CHIGNECTO POST AND BORDERER.

SACKVILLE, N. B., DEC. 14, 1882.

—Manitoba is not the only part of the British Empire in which there is political disaffection. The island of Jamaica with a population of 600,000 is said to be on the verge of revolt. This colony, which up to 1865 enjoyed representative government, has since that time been ruled by a Governor and a Legislative Council of fifteen members appointed by him. Some time ago a vessel named the "Florence" was wrongfully seized by the Custom House. Legal proceedings were at once instituted by the owners and they eventually proved victorious in the courts. The British Colonial office, however, decided that the Colony must pay one half the damages and costs of the suits, and it is from the exaction of the sum, amounting to about $20,000, that the trouble has arisen. The Council at first were unanimously of the opinion that the Colony should not bear any part of the above mentioned damages, and in this opinion the Governor, Sir Anthony Musgrave, concurred. The Colonial Office, however, peremptorily insisted on the payment of the sum. On this the Solicitor-General and Auditor-General resigned their seats in the Council, but their places were at once filled by men of the proper opinions, and on the 9th of November the required payment was sanctioned by a vote of 9 to 6. This act has been productive of the fiercest excitement through the island. All classes unite in denouncing the Government. Monster meetings are held, a memorial to the British Parliament is being signed by almost every one, and able counsel are to be secured for the purpose of pleading in behalf of the House of Commons.

—Mr. Gladstone has succeeded in getting through the House his twelve new rules of procedure. The first of these is the most important and the one against which the Tories and the Parnellites have fought most fiercely. By this the majority of the House is enabled to secure the putting of the main question. But there are such important restrictions placed on the exercise of this power that it is highly improbable that there will be any real interference with genuine liberty of debate. In the first place, the speaker must initiate the cloture by stating that the debate has proceeded sufficiently far and that it is his opinion that the House desires the putting of the main question. Then an undebateable motion to that effect must be moved and seconded. If less than forty members oppose this motion, it may be carried by the vote of one hundred members in its favor. Otherwise it must secure the votes of at least two hundred. And, with reference to the part taken by the speaker in the operation, it should be remembered that this official in England has always been a permanent, non-partisan officer, selected in the first place for his judicial and impartial cast of mind. It is plain, therefore, that if there is tyranny in the English closure, it is tyranny of a very mild and guarded kind.

—The Sun Editor, in discussing the Moncton Lottery displays a biblical erudition that does him infinite credit, but has hitherto been concealed. He finds in the distribution of the lots in the Holy Land, in the days of Joshua, a precedent for the alleged gambling at Moncton. By a further search he would have discovered that in those days lots were drawn to determine the guilty party when a theft was committed, and the man who drew the right ticket was promptly stoned to death. A revival of this judicial system may be expected, and if the reverened gentleman who drew the high ticket at the late drawing, should have similar success in the drawing to ascertain who robbed the bank, no doubt the editor of the Sun would cast the first stone in true Biblical spirit.

—Not long ago three Cuban refugees escaped from Ceuta in Africa, and made their way to Gibraltar. There, through the stupidity of a police magistrate, they were given up to the Spaniards, although they were merely political offenders and although England has no extradition treaty with Spain. King Alfonzo and his ministry have, notwithstanding, determined not to hand over the refugees to the British authorities, and, though there may be some little feeling in the matter for a while, it is scarcely probable that any warlike steps will be taken by England. Earl Kimberley, Secretary of State for the colonies, has, however, dismissed the Colonial Secretary and Chief Inspector of State at Gibraltar, but rather curiously contents himself with severely censuring the Police Magistrate.

—The counter election petition against Messrs. Killam and McQueen served last week will be tried next week. The petition recites the names of 800 electors, all more or less prominent, who are charged with bribery or treating or both in connection with Messrs. Killam and McQueen.

—Dominion Parliament will meet for the despatch of business on Thursday, February 8th.

—Tenders for 100,000 sleepers for Cape Railway are received to-day.

—Election Petition cases at Dorchester next Monday.

Farming News.

—Cheese market firm.

—Hay market in Boston is dull. Choice prime hay is quoted at $17.

