REPORT OF Mlle CHAPTAL

178 pages Price 4s. $1.00

In this report, Mademoiselle Chaptal has endeavoured to give some idea of the comparative value of the methods employed in seven countries (Denmark, Germany, Italy, France, England, Canada and the United States of America) which she visited between 1929 and 1932, with a view to ensuring most effectively the protection of children in moral or social danger.

This report is divided into three parts, containing for each of these countries :

- I. A survey of general legislation in the form adopted by each country : boards of guardianship, offices for the protection of young people, juvenile courts with auxiliary services.
- II. A description of certain types of institutions for protection and rescue work.
- III. A study of the methods employed for the detection and treatment of young mental defectives (abnormal, unstable, backward).
