HEAD OFFICE IN CANADA, TORONTO H. M. BLACKBURN, Manager

FOUNDED 1710

SUN FIRE

THE OLDEST INSUPANCE

The satholic Register (GARS Soil for Pive Soil for Pive Outo Sack UNE BOLLART MERTING STORE OF THE SOIL OF THE SOI

VOL. XIV., No. 43

TIMER

TORONTO, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1906

should like you to consider our

They are much in demand by prudent investors who prefer unquestionable security for their capital. We shall be pleased to send a Specimen Boud, copy of our last Annual Report and all information on receipt of address.

The Great Home-Rule Mass Meeting at of the British Empire now a Celttions.

meeting in Massey Hall on Saturday F. Finerty's great speech at the evening, Oct. 13th. It was a gratifica- Philadelphia Convention (and in a tion to me to have had an interview sense it was great) his remark was : pleasant circumstances to behold so to Old-Timer. large and so grand and so intelligent and so enthusiastic an assemblage of Irish men and Irish women largest hall on that night, to listen to one of Ireland's brightest embassadors plead the cause of Ireland's men and women and without one word of interruption-a great change from the Toronto of old that I remember. But greater than all, more hopeful than all, more gratifying than all else, it was to me to hear from the lips of this well-accredited and well-informed, embassador that the day of Ireland's redemption was at hand. On that day of jubilee the sons tic race that has been so long subof Erin, with hearts overcharged and merged; for whatever uplifts any porlast in our own day, come to an end forever. The democracy of Great Britain, which in unfortunate former diversion I would like to see the days was hostile to everything Irish. have at length awakened to the justice of Irish claims; and well may they, for it is the presence of the Irish members in the parliament c principal support of popular rights in study of race and bewailed the misthat great legislative body. Only one fortunes of the Kelts; but I am ingood point that the envoy might have clined to think a better day for them made was omitted, and that was that is dawning. I am myself inclined to ruler, but a friend of Ireland gener- of modern times is a Keltic achieveally. There is also another potent ment, but that we don't know it. fact that has to be thought of, and Here is one of MeGee's little poems that is the influence of race. It is no wherein he bewails the fallen condilonger the "Celtic fringe" that has tion of his own race:

TOPICS OF AN OLD. to be considered, for not only is there now an educated "Celtic fringe," but a realization of the fact that some of the best blood of Britain is Celtic. If the present government of Great Britain and Ireland succeeds in its plans of giving Ireland a parliament of her own that circumstance Massey Hall-The Study of Races- will be largely due to a Celtie pre-Thomas D'Arcy McGee's Doleful mier, what Campbell-Bannerman un-Discoveries - Conditions Looking doubtedly is. Mr. O'Connor stated in his speech that there was never Better Now-The American Revolu- greater enthusiasm evinced in the Unticn a Celtic Product-The Premier | ited States for Irish Home Rule than what he saw at the Philadelphia convention a few days before. Seventy The Great Latin Poet, Virgil a Celt thousand dollars was subscribed at -"Kelts in Literature" - Names that convention with the promise to Taken From Irish Saints - The make it one hundred thousand; and in Names of Roman Gods, Irish-Great ten thousand dollars was subscribed Boston a few days later the sum of Changes in American Magazines- Everybody in the United States is President Roosevelt's Irish Inclina- for Irish Home Rule, and there is no one more ardently so than the President of the United States himself; and this fact,' too, must have its influence to be considered, for not only is there

It was a joy to my heart to be on British public opinion. When I present at that great Home Rule spoke to Mr. O'Connor of Col. John with Mr. T. P. O'Connor, M.P., the "Yes, but the days of tail-twisting president of the Irish National Lea- are over." When I think of the past gue of Great Britain, after an inter- in Toronto, that meeting of Mr. O'val of twenty-six years. It was a Connor's was exceedingly gratifying of all the legislation of the Church

The study of races as well as the study of languages is another of the here in Toronto we have an Irish the study of the Keltic race from John XXII., A.D. 1332, down to the concerts. some of Ontario's most distinguished which both branches sprang. To my- Motu Proprio of Pius X., A.D. 1903. self, half Saxon that I am, the hisples is a fascinating subject. Many in the tone of all the decrees and inbooks have been written about the Anglo-Saxons, principally in their laudation, and with this I have no quarrel; but it is full time that the scholars of Europe and America were the public library a small volume encussed at the September "Ceilidh" of erally gone over.

