TRUE SUCCESS IN SPORT.

The crowd that gathered opposite the Times office on Saturday afternoon to hear the story of the great football game at Montreal read off as the struggle went on, the cheers they gave for the victors, and the eagerness with which they sought the extras containing the full account, showed how keen was the interest felt in the sport and in the success of the home team. And football has much to commend it as being calculated to develop its devotees. Success in the game depends on excellence of physique, quickness and sureness of action, scientific tactics, good training to perfect co-operation, and absolute discipline. In so far as a member of a team lacks in any of these qualities he weakens his organization and imperils its success. Certainly the cultivation of such qualities tend to the improvement of the man.

But devotion to the game is not free from danger. We are not now speaking of the chances of physical accidents inseparable from all sports, and which all participating in them must take. There are other dangers, mostly due to our proneness to run into excesses in our enthusiasm. There is the danger of allowing even the best of sport to interfere with the more serious aims and occupations of life; to absorb too much of our attention, and claim too much of our energy of mind and muscle. That should be guarded against. There is the danger of becoming so devoted and enthusiastic as to be less than fair. This shortcoming may cause us to take undue advantages; to be rough when roughness does not become the true sportsman, and to be less chivalrous toward an opponent than we should be. It is apt to make us forget that there is an even higher object than to get the bigger score, and that that is to win not only the game, but the respect and admiration of our opponents and the approval of our own manhood. Then are we truly victors. There is the danger that a good sport may be prostituted to the gambling mania, unfortunately all too prevalent, and which besmirches everything it touches. Let us take care to keep clean the game and the players. Then, there is a grave danger which waits on both winners and losers in such struggles in the amusement arena, the peril of dissipation. Save the boys from that. It means ruin to them—ruin not only of their fine physique and capacity to win victories in sports; it means ruin socially, morally, intellectually. All human experience stands as a warning against dissipation. Every captain and coach and organizer says "Refrain!" Physiology, morality, mentality teach regularity, moderation, control.

Play the game, boys! Well and strenuously you play it! May it be yours in victory or in defeat (and may defeat be far from the Yellow and Black!) so to play it as to win the goodwill and respect of opponents as well as supporters. Thus do you merit the title of true sportsmen. And the true sportsman, victor or vanquished, can always grasp the hand of an opponent after a well-contested game and feel that there exists between them the bond that binds together in one fraternity all manly and noble hearts. And where there is that feeling sport is healthful.

BORDEN'S BRIBERY BID.

Mr. R. L. Borden, while in the West has been very careful to avoid discussion of the tariff plank of his platform; has in fact, to use the Toronto News' words, "kept industriously silent about it." On several other important issues the Vancouver Sun says his course has been "one of evasion, of equivocation, of 'ifs' and 'placitudes.'" His entire effort has been to work a little capital out of the Japanese immigration and the subsidy questions.

Mr. Borden's course in the subsidies matter is not creditable to him as a man of candor and honor. The settlement of that question was made at a conference of the Provincial Premiers, and was satisfactory to all but to McBride, and it cannot be gainsaid that very liberal allowance was made for British Columbia's exceptional position. Now Mr. Borden, fresh from presenting a platform in which one of the principal planks is purity, seeks to win favor in the west by the open offer of a big bribe to the Province, by promising that if he should be given power it would get a bigger subsidy! Bribery of individuals is, in Mr. Borden's eyes, a heinous offense, but he regards it as a trifling matter—even a laudable one—to attempt to bribe by provinces! Speaking of the performance of the Tory leader and self-vaunted purist the other day Mr. Fielding said: "Sometimes when we provided a post office or drill hall for a community we have been told that they attempted to bribe the constituency. Here is a case in which the leader of the Opposition has attempted to bribe a whole province." Such an attitude on the part of the Tory leader is most disgraceful and merits his public censure. To its credit, he said, the Montreal Gazette refuses to follow Mr. Borden in this descent, but declares that there is no reason to extend better terms to British Columbia any more than there was to give increased subsidies to any of the provinces. The entire Provincial system is, wretched enough at its best; it is verging on the criminal to seek to make it an open source of bribery, as Mr. Borden has done. And the honest men of the West will not fail to hold him in contempt for his corrupt bid. The Vancouver Sun says that he "left behind him an ephemeral cloud of smoke, empty promises, partisan palaver and platitudes."

