STAFFORD HOTEL,
London,
July 7, 1919

Dear Mr. Sparkes:

I thank you cordially for your kind note of a day or two ago.

I shall be greatly disappointed if I have not the pleasure of making your acquaintance before I return to Canada, and I much appreciate your letting me know of the days you are likely to be in town. I am sailing on Saturday of this week, so shall hope to see you during the next day or two.

Mr. Hilton of the Garton Foundation was kind enough to invite me to join himself and others at the Foundation luncheon on Wednesday of this week. I shall therefore be at the Foundation offices about one o'clock on Wednesday. In the hope of seeing you, I shall call a little before one. If you are likely to be engaged at that time, possibly we could meet between two and half-past on the same day.

Thanking you for your letter, and looking forward with much pleasure to making your acquaintance,

Believe me,
Yours very truly,

Malcolm Sparkes, Esq.,
Garton Foundation,
Whitehall.