London.

Seeking An Investment?

Head Office :

I have been asked to put before you this evening a simple and brief statement of the general laws which Holy Church imposes upon us with regard to the rendering of the musical portion of her services. I need hardly say that I am not going to attempt

This course is rendered the more easy structions which have been put for-

The question of Church music has Polyphonic; the Modern.

MORTGAGE CORPORATION to the ruling of the properly consti- for us what the Solesmes Penedic- tions.

If you have money you wish to invest safely

FOUR PER CENT. BONDS

CANADA PERMANENT

director of the "Schola Cantorum" would furnish matter for a whole of Paris he said how he admired and 24, 1884) follows the example of his course of lectures, and would be quite valued the compositions of Mozart, illustrious predecessors, and all agree beyond the scope of our quiet little Haydn, Bach, etc.; but that he liked together with our present Pontifi in and their friends as met in Toronto's study of languages is another of the beyond the scope of our quiet little flayin, bach, etc., but that he fixed together with our present Pointin in Congregational is not so irrational, largest hall on that night, to listen factors favorable to Home Rule, and discussion to-night. Neither do I to hear them outside the church; many the same broad rules for our guidpropose to trouble you with long quo- of their works being unsuitable for ance. Gaelic League and a Scottish Gaelic tations from bulls and decrees nor use during Divine Service. A great We come now to the consideration Association, both studying the lan- with strings of references. My inten- deal of this very excellent music wrongs and tell in burning words of guage, the music and the ancient tion is to give just the broad lines of may, of course, be enjoyed at sacred Gregorian, has always been praised I am not going to attempt to deal tory and fortunes of the Keltic peo- by the perfect agreement which exists or artistic point of view. That is be used in church, as having no world-

ward from time to time during these fical statements of music which may be says that the music of Palestina and become specially prominent during The Gregorian is the real Chant of God. The Motu Proprio of 1903 comenquiring into the merits of the Kel- the last few years. There has been the Church. This music has always pares it with the Gregorian and says for some time a deep and ever grow- been sanctioned and encouraged by that it possesses all the qualities neminds uplifted, will give thanks to Almighty God that the day of their Must I contend for is not superiority There ing feeling that much of the music the Church; it is her own music; she cessary to church music and orders country's deliverance has come to for the Kelt, but fair play. There God, but that it is actually in oppo-ders it to be taught in all ner semin-other churches where it can be well we will distinguish between the litursition to the spirit of true worship, aries, making it one of the compuland a hindrance instead of a help sory subjects for all candidates for years of suppression, and seven hun- titled "Nicholson's Celtic Re- to the devotion of the faithful. Our orders. All this has been confirmed present Roly Father recognizing the by many Pontiffs, by the Council of pressing importance of the matter, Troat, and recently by the Popes Leo the Gaelic Society; and as a literary had scarcely taken possession of his XIII. and Pius X. A decree of the that where the Polyphonic music Christi, and processions, other than see when he, by his Motu Proprio, Sacred Congregation of Rites dated cannot be properly rendered, Plainmade an earnest endeavor to place November 20, 1660, and numbered the whole question once for all on a 1,180 in the authentic collection, pre-* * * satisfactory basis. Many of his pre-Thomas D'Arcy McGee In his day decessors legislated with a similar gible for appointment as Chap'ains Great Britain that has ever been the paid a good deal of attention to the purpose, but never yet has the desir- to render the Divine Office, until they ed result been permanently attained. have successfully passed an examina-Nearly three years have now passed tion in Plainsong. The Bishop is to since the publication of the Motu Pro- arrange for such examinations. prio, and what have been its results? The Pope wishes the Gregorian the King himself is not only a home think that the greatest achievement It is true that, here and there, most Chant to predominate in the Liturgy praiseworthy and loyal efforts have and he also wishes it to be executed been made; but with these few excep- with very great care and preparation; tions the results have up to the pres- as one of the chief obstacles in the ent been so small and disappointing way of its advancement has been the that one begins to fear that, unless bad execution, and the bad versions something can be done to arouse the which have been in use. Both these interest and to strengthen the zeal evils will, we hope, be remedied by of all concerned, this latest great ef- the publication of the amended texts, fort of the Holy See may be to some and by the teaching of the qualified Gregorian Chant had attained to its modern music, however, is not forgreatest possible glory. It was used bidden when it conforms to the genin our beautiful old cathedrals, ab- eral regulations laid down, when it beys, and monasteries. Our fathers fulfills the conditions and is free from have left us a magnificent inherit- objectionable elements. The Pope ance, and it is very gratifying to wishes that the music be as the humknow that old English manuscripts ble servant of the Liturgy, he does have been largely used in the prepara- not wish the functions to be suspendtion of the new Vatican Text, and ed for it, he condemns undue repewill thus come once more into use, tition, and absolutely forbids any alnot only here in England, but teration of the liturgical text. The throughout the west.

