

Photo by Dr. Shutt

A REMODELED HOUSE.

This house was built by the late Prof. A. G. Gilbert, whose picture many of his old friends will recognise, and was what was called a "scratching shed" house. It was not very satisfactory being too expensive for the number of birds it would accommodate; it was therefore changed by him to what appears in the next illustration.