WHAT THE LIBERALS LOSE.

The Vancouver Province seems to have broken entirely away from the Liberal party, and, moreover, it is able to give excellent reasons for its change of mind.—Spectator.

It almost moves one to tears to think of how it must have grieved Walter C. Nichol to "break away from the Liberal party." Perhaps a few extracts from the Vancouver Saturday Sunset, which will not be accused of partiality toward the Liberal party, will tend to show how the Province is regarded out there. It says:

Last week I said in this column that the Vancouver Daily Province stands for nothing, instead of being a leader of public opinion, a journal with courage, stamina and virility, it is a servile, spineless lagger behind popular opinion, a jellied adapter to the conditions in which it and its alleged proprietor may find themselves.

The Province has never been known to stand for anything in the interests of British Columbia which seemed, in its pin-headed estimation, to be antagonistic to the C. P. R. The Province's long will be before the C. P. R. realizes the utter weakness and futility of such a rubber-spined advocate, depends upon how soon the astute management of the C. P. R. gives its attention to it.

But this has always been a favorite style of attack with the Province. The knife in the back, the stab and the kick below the belt, are the weapons and methods of a paper which has neither independence, decency nor honor. Loyalty is its name. Politically it would and has sold and betrayed its best friends. A journalistic jumping-jack and weather cock, with its ear to the ground or a wet finger in the air, it measures the strength and direction of the coming winds and trims its sails accordingly. No beating into the teeth of a gale, no sturdy stand for principle, because it is right, does the Daily Province ever make. Better to float sapiently with a fair wind and current than make a stand for truth, justice, patriotism or journalistic ideals.

We are inclined to think that it was not hard for a paper of such principles to "break away from the Liberal party"; the Liberal party has no place for men or newspapers of that ilk. And we do not think the Liberal party will greatly lament its loss.

A PEACE MEASURE.

Contrary to the expectations of many and in the face of much adverse criticism, the Lemieux Labor Act has been a great success in settling disputes between employers and employees. Perhaps the reason for this success may be found in the speech delivered by Hon. Mr. Lemieux at a banquet tendered him by his friends in Montreal on the eve of his departure on his mission to Japan, in connection with the Vancouver riots. Of the Act he said:

If, in my capacity as Minister of Labor, I take pleasure in one respect more than another, in my connection with that Department of the Government of Canada, it is in the fact that the keynote of my policy in all its varied relations with the vexed and intricate problems of the relations between labor and capital has been conciliation. Conciliation, first, last and all the time, has been and remains the watchword of all our efforts and energies in our attempt to diminish the bitterness and moderate the intensity of the unending struggle between these two vital elements of society, and if we have sometimes succeeded in averting evils to the community it has been possible to do so only in this way. By conciliation we have sought to obtain justice—justice from the beginning of things the highest aim of statecraft. Therefore, conciliation is and shall still be my watchword.

It was conciliation, linked with justice, that settled the Lethbridge miners' strike, the railway men's trouble, the C. P. R. telegraphers' and other differences. Mr. Lemieux may well feel proud of the work done through his Act.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Nine to seven!

The Tigers have just woke up and got their appetite.

Sorry for you, Montreal, but we had to have that game.

The official estimate of Saskatchewan's wheat crop is about 30,000,000. That will make a large loaf of bread!

London labor men are in bad luck. Why should Billy Maclean butt in to try to hoodoo their candidates?

Hon. Mr. Graham says 95 per cent. of the men now employed on the Intercolonial were employed by the Tory Government. Evidently the Liberals have no Judd at work in the service.

Gamey says the only fault he has to find with the Whitney Government is that here and there they have left some official who should have been put out. That's about Gamey's size. And when that is said the depths have been sounded.

A Paris chemist has succeeded in making small diamonds of exceeding brilliancy by the electric current. The working newspaper men are in danger of having their gem collections depreciated in value by the cheap laboratory product.

Farmers are getting lower prices for cattle, while consumers pay the old prices for their beef. How is it? In some parts of Maine there is great complaint about the beef hold-up, and 1,200 persons in Augusta and other towns in Kennebec County have resolved to abstain from beef for ten days and to decrease their beef purchases permanently. A general campaign to lead people to eat less meat might have a good effect.