The Holy Father authorizes the retention of ancient texts by those worldly or theatrical. It must be in countries which are so fortunate as harmony with the function. It must to possess them; and we may, there- be holy, worthy of the House of God, fore, hope that some of our liturgi- and must not be of a nature to reto submit any personal liking or taste cal scholars may be encouraged to do call secular thoughts and associatuted authorities. It is not for us to tines have already done for France. dictate to the Holy Father what we At the present time our separated choral, and though he does not absodesire, but for him to tell us what brethren are reviving these ancient melodies and using them in their ser-The spirit of the Motu Proprio is to vices; and it would be a disgrace to character of a hint of melodic projeccheck the present day tendency to allow these treasures, left us by our render our music worldly and thea- Catholic forefathers, to lie altogethtrical, even when this is done with er neglected by us. Many Provincial Our choirs, must not be made concert the good intention of attracting peo- Synods, from the time of St. Charles ple to our churches. The Pope em- Borromeo until now, have insisted upphasizes the fact that the Liturgy has on the use of Plainchant. Eenedict not been made for the music, but XIV. dealt most thoroughly with the that the music must be entirely sub- question in his celebrated Bull "Anservient to the Liturgy, and must nus Qui" February 19, 1749. Alexadapt itself to it. Only last year, ander VII. having previously done so in an audience given to M. Bordes, in 1657. In our own time Leo XIII. (Congregation of Rites, September of the Polyphonic music or school of and sanctioned by the Popes. It realizes what Benedict XIV. lays down ! with the question from a technical as the qualities necessary in music to ly or theatrical element, but being The Motu Proprio and other Ponti- helpful to prayer and devotion. Leo fical statements on music agree as to XIII. in his instruction of 1894, used in churches: the Gregorian; the the great composers of his school is declared most worthy of the House of music is to be in good taste; there must be nothing vulgar or trivial,

PRICE FIVE CENTS

The Pope wishes the music to be lutely forbid solos, he limits them to short passages which should have the tion, and be strictly bound up with the rest of the choral composition. platforms on which to exhibit the charms of particular voices. Modern music, then, is recognized and allowed by the Church when it conforms to her requirements. There appears to be a somewhat widespread opinion, based on no documentary evidence, that the sacred works of any wellknown composer of secular music will certainly be condemned; that the composer's name will be sufficient to ensure such condemnation. The Roman but judges every composition on its own merits-accepting all that contains the essential elements of sacred music, and rejecting all that fails in that respect.

Having now considered the different styles of music allowed by the Church we come to practice; and here the Motu Proprio goes further than previous Pontifical documents. Hitherto we have had the directions of the "Ceremoniale Episcoporum," which, although very precise on certain points, are also very vague in others; we had also the "Directorium Chori," and a great many decrees of the Congregation of Rites condemning abuses but we had no complete and concise

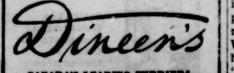

All sensible people look around and make comparisons before inv sting mon-y in Furs.

We claim the best values -quality considered. That doesn't mean of necessity the lowest price. If you're looking for mere cheapness -there are plenty of stores.

Good | u.s last for years. Cheap Furs wear out in a season and look shabby from the start.

Y u can judge us by our Fur-lined Coats as well as anything.

CANADA'S LEADING FURBILLS, 40 Yonge Street, TORONTO.

