MAGNA CHARTA OF ALL THE RUSSIAS

Imperial Manifesto Which Ends the Absolute Monarchy.

Nicholas the Second, Emperor and Autocrat of All the Russias, Will Hereafter Rule in Co-ordination With the Representatives of the People Ruled—Lays Down the Principles Which Underlie the Later Imperial Directions—Asks People's Co-operation.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 31.—The following is the text of the Imperial manifesto, which will forever end the rule of absolutism exercised by him and his Romanoff ancestors for 300 years:

"We, Nicholas the Second, by the grace of God, Emperor and autocrat of all the Russias, Grand Duke of Finland, etc., declare to all our faithful subjects that the troubles and agitation in our capitals and in numerous other places fill our heart with excessive pain and sorrow.

"The happiness of the Russian Sovereign is indissoluibly bound up with the happiness of our people and the sorrow of our people is the sorrow of the Sovereign.

"From the present disorders may arise great national disruption. They menace the integrity and unity of our Empire.

"The supreme duty imposed upon us by our sovereign office requires us to efface ourself and to use all the force and reason at our command to hasten in securing the unity and co-ordination of the power of the central Government, and to assure the success of the measures for pacification in all circles of public life, which are essential to the well being of our people.

Imperial Directions.

"We therefore direct our Government to carry out our inflexible will in the following manner:

"First—To extend to the population the immutable foundations of civic liberty, based on the real inviolability of person, freedom of conscience, speech, union and association.

"Second—Without suspending the already ordered elections to the State Douma, to invite to participation in the Douma, so far as the limited time before the convocation of the Douma will permit, those classes of the population now completely deprived of electoral rights, leaving the ultimate development of the principle of electoral right in general to the newly established legislative order of things.

"Third—To establish as an unchangeable rule that no law shall be enforceable without the approval of the State Douma, and that it shall be possible for the elected of the people to exercise real participation in the supervision of the legality of the acts of the authorities appointed by us.

Free Elections.

"The Government should abstain from any interference with elections to the Douma and keep in view my sincere desire for the realization of my ukase of Dec. 25, 1904. It must maintain the prestige of the Douma and confidence in its labors, and in no way resist its decisions so long as they are not inconsistent with Russia's historic greatness.

"It is necessary to respect the ideals of the great majority of society, and not the echoes of noisy groups and factions, too often unstable. It is especially important to secure the reform of the Council of the Empire on an electoral principle.

Asks People's Co-operation.

"We appeal to all faithful sons of Russia to remember their duty towards the fatherland, to aid in terminating these unprecedented troubles and to apply all their forces, in co-operation with us, to the restoration of calm and peace upon our native soil.

"Given at Peterhoff, Oct. 30, in the eleventh year of our reign. (Signed) Nicholas."

Czar Yields Everything.

A simple perusal of the manifesto shows how complete is the Emperor's abdication of his autocratic powers. It shows that the Emperor at last has irrevocably bowed to the inevitable. He does not even conceal the fact that the discontent and agitation of his subjects has driven him to take the step, and practically yields everything — civil liberty, the inviolability of person, and liberty of conscience, speech and assembly.

Revolutionists Still Belligerent.

The news spread like wildfire throughout the city. The revolutionists and active agitators generally, declared loudly that the Government's promises would no longer suffice, and that the strike must be continued. In fact, an hour after the news became known the revolutionists took occasion to throw the first bomb in St. Petersburg used since the strike began. The incident occurred near the Polytechnic School, but there was no fatality. Practically all classes, except the Socialists and the extreme Radicals, however, read the document with delight and amazement, declaring that it could not fail to rally the moderates to support of Count Witte.

The Irony of Fate.

But the irony of fate, while the strikers are clamoring for a constitution, it has been impossible to persuade the striking printers to resume work, and, therefore, not a single newspaper except The Official Messenger will print the momentous document for distribution to-day.

Arrangements, however, have been made to placard the manifesto on every dead wall in the city, and the text will be telegraphed to-day to every city, town and hamlet with which there is telegraphic communication. It has also been ordered read in all the churches of the Empire.

Witte's Cabinet.

Count Witte has already tentatively selected the members of his Cabinet. He will himself hold no portfolio. All the present Ministers except those of war, navy and foreign affairs will be retired. Prince Alexis Obolensky, one of the count's former assistants in the Ministry of Finance, will be come Minister of the Interior; M. Romanoff, another former assistant to the Minister, will take the finance portfolio; M. Koni, at present a senator and Russia's ablest jurist, will be Minister of Justice; M. Krosovosky, president of the St. Petersburg Municipal Council, will take the Ministry of Education; and M. Ziegler von Schaffhausch, chief of the Railway Department and Department of Ministry of Finance, will become Minister of Ways and Communications.

The Crowds Cheer.

Late last night, after the news got abroad, crowds began marching up and down the Nevsky Prospect, singing the National Anthem and hurrahing for liberty.

At all the fashionable restaurants champagne was drunk in toasts to liberty and the constitution.

The Municipal Council at its sitting last night, after reading the Imperial manifesto, decided to send the following telegram to the Emperor:

"The council welcomes with delight the long-desired tidings of freedom, firmly relying on a bright future for our dear fatherland. Hurrah for the Emperor of a free people.

No Mutiny.

There appears to be no foundation for the rumors of mutiny on the vessels of the Black Sea fleet, which are in circulation in Odessa, and which have been industriously propagated by the strikers here for several days.

A meeting of the strike committee was held last night, after the promulgation of the Emperor's manifesto was known. The question of calling the strike off was the discussion, but a decision postponed until to-day.

"We Have Liberty!"

The people displayed the utmost good humor towards the Cossacks. They surrounded their horses and patted their perplexed riders on the boots, shouting, "You can go home now. We no longer need you. We have liberty."

Then they bade the Cossacks toss their caps in honor of the constitution. After 2 o'clock all the patrols were withdrawn from the streets, which were left in charge of the ordinary night force of policemen.

Chants and Cheers.

Soon after midnight a crowd of several hundred persons gathered in the great square before the winter palace and sang a chant from the church liturgy addressed to the Emperor and the National Anthem, and finished with rousing cheers for His Majesty and the Imperial family.

SHORTAGE OF CARS.

Railway Commission Deprecates Hasty Action Takes Time to Investigate.

Ottawa, Oct. 31.—The Railway Commission issued an order yesterday in regard to the complaint of the Millers' Association and other persons and bodies, upon the subjects of the shortage and distribution of railway cars and rolling stock.

The board is of the opinion that the questions involve so many interests that they cannot be determined satisfactorily by the board merely upon a hearing. The board has desired it traffice officer to furnish as quickly as possible, from time to time, without waiting to exhaust all the subjects of enquiry, such facts as will enable the board to act speedily. The traffic officer will be glad to get all the information he can from the Dominion Millers' Association, or any other parties interested.

The board thinks it extremely probable that great injury and inconvenience are being caused to many interests by want of a sufficient supply of cars, but there is great danger in causing injury in the other direction by hasty action.
