs. W. Edmund Raymond presided most efficiently in the absence of Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, who is visiting her sister at Riverview Lodge.

Indicted Coal Men Under Anti-Trust Law

On Five Counts 223 Operators Must Stand Trial Before Indiana Courts.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 25.—An indictment containing five counts, charging conspiracy to violate the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, was returned by the federal grand jury today against 223 coal operators, coal operators' associations, coal mining companies and coal miners. Included among those indicted are J. L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America; William Green, secretary of the United Mine Workers of America; Percy Tallow, statistician of the United Mine Workers of America. The five counts indictment charges a "restraint of trade, restraint of commerce, conspiracy to monopolize and monopolizing."

Why Chilly Weather
Brings Rheumatism
Says skin pores are closed and uric acid remains in blood.

Rheumatism is no respecter of age, sex, color or rank. If not the most dangerous of human afflictions it is one of the most painful. Those subject to rheumatism should eat less meat, dress as warmly as possible, avoid any undue exposure and, above all, drink lots of pure water. Rheumatism is caused by uric acid which is secreted in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and excrete it in the urine. The kidneys are also the organs which eliminate the uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism the patient should take four ounces of Jud Riel's Pilsner Beer in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jud Riel's Pilsner Beer is harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

-1921- MODEL BABY VEHICLES NOW ON DISPLAY

When you go forth to purchase your baby carriage for "the most precious baby in the world," you should always bear in mind the three cardinal principles of proper baby carriage construction. The first principle is that of comfort for baby and you. The second—and often the first considered—is beauty. Beauty means symmetry of lines; harmony of color in the body, running gear and upholstery; perfection of wicker weaving and general appearance. The third principle is the stability of the carriage. You will find these three attributes—Comfort, Beauty, Stability—in our comprehensive showing of Baby Vehicles.

Swear They Will Never Come Back

Sailors Wrathful at United States for Passing Dry Law.

New York, Feb. 25.—America's alcoholic aridity caused a terrible storm in mid-ocean the other day. Torrents of Italian hissing and thundering comments on news beer denunciations as no one ever received before it made the well-governed temperature in a tea pot look trifling.

The radio disturbance emanated from the steamer Vindobona, which recently left this port, and it ended in the office of the ship's agents here. These agents when the Italian crew complained that its wine ration had become exhausted, provided the best available substitute before the ship sailed.

"Never again," cracked over the wireless after the sailors had progressed 600 miles with nothing but near beer and water to quench their thirst. "We pledge ourselves never to return to America while its laws against good wine remain in force. We will see that no crew ever brings the Vindobona back to meet the horrors we have met. Never again."

The ship's agents hoped the crew meant what it said about never coming back. When the sailors were in New York the agents explained, they demanded long shore leaves, theatre tickets galore, newspapers in three languages delivered on deck each morning and no clothes to wear on Broadway and Fifth avenue.

Then, after they had been to sea two days, they forced the skipper to put back to port, claiming that the ship was leaking. When they returned to New York they complained that their wine was gone. Thumbs went down on all talk of supplying liquor compatible with changes in the constitution. Finally the crew grudgingly accepted 160 cases of near beer and once more went to sea.

"They WORK while you sleep"
You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable. You mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

When your meals don't sit and you feel uncomfortable, when you belch gases, acids or raise sour, undigested food. When you feel lumps of indigestion pain, heartburn or headache, from acidity, just eat a tablet of Pape's Diaprepin and the stomach distress is gone.

Millions of people know the magic of Pape's Diaprepin as an antidote. They know that indigestion and disordered stomach are no needles. The relief comes quickly, no disappointment, and they cost so little too.