THE SEARCH FOR THE GAEL.

left the highway-I left the street-In Albyn I sought them long; I followed the track of Kenneth's feet And the sound of Ossian's song: By the Kymric Clyde, and in Galloway wild.

I sought for the wreck of my race; But the clouds that the hills of Albyn hide

Have pitied their forfeit place.

I looked for the Gael in the Cambrian glen,

From the Cambrian mountains 'mid. And saw only mute, coal-mining men-The face of my race was hid. At Merlin's work in Caernarven waste They knew not Merlin's name-And the lines the hands of the Master traced As the devil's craft they claim. I looked for the Gael in green Innis-fail, And they showed me cowering there Misshapen forms, cast down and pale. Thy disciplined host, despair! But I noticed yet in their stony eyes A flash they could not veil, And I said, "Will no brave man arise To strike on this flint with steel?"

I have found my race-I have found my race,

But oh! so fallen and low, That their very sires, if they look'd in their face,

Their own sons would not know. Still I've found my race-I've found my race, And to me this race is dear.

And I pray that Heaven may grant me grace

To toil for them many a year.

It is not so long ago, only a few years, that McGee himself an ardent Kelt, wrote those despairing lines, and yet there is a great change. The "Kymric Clyde" is the place of "sea power," for it is there that shipping is mainly built; and the inhabitants of Clydesdale are among the most thrifty in the world. The Cambrian Celts are no longer "mainly coal mining men." but are a strong, united political power, and Merlin's work is not forgotten, for Welsh history, Welsh song and Welsh nationality are held in high regard. And the Gael in "Green Innisfail" is no longer "cowering there" and is in the expectation (Continued on page 5.)

authorities. The Pope wishes to re-To what cause may we assign the vive the old custom of making all the apparent apathy with regard to this people take an active part in the Liquestion? We well know that it does turgy; and it is his desire that the not arise from any wilful disobedience faithful should know and be able to or opposition to the Pontifical au- sing the Chant.

thority. Would it not be more cor- It is difficult not to love Plain Chant rect to attribute it partly to the spe- once one has acquired a proper knowcial difficulties presented by the pre-ledge of it. It is our duty, in obediscribed music, partly to the difficulty ence to the expressed wish of the of obtaining singers properly qualified Holy Fatner, not only to endeavor to to these which we deplore at the pre- it sung to a psalm tone, or even on to render this particular music; and obtain such proper knowledge our- sent day. Alexander VII., April 23, great days, according to the Motu wrong ideas which unfortunately pre- er to help in its general diffusion. vail at the present time as to the Among the means which the Holy kind of music suitable during Divine Father suggests are: The teaching of Service. the subject in seminaries and colleges,

With regard to the two first-men- the teaching of the Chant in schools. The Pope quite justly condemns an one moment that they are in- opinion which seems to prevail very superable, even in small churches. The generally, viz., that Gregorian Chant Holy Father does not require impos- is only suitable for funerals and peni- reinforces both the Edicts of John For the "Kyrie," "Gloria," "Sancsibilities. The more one studies the tential seasons. He lays down as a Motu Proprio the more does one ap-principle that a function loses none preciate the broad wisdom and of its solemnity when nothing but profane or theatrical. Music which ed that the rules above mentioned are

With regard to the wrong ideas; the Passion and "Exultet," so eloquentquestion of what is or is not suitable ly expressive of the mind of the for use during Divine Service is one Church at the time of their use IN PRE-REFORMATION TIMES.

executed

It is noteworthy that both the Motu Proprio and the regulation of 1894 agree entirely with each other and chant should be used. I will say no more upon this point.

We have seen how earnestly the authorities of the Church have striven and the Polyphonic school there is Sacrament after the "Benedictus," with safeguards and limitations.

PRINCIPLES OF ACCEPTANCE.

