Bog Spavin
Cure the lameness and remove the bunch without scarring the horse—have the part looking just as it did before the blemish came.
Fleming's Spavin Cure (Liquid) is a special remedy for soft and semi-solid blemishes—Bog Spavin, Thoroughpins, Splints, Curbs, Capped Hocks, etc. It is neither a liniment nor a simple blister, but a remedy unlike any other—doesn't irritate and can't be misused. Easy to use, only a little required, and your money back if it ever fails.
Fleming's Vest-Pocket Veterinary Adviser describes and illustrates all kinds of blemishes, and gives you the information you ought to have before ordering or buying any kind of a remedy. Mailed free if you write.

Questions and Answers. Miscellaneous.

Feeding Geese.

What is the best ration to give geese to get them started to lay, and to lay the most eggs?
T. E.

Ans.—Turn the geese out and let them have as much free range as possible. They will by this time be able to get to the ground, and feed them a good grain ration of peas, wheat or other grains, and give plenty of water. This is all that is needed by the geese during the spring season.

Seed Grain Per Acre.

Kindly advise me through your columns how much grain to sow per acre.
R. H. P.

Ans.—The variety of grain sown and the character of your land will influence very largely the quantity which it will be wise to sow. In the case of oats, a poor stooling oat will require more seed per acre than one which stools liberally. Side oats are usually poor stoolers. In good stooling oats, on average land, sow two bushels to two and one-half bushels per acre. Of poor stooling oats, sow three and one-half to four bushels per acre. Barley, one and one-half to two bushels per acre; winter wheat, two bushels per acre.

Shearing Machines.

1. Are sheep-shearing machines profitable?
2. How are they sharpened (the knives)?
3. Do they get any more wool?

G. H. B.
Ans.—1. Where large flocks of sheep are kept, we believe that sheep-shearing machines are profitable.
2. We have had no experience in sharpening the knives, but full directions go with each machine.
3. It may be that they get a little more wool, but we would not expect that this would be a very great consideration, because with hand-clipping all the wool may be clipped off if care is taken. Of course, a poor shearer who haggles the fleeces wastes wool.

A Cow Deal.

I was at a sale of farm stock and implements on February 24th. I bought a cow for $60 that was due to calve on September 19th, 1914. The proprietor said she was to calve then, and also had a ticket on her tail which read, "Supposed to calve Sept. 19th 1914." I went after the cow the next day, and he said that it was just about three weeks since he had had the cow to the bull. I brought her home, and on the 27th of February I had to take her to the bull. He should have had her away on the 19th of December to have her come in on Sept. 19th, 1914. Can I come on him for fraud?
A. M.

Ans.—Since the man did not guarantee the cow to be with calf, and since the ticket read, "Supposed to calve," we do not see that you can do anything with the seller.

A Log House.

Would you kindly give me an idea of how to build a log house about 20 x 24? How are the logs notched at the corners so that they lie close together?
A. W. S.

Ans.—It will be difficult to get them to lie close together, but there are several notches by which the wall is made quite close. One notch is simply to square, as it were, the end of both logs, which come together and make a square joint. One old-fashioned and satisfactory notch was made by making a gable-form notch in the under side of the upper log, and making a saddle, as it is called, on the upper side of the under log, upon which the notch of the upper log closely fits. The idea contained herein is to exclude water and prevent decay. Many of the houses throughout the country are constructed by simply gouging out the upper side of the under log, and making a notch on the under side of the upper log that will fit into it very easily. Any of these notches are satisfactory, but the builder should bear in mind that water getting into the notches will cause decay of the logs. However, plaster or concrete can be used satisfactorily to prevent the lodging of water in these crevices.
