BEING HIS OWN PILOT.

A bright young boy, who loved the sea, entered on a sailor's life when very young. He rose to quick promotion, and, while quite a young man, was made the master of a ship. One day a passenger spoke to him upon the voyage, and asked if he should anchor off a certain headland, supposing he would anchor there, and telegraph for a pilot to take the vessel into port.

"Anchor! no, not I. I mean to be in dock with the morning tide."

"I thought perhaps you would signal for a pilot."

"I am my own pilot," was the curt reply.

Intent upon reaching port by morning he took a narrow channel to save distance. Old, bronzed, gray-headed seamen turned their swarthy faces to the sky which boded squally weather, and shook their heads. Cautious passengers went to the young captain and besought him to take the wider course; but he only laughed at their fears, and repeated his promise to be in dock at day-break. He was ashore before day-break.

We need not pause to dramatize a storm at sea; the alarm of breakers shouted hoarsely through the wind, and the wild orders to get the life boats manned. Enough to say that the captain was ashore earlier than he promised—tossed sportively upon some weedy beach, a dead thing that the waves were weary of—a toy that the tempest was tired of playing with—and his queenly ship and costly freight were scattered over the surly acres of an angry sea. How was this? The glory of that young man was strength; but he was his own pilot. His own pilot! There was his own blunder—fatal, suicidal blunder.

Oh! young men beware of being your own pilots. Take the true and able Pilot on board, who can stride upon those waves, who can speak, "Peace, be still," to that rough Boreas, so that "with Christ in the vessel, you may smile at the storm." To be emptied of self, that is your need. Send a message to heaven for help. Telegraph for a pilot. You won't ask in vain.
