

Let us try to be Happy.

Let us try to be happy. We may if we will. Find some pleasures in life to overhaunt the ill; There was never an evil, if well understood, But that rightly managed would turn to good. If we were but as ready to look to the light As we are to sit moping because it is night, We should own it a truth, both in word and in deed, That who tries to be happy is sure to succeed.

All Stuffed Up

That's the condition of many sufferers from catarrh, especially in the morning. Great difficulty is experienced in clearing the head and throat.

No wonder catarrh causes headache, impairs the taste, small and hearing, polices the breath, deranges the stomach and affects the appetite.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Cure catarrh—it soothes and strengthens the mucous membrane and builds up the whole system.

The old man shrank from the sudden poignancy of her voice. "I think so, Sallie he returned. What he really thought he could not say.

"Ah!" She sank into the luxurious depth of the chair. "That is all I want, Doctor—just that he may remember me!" It is selfish, maybe, but I want it. I think I have done well by my other boys. Of course I can trust them not to forget! It is Peter whom I dread leaving. I must leave, you say?

him," the Dutch second-maid informed her.

Mrs. MacDonald frowned angrily. "Gertrude, call up at once and have Hedda bring Master Peter home—no, stay, tell Johnston to call for them.

The girl hesitated. "That Hedda, she said Mrs. von Hutten was crazy with tears."

Peter's mother dismissed the girl. "Never mind telling Johnston—I forgot."

How could she have forgotten? The von Hutten's little boy, their only child—the same age as Peter—had died of pneumonia but a few weeks previous, and since then Peter had been the mother's sole comfort.

It was impossible to break the chain that linked the two. But if Isabel knew that she could enjoy him for years when—

Peter's mother moved toward the telephone. Then the picture of Peter as consoler flashed through her mind and, half-laughing, half-crying, she turned away.

With hat and coat removed, Sallie MacDonald was startlingly thin. It was a thinness not of angularity, however, but almost ethereal. Her figure appealed to the observer as something to fly to, not for love and comfort, but for the masses of red hair gave color to the pale face; the black circles which lay beneath the dark-lashed blue eyes seemed but a reflection of the lashes themselves. There were no physical evidences of her illness except the lack of color in the dry lips.

A COLD

Settled On Her Lungs Causing Great Pain.

DR. WOOD'S Norway Pine Syrup.

Mrs. D. M. Pickering, St. Catharines, Ont., writes: "Having derived great benefit from Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, I thought I would write and tell you of my experience. When I first came out from England I contracted a severe cold, owing to the change of climate. It settled on my lungs, and caused me a great deal of pain. I tried every remedy I could think of, but got no relief. My father, who had heard a great deal about the good qualities of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, advised me to try it. I did so, and I am pleased to say, found immediate relief. I only took one bottle and it cured me completely. My mother had a severe cold also, and Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup cured her, so we never fail to keep a bottle of it in the house."

See that some of those so-called "pine syrups" are handed out to you when you go to your druggist or dealer and ask for "Dr. Wood's." It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three-pine trees the trade mark, price, 25c and 50c.

Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

"Keep Peter over night—oh, not now!" she answered involuntarily.

"Sallie!" you have everything—please!"

Sallie MacDonald's heart beat furiously. She had everything! Then came a vision of the joys awaiting her.

"All right, Isabel. Let me speak with him!"

A burst of eager laughter and the thud of a piece of furniture knocked over reached her straining ear.

"Muvver!"

"Darling have you missed mother?"

"I got a dog that says 'bow'!"

"But don't you want mother?" she insisted.

PALPITATION OF THE HEART.

Sudden fright or emotion may cause a momentary arrest of the heart, or some excitement or apprehension may set up a rapid action of the heart thereby causing palpitation.

Palpitation, again, is often the result of digestive disorders arising from the stomach, or may be the result of over-indulgence in tobacco or alcoholic drinks. The only way to regulate this serious heart trouble is to use Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Mrs. J. S. Nicholls, Listowel, Ont., writes: "I was weak and run down, my heart would palpitate and I would take weak and dizzy spells. A friend advised me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, so I started at once to use them, and found that I felt much stronger. I cannot praise your medicine too highly, for it has done me a world of good."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c per box, 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Christ and the Postulant

(By the Rev. Charles J. Quirk, S. J., in Ave Maria.)

What is the cost for him who follows Thee? A thorny crown and cross. But shall I gain no earthly victory Thy deeds by men spell loss. But will the crown and cross be ever mine? From early dawn is night. But shall I ever see the sun to shine? I am thy only light. Will happiness and peace steal o'er the heart? The peace of duty done. But with the world am I to have no part? No part till set of sun. So all my life I am crucified? Did not I die for thee? So I must suffer until glorified? Aye, this is victory.

With Banners Flying.

Mary H. Kennedy, in The Magraine.

Doctor Thornton's office faced a city park and from her place near one of the open windows Sallie MacDonald could see the budding trees, a few brave daffodils, and many crocuses. She could see, too, the happy crowd of small boys and girls, more or less attended by blue and white starched nurse maids, playing riotously childish games comprehensible only to themselves. She could hear the clamorous medley of their voices shouting a jargon to which they only possessed the key. Eager, tense, she leaned forward and watched. Was Peter there? But, no, Hedda never went to any other than the east end park. Particularly exclusive was Hedda. At the thought, her heavy, lidded blue eyes brightened and a tiny