—The demand in Liverpool for Canadian and American apples is causing a steady advance in price.

—Montreal butter market quiet but firm. Advices from Liverpool by mail report light stocks of Canadian butter with ready sales for all arrivals.

—An Ontario journal in a review of the year says: "This has been one of the finest seasons for both stock and grain that we ever experienced. Prices for farm products generally have been very remunerative, and really good farms were never in a better position financially than they are at the present time."

—John Swan & Sons report the supplies of fat cattle both in Edinburgh and Glasgow have been considerably smaller than this week with a better demand for all descriptions than for some time. The English markets generally are all better, with nearly every one of them a scarcity of really first class stock. A lot of 285 Canadian cattle were about half bought for feeding at from £19 to £22 10s. per head. Mutton has likewise gone up in price. The supply being inadequate to the demand.

—Chicago has just held its annual fat stock exhibition in their fine large Exhibition Building. Everything is reported as having been kept in first rate order. The cattle were bedded on small shavings, which made excellent bedding. The building was lit up in the evenings with both gas and electric light. The prize animals were brought in the ring in the evenings and a description of the weight, the owners name, feed, breed, &c., were announced by a speaker on a platform. The stock consisted principally of Durham cattle and Grade Durhams. A few Herefords and a very few Polled Angus were shown. The Durhams and their grades carried off nearly all the prizes in live animals, but dressed meat the Herefords took both first and second prizes. Canada had a good many cattle on exhibition and was awarded a number of prizes, although Canadian exhibitors had to pay a duty of 20 per cent. or quarantine their cattle for three months, which is next to prohibition.

The writer of the article from which we have clipped the above, says:—One remarkable feature of this exhibition that we cannot understand is this: This fat stock exhibit is claimed by some of our American cousins to be the best in the world. Kentucky has attained a world renowned reputation for its superior blue grass region, its great wealthy stockmen, its noted herds of shorthorns, and yet not one animal from Kentucky was to be seen at this exhibition, while poor Canada—considered a frozen, barren wilderness unfit for man to live in by some American orators—stands to the front carrying off more prizes and honors with an insignificent exhibit of a few animals brought in under a tariff of 20 per cent. duty, than ten times the number of cattle exhibited by Americans themselves. And what is still more remarkable is the fact that notwithstanding the praise bestowed on the shrewd Scotch, the lavish expenditure of the English, and the indomitable pluck of the American, yet the greatest honor that has been carried away from this Exhibition has been gained by a Canadian. The Canadian animals were incomparably superior to those that were exhibited against them. Well done Canada.

Railway News.

—The Quebec North Shore Railway has been sold to the Grand Trunk Railway Co.

—The Grand Trunk earnings for the week ended 25th ult. were $380,444, an increase of $70,434 over same week 1881. The earnings for fifteen weeks were $5,463,241, a gain of $667,000 compared with last year.

—A Company has been formed to construct the Carsquet Railway, with a subscribed capital of $214,000. The Company consists of some of the most prominent business men of Gloucester County and many out of the County. With the exception of a subsidy from the Local Government, and a hope of some aid from the Dominion Government, they feel sure of its construction. The proposed line will start from a point of the Intercolonial near Bathurst, and then in an easterly direction skirting the shore to Shippigan Harbor, a distance of some forty miles.

—We are in receipt, from the Secretary of the Society, Mr. Frank Seaman, 13 Pemberton Square, Boston, of a copy of the Constitution and By-Laws of the "Maritime Provincial Association" of Boston. This association is intended to bring together all provincial residents of Boston, their wives and husbands, to establish and maintain permanent headquarters, including Reading Room, Library and halls suitable for the private or public meetings of the Association: to institute a Labor Bureau for the benefit of provincials seeking employment; to have rooms for the registry of the names of provincial residents and visitors, thus aiding them to find friends, and enabling the Society to forward mails addressed to its care, &c. The Association is a good one; the membership fee is only $1.00, and doubtless its claims upon provincial residents of Boston will be practically and largely recognized.

Great Fire at Kingston, Ja.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—The following despatch was received from Kingston, Jamaica, to-day: "The business quarter of Kingston was burned yesterday. The loss is £6,000,000 sterling. Hundreds are homeless. Wharves, warehouses, stores, banks, and supplies are gone. Food supplies are needed.