The Kingston Whig says, "the weak man of the Ontario Government is the Hon. Dr. Pyne, the Minister of Education. He has never shown any marked qualification for office." How did such a man get a Cabinet position? The Whig has an answer: "He simply shines as a ward politician." And that answer probably explains why Beattie Nesbitt was able to hold up Whitney for a $8,000 job, which he boldly declares is merely a sinecure—in other words, so much that the people are compelled to pay a ward heeler to keep him in good humor.

The Tigers II. and Tigers III. are showing excellent form, and their scores on Saturday indicate that there is a great reserve of football talent in this city. They are able now to give some of the senior teams battle.

The Toronto World approvingly quotes a gentleman of scientific attainments as saying of that city's needs: "Pure water is not a luxury; it is an imperative necessity, and in comparison with it, the sewage question becomes altogether secondary." Perhaps the World might in time be led to admit that it is not even secondary to the Hydro power fad.

The earthquakes in Italy have been followed by an eruption of Vesuvius, which has done some damage and added much to the terror of the unfortunate inhabitants threatened with further disaster. It is not improbable that the same subterranean activities which caused the earthquake will account for the volcanic eruption. It is to be hoped that the worst is over.

Toronto's present civic government is anxious to have itself remembered by intimate association with the beginnings of a great $25,000,000 trunk sewer scheme. Toronto is still more anxious to have the present civic government done with and forgotten or remembered only as a partisan mistake.—Toronto Telegram.

Some cranks are very eager to have all public utilities and their management turned over to the same banding civic government. Funny, isn't it?

We are told that St. Peter's Home may be closed owing to the death of the worthy matron, Miss Chowne. The Home has been a monument to the philanthropic endeavor of the late Father Geoghegan, whose pity for the incurable sick led him to open the institution and labor gratuitously for many years for its support; and its passing will not be without regret for its founder and for the woman who so unselfishly helped to carry on the good work.

Teachers of Toronto Public Schools bear testimony to the reformatory influence of a pair of spectacles. Although the School Board there is just waking up to the need for medical inspection of the pupils, it seems that in the Elizabeth street school the teachers have been doing a little along that line on their own account, supplying spectacles to scholars whose eyesight was not good, and they have made discovery. It is that a boy who had poor eyesight, and who was both a thief and a liar, upon having his eyes treated and wearing spectacles, lost all his bad habits and became a model pupil. A girl pupil in the same school who was irritable and cranky all day because of the condition of her eyes became a changed being after wearing a pair of spectacles for a short time. Our School Board will please take notice.

HERE AND THERE.

Montreal Herald:—The ounce of bitter in the pound of sweet is the inability of the Toronto Mail to hold Sir Wilfrid Laurier responsible for the Wall Street smash.

Ottawa Free Press:—Corn looks like the one best crop. A chiroplast is using a man for $25,000 with a good show of getting it.

Toronto News:—The politics of London town. Are mixed, you will agree. With Hyman in St. Petersburg, and Gray across the sea.

Montreal Star:—Women's skirts are going to be shorter this winter, but let us hope that this does not apply to the skirts being worn by the chorus girls.

London Advertiser:—Of course, it is one thing to prohibit the defilement of water courses and another to devise other means for the disposal of sewage.

Toronto News:—Socialism opposes the piling up of money. One's grocer, in these days of high prices, must be a Socialist.

Saskatoon Phoenix:—Vancouver seems to have stopped worrying about the valley low peril since Borden left. Maybe the whole trouble was engineered in anticipation of his visit.

Kingston News:—Talk of this being a land of plenty with bread at 4 cents a pound, meat at 15c, butter at 30c, milk at 7c a quart and coal at 7c a ton!

St. Thomas Journal:—Toronto students created a row on a Hamilton street car. People from Toronto, of course, naturally think that that is what street cars are for—in Hamilton.

London Tribune:—Study of Henry George may not convert one to the single tax, but it cannot fail to leave an abiding impression that the taxation of land values is a natural tax at present deliberately evaded to the community's loss.

THE NEWS ANSWERED.