Council of the Lateran, renews and must make the usual concessions. Gregorian music is used; and, in represents all or any of these fea- observed ("Cer. Episc.," lib. i. cap. tures must be excluded. Pius IX., xxix).

those beautiful invitatories, hymns, through his Cardinal Vicar of Rome, The rule allowing the organ to supsequences, responsories, lamentations, Cardinal Patrizi, in the fifties took ply is, as we see from the text of the same measures for Rome as had the "Ceremoniale Episcoporum," been previously taken by Benedict concession; therefore, it does nat at XIII. Leo XIII. in his Regulations all mean that it ought to be preferof 1884, and the Roman Congregations ed to the singing of the whole text, in several decrees, especially in one but it may be of great help to those for Baltimore in 1884, exhort the choirs which are not strong enough Bishops to use all the means at their to sing all efficiently, and thus they disposal to banish this objectionable may carry out the prescriptions in a music. The Regulations of 1884 hav- lawful manner. During the elevation ing failed to bring about the desired the organ should be payed in a solend, Pope Leo reiterated them with emn manner on days when its use is greater emphasis in his Regulations permitted. The use of Vernacular is of 1894. One of the last acts of his strictly forbidden during High Mass. Pontificate was to sanction a decree For Vespers, on days when the use concerning the Cardinals' functions in of the organ is allowed, the repeti-Rome. This Decree forbids in those tion of the Antiphon may be supplied, functions any music but the Gregor- also in the hymn and in the "Magnifiian and Polyphonic.

these condemnations, directions, and having the words pronounced in a regulations, dating from John XXII. loud and intelligible voice is observwith those contained in the Motu ed. The organ may not supply the Proprio of Pius X. He has simply Doxologies, the "Gloria Patri," summed up the legislation of many any verse during which one has to predecessors. It is evident, there- kneel. The Motu Proprio prescribes fore, that the use of this profane, that, as a rule, we are to keep to voluptuous, or theatrical music in the regulations of the "Ceremotiale certain churches has given it no real Episcoporum" (lib. ii. cap. i. no. B), position in the Church, as it has al- viz., that the psalms should be sung ways been under the condemnation of in Gregorian Chant, but that the highest authority. The use of cical functions and the extra-liturgical. By liturgleal we mean the functions which belong to the Missal. Breviary, and Pontifical; by extrathose prescribed in the "Rituale Romanum" for the proper days.

THE MASS.

Of all liturgical functions the Mass at all times to encourage and spread is the most important. The Motu the knowledge and use of the Church's Proprio confirms the legislation of the own chant; we have seen the generous "Ceremoniale Episcoporum," the depraise and encouragement given to crees of the S.R.C., Nos. 222, 1335, music of the Polyphonic school; and 3694, 3980, regarding the obligation we now come to the instructions of singing in their proper order the and regulations concerning the use of different parts of the Mass, and of modern music. Here we are at once having no Vernacular. The only thing struck by a change in the tone of the that can be added is a motett after Pontifical documents; for Plainchant the Offertory, and one to the Blessed praise and encouragement; for mod- before the "Pater Noster." The Pro-"n music there is only toleration per of the Mass ought to be sung in

'Gregorian Chant, but on days when the organ is allowed to be used, the Gradual, Offertory, and Communion The Pontifical documents give us 'may be supplied by the organ, providcertain essential principles to enable ed that some cantor recites them in us to discern whether a composition a loud and intelligible voice, so that all the congregation can hear them; John XXII. in 1332 in his famous on days when the use of the organ is Bull "Doctor Sanctorum," condemns not allowed, they must be sung. If the use of any profane music; and de- there is not a competent choir to sing plores the abuses which obtained in sufficiently the Proper to its right his time; many of them being similar music, there is no objection to having 1759, threatens excommunication, sus- Proprio, it may be sung in figured pension, and deprivation to the su- music, provided that it be not theaperiors or rectors of churches who trical. The "Ceremoniale Episcoiolerate any music of such a kind in porum" and the Motu Proprio retheir churches. He also forbids even new the prescription that the music the least alteration of the text, or must not keep the celebrant waiting repetition, and also forbids the use of or suspend the Mass unduly. For the orchestras. Benedict X.III., in his "sanctus" both celebrant and choir

XXII. and Alexander VII. Benedict tus," and "Agnus Dei," the organ XIV. says: There must be nothing can alternate with the voices, provid-cat" the organ may alternate with

How strikingly in agreement are all the choir provided that the rule of OI (Continued on page 8.)

A SUBJECT FOR ECCLESIASTI-CAL AUTHORITY.

extent nullified.

for ecclesiastical authority, and not for private judgment. As loyal sons of Holy Church it is our plain duty In pre-Reformation England the tioned difficulties, I do not think for