Westmorland County Court.

DORCHESTER, Dec. 12.—The County Court opened here to-day, Judge Botsford presiding. His Honor referring to the Queen vs. Hallet denounced in scathing terms the part certain newspapers had taken in flooding the innocent homes of every hamlet in the county with the vilest details of evidence, besides prejudicing public opinion one way or the other by comments on the case, thus widely departing from the good old times when the guilt or innocence of accused parties was tried out by a jury of the country and not by the press.

Later.—The Grand Jury found no bills against the lads, Black or Gray, for obstructing the Railway. They also found no bill against R. Hallett.

Criminal Matters at Moncton.

O'Dowd.—Hallet.—Povey and the Lawyers.

A moderately heavy boom in criminal business has been noticed in Moncton. First, Mr. Hallett was committed for trial for an indecent assault upon Mrs. O'Dowd, Mr. Thomas defending, Mr. Barry Smith prosecuting, and 'Squire Wortman presiding. Mr. Thomas, worried over the victory of Smith and injustice; let it be thought among the military authorities, at Halifax, that O'Dowd was a deserter from a regiment of Her Majesty's soldiery. Whereupon a sergeant come to Moncton and the alleged deserter was arrested and placed in jail. Sergeant Povey, who appears to be an officer of somewhat vaccillating disposition, changed his mind presently and had his prisoner removed to Mr. O'Dowd's own house, where Mrs. O'D., with hospitable thought, provided divers liquors of which all partook. Then came the Smith innings. The good sergeant was arrested, charged with committing an assault upon his prisoner. The assault was committed in great good nature, if at all, for it appears that all hands had become good friends over the rosy. The day for the trial of the sergeant was fixed and he was allowed to convey his friend O'Dowd to Halifax. The next thing was to re-capture the prisoner. In this enterprise Moncton generally took a part on one side or the other. The result was that O'Dowd and the sergeant set off for Halifax, accompanied by the wife of the former. There was a row in Truro, due to the fact that O'Dowd was thought to have selected the Pictou branch as his road, and to the further fact that he objected to wearing handcuffs notwithstanding the insistence of the sergeant, who by this time was reinforced by a portion of the Halifax garrison. A compromise was effected, the officers being persuaded to remain in Truro for a while (which they were the more readily induced to do as the train had gone without them,) and Mr. O'Dowd consenting to wear hand-cuffs in a car later in the day. At Halifax Mr. O'Dowd reviewed two regiments, which marched past with intent to identify him. They failed, and the Monctonian went home to Moncton, where the sergeant had appeared to answer to the assault and been remanded for want of an accuser.

Subsequently the trial came off and the facts of the assault were brought out at some length. It appears that the quarrel occurred at the O'Dowd mansion, where the head of the house was washing himself in one room, while the sergeant talked eloquently of battles in another, where were assembled a fair sized audience. The casus belli was an assertion by the officer that there were no Scotchmen among the six hundred at Balaklava. The complainant could not bear the thought and rushed in to set the officer right and to offer proof that Scotland was represented in the little affair. He even offered to show that Wales and Ireland had delegates on the field. The officer could stand the Scotch, but the interpolation about the Welsh and Irish was so completely irrevelant that he is said to have pushed Mrs. O'D. away, which constituted the assault. Esquire Wortman valued the push at $8 which was paid. It is said that there is material for several more lawsuits.

—R. A. Chapman, Esq., has a vessel of 91 feet keel, 27 feet beam and 10 feet hold in frame at Rockland. She will register 190 tons. Her owners will be the builders, Messrs. E. V. Godfrey, Sherwood and others.

Personal and Political.

—Judge Weldon is ill at Fredericton.

—Anthony Trollope, the novelist, is dead, aged 67.

—Sandford Fleming, C. E., has gone to England for a visit.

—Sir John McDonald is still confined to his house by illness.

—Marshall MacMahon, ex-President of the French Republic, is seriously ill.

—The London Times says that Lord Derby has accepted the office of Secretary for India.