Commenting on the Toronto News' remark that Hon. Mr. Graham in all his tour of inspection "would not see a Conservative holding down an Intercolonial Railway job," the Moncton Transcript says:

If the Minister desires to see Liberals holding I. C. R. jobs, he had better postpone his trip until the gravel trains are in operation; then visit the ballast pits and see his party supporters shovelling earth. A story is told in this connection that carries with it a lot of truth. A Liberal M. P.—one of the solid eight—was standing on the Truro depot platform when a well train carrying a lot of I. C. R. officials and uniformed employees swept by. A friend remonstrated with the M. P. over the fact that only Tories were on the train and asked why in several years of Liberal rule at Ottawa, Liberals had not been given positions. "Oh!" the M. P. answered, "you will see the Grit voters in a few minutes. Just wait until the train comes along." Providing the Liberals are in power for eleven years more maybe some Liberals may be holding down good jobs on the I. C. R.

but they are now as scarce as hen's teeth, and if there are any they were there in some capacity under the Tories and were 'then as good Tories as we were going.' The kind there were when Sir Hibbert Tupper decided that every official in the County of Picton voted Tory. No Tories on the I. C. R. Well the Toronto News is an ignorant of I. C. R. matters as old Balaam was of the mind of the Lord.

THIRTEENTH AT CHURCH.

Good Turnout for a Rainy Sunday Morning.

Rev. Beverley Ketchen Gives a Plain Talk to Men.

Influence of a Clear Life on Present and Future.

Owing to the inclement weather, the parade of the 13th Regiment to MacNab Street Presbyterian Church yesterday morning was a rather slim one, there being 305 men in line, but the 305 men made a good showing, even though they did get wet. The address given by Rev. Beverley Ketchen was earnest and forceful, and was greatly appreciated. He based his remarks on the word of God, and the experiences of men. He wished it understood that he did not want to give them a sermon, just a heart to heart talk.

Mr. Ketchen asked the men if they were satisfied with the life they were leading. To be satisfied meant that one is contented to go on in his own little way, without looking to see if there was something that he might do to help the cause of God. Not many people realize what influence their own life has over others, with whom they may come in contact. No matter what position one may hold, whether it be in the shop or the office, his influence, whether good or bad, has a great deal to do with the moulding of other men's characters. Mr. Ketchen said he was glad to see that there were many men in the 13th who were trying to live a clean and wholesome life, but he asked the question as to those who might not be living quite up to the right standard. "Are you doing right by yourself as well as to others?"

Canada is certainly the place for young men, this is the age for young men, as can be seen by the number of responsible positions that are held by them—positions that in days gone by were entrusted to men with long experience. For that reason it is necessary that the future of Canada be placed in safe hands, so that this country may prove a blessing to other countries as well as to itself. Mr. Ketchen adjured the men to do whatever they could to help the suffering of humanity.

Mr. Ketchen was of the opinion that many of the young men of this age do not realize the harm they are doing to the future generations, when they say they are going to have a good time while they are young, or when they sow their wild oats. It has been shown time and again that when men will corrupt themselves the seed of corruption stays with them to the third and fourth generations, so that when one man says he is going in for a time, he should stop and consider what harm he will cause in the future. The spirit of chivalry should make us keep from doing unclean things, that will reflect on our characters later in life.

During the service, Mr. Edwin Skedden sang "Fear Ye Not, O Israel." On the return of the regiment to the Armoury, Mr. Moore complimented the men for turning out under such disagreeable conditions, and announced the orders for the Thanksgiving day sham fight would be issued on Monday or Tuesday, and that they would be in the papers on either night. The parade state was: Lieut.-Col. Moore, Capt. Carter, Surgeon, Staff Sergeants 6, Buglers 30, Band 37, Bearers 15, A 33, B 26, C 27, D 25, E 26, F 23, G 21, H 34; total, 305.

DUNDAS FUNERALS.

Old Residents of the Town Go to Their Long Home.

Dundas, Oct. 28.—The funeral of the late John Enright took place this morning and was largely attended. The services were held at St. Augustine's Church. The pall-bearers were Messrs. M. S. Wilson, Charles Wilson, A. S. Cain, Wm. Lunn, James Hourigan and Wm. Law. Deceased was one of the well-known residents of the town, and was in the 73rd year of his age. He was born in Limerick, Ireland, and came to Dundas in 1851, and located in Dundas. In his early days he learned the trade of a carriage trimmer, and after working at it in a number of places in Canada and the United States, he permanently located here in the hotel and livery business in partnership with his brother, William. The hotel business was given up years ago, but the livery business he conducted until three or four years ago. The firm was one of the pioneers in the shipping of horses to the northwest, a business they successfully carried on for many years. Deceased is survived by one daughter, Mrs. James Murray, of Smithville, his wife passed away about three years ago. Two sisters also survive him, and one brother—Mr. Patrick Enright, of Greensville. The sisters are Mrs. John Keenan and Miss Enright, both of Dundas. Deceased was very highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends, and was a successful business man.

A former well known citizen of Dundas was laid at rest in Grove Cemetery here on Friday afternoon in the person of Mrs. John Enright, of Hamilton. Deceased was second daughter of the late Edwin Woodhouse, the old time venerable clerk of the town. After her marriage they removed to Walkerton, where they lived for some time, subsequently moving to Hamilton, where they ended their days. Mr. Enright dying some three years ago. She was in her 60th year, and is survived by one adopted daughter.

In the Times' report of the High School entertainment on Friday evening there were two omissions; one that Mrs. George Pilgrim very acceptably presided at the piano, and the other that during the evening, the other that at the close of the entertainment a number of High School pupils and some of their

MUST SELL THEIR STOCK.

Doukhobors Complain of Peter Verigin's Latest Fad.

Winnipeg, Oct. 26.—A correspondent, writing to the Free Press from Buchanan, Sask., states that the Doukhobors report the latest fad of Peter Verigin to be the issuing of a mandate that all the chickens and sheep must be disposed of at once, and that the herds of cattle must be diminished each year until they are gone. As a result, several hundred chickens have been sold and shipped from here, which means that there will be less eggs for the local market, and less provisions for the poor, deluded community of Doukhobors. There can be but one reason assigned for such drastic measures, and that is by depriving these people of practically their only means of support, they will be forced to go out and work on the newly acquired lands owned by Peter Verigin. This will cause much hardship to the Doukhobors affected. A large number of those who remained in the communities last summer are now getting their eyes opened to the reality of things, and are extremely sorry that they were so short-sighted as to obey their dictator.

NO CANNIBALISM.

MR. OSBORNE REPUDIATES INTERVIEW REGARDING INDIANS.

New York Newspaper Correspondents Were at Their Old Game of Faking Sensational Trash—Old Stories Reshaped.

Ottawa, Oct. 27.—Col. Fred. White, Comptroller of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, is in receipt of a communication from Mr. Osborne, editor of The Fort Frances Times, denying the report credited to him in New York papers to the effect that cannibalism and other atrocities were prevalent among the Indians of the Keewatin district. Colonel White wrote to Mr. Osborne a few days ago, asking for an explanation of the published interview with him. In his reply Mr. Osborne states that he never gave any such interview, and that the detailed stories as to cannibalism, etc., are merely a repetition of several incidents which occurred several years ago. In one case, some six years ago, during a hard winter, there were cases in which Indians in the far north, crazed by hunger, killed and ate eight other Indians, and whole families starved to death.

But of recent years there are no authentic reports of any such atrocities, although it is known that some tribal customs, such as killing the aged or infirm members of a family, are still kept up in the parts of Keewatin and Ungava where there is no Mounted Police patrol. Next it is expected that the report along the hitherto untouched east and west coasts of Hudson's Bay.

THE WELLAND NOMINATION.

Niagara Falls Man Will Oppose Mr. German.

Niagara Falls, Oct. 27.—George Hanan, Alderman and former Mayor, has been asked by the Conservatives of the city to be the party candidate against W. M. German, Liberal, of Welland, at the next Dominion election. Mr. Hanan was selected at the annual meeting of the North End Conservative Association after Mayor Slater had declined the nomination. He did not say whether he would accept the nomination or not. The Conservative party in the county has decided that their next candidate must be a Niagara Falls man, and whoever is chosen by the city convention will be endorsed by the county convention.

BRANTFORD BUSY.

Over Five Thousand Hands Employed—Few Men to be Laid Off.

Brantford, Oct. 27.—Brantford industries are booming. A canvass on Saturday shows 5,000 hands employed. Manufacturers say a busy season is being experienced, despite the tight condition of the money market and partial failure of the crops. Very few men will be laid off this winter, and the prospects for spring are bright. Factory extensions in some cases are already being planned. These favorable conditions mean much here, where more than one-fourth of the population of 20,000 is employed at factory work.