—Hon. David Laird, ex-Governor of the North-West Territories, has resumed the editorship and proprietorship of the Charlottetown Patriot.

—The funeral of the late Captain Fritz took place in St. John, on Sunday afternoon, and was largely attended by all classes, in all the pulpits appropriate references were made to the loss of the "Cedar Grove."

—The funeral of the late Archbishop of Canterbury took place on Friday at Addington. Representatives of the Queen and the Prince of Wales were present and the Duke of Connaught attended in person.

—The Marquis of Lorne and Princess Louise have arrived at San Francisco where they will remain a few days. It is thought that the Princess, on account of her health, will remain the winter in some of the warmer climates of this continent.

—The London Times says that soon after Christmas Lord Derby will be invited to join the Cabinet: Hugh C. Childers, now War Secretary, will become Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Sir Charles Dilke will enter the Cabinet. Possibly before the end of the next session of Parliament Mr. Gladstone may consider himself entitled to retire, and in such contingency there is little doubt of Lord Hartington becoming Prime Minister.

—Sir Hugh Allan died suddenly at Edinburgh on Saturday. He was born in Scotland and came to Montreal over fifty years ago, and through his ability and untiring exertions became the head now the celebrated Allan Line of Steamers, a line that every Canadian justly feels proud of. Sir Hugh was closely identified with many other commercial enterprises and public works, which have proved not only incalculable benefit to Canada, but a great source of wealth to himself. His sudden and unexpected death at the comparatively young age of seventy, will be a subject of universal regret and surprise throughout Canada.

Commercial Notes.

—The output of the Spring Hill Mines during the present year will exceed 200,000 tons.

—R. Grant & Co., a firm of tailors at New Glasgow, N. S., have assigned, owing probably $5,000 or $6,000.

—Messrs. Atkinson & Son, of Albert Co., have purchased the right to work the Curryville Lime and Cement works.

—The Moncton Gas Light and Water Company has declared a half-yearly dividend of 10 per cent. on the paid-up stock.

—At Marysville, York Co., a company consisting of Alex. Gibson and others has been incorporated for the manufacture of paper and pulp of all kinds. Capital, $75,000

—It is proposed to establish a woolen and cotton manufacturing industry at Acton Vale, on the Eastern section of the Grand Trunk. The capital stock is placed at $50,000 in fifty dollar shares.

—The total tonnage of the United States at the close of the past fiscal year was 4,165,923 tons in 28,368 vessels. The number of vessels built was 1871, with a tonnage of 282,270 tons.

—Michigan is agitating for reciprocity with Canada, the question was discussed a few days ago at a meeting of the Detroit Board of Trade, and strong opinions in favor of the movement expressed.

—Nova Scotia apples in London are worth from $4 to $7 per barrel and in great demand. It is estimated that within five years the crops of apples in the valleys of Annapolis and Kings, will exceed 300,000 barrels.

—L'Union Commerciale de Quebec has now a membership of 300—all commercial people—of which some 75 are employers, and the balance employees. The Union has made considerable progress since this time last year.

—The Minneapolis & Manitoba earnings for the third week in November were $204,502.51, an increase of $76,713.06 over the corresponding week last year. The increase for three weeks is stated at $227,249.67, and for the year $3,482,154.05.

—Some noteworthy sales have recently been made by the Canadian Western Land Company; among others, 650 acres, seven miles from Ingersoll, for $50,000 to a buyer from Chili, and a farm near Medford, to a gentleman from Ceylon, for $18,000.

—Messrs. McLachlan Bros.' mills at Arnprior have cut 90 million feet of lumber during the past season. This is said to be the largest cut ever turned out in that section. Fifteen hundred men are at work in the lumber shanties on the Kippewa.

—Messrs. Golson & Co., Boston, write on 1st inst:—The receipts of eastern lumber shipped on the market this fall have been moderate, although the arrivals on orders and contracts have been quite large. The consumption for this year is virtually over and what is purchased from now on will be for early spring trade. The demand for clear spruce boards, wide spruce boards and planks, also hemlock boards remains good. Laths continue scarce and prices are firm with an upward tendency. There is less call for shingles and prices are not strong. The market for coarse pine boards and railroad sleepers is quiet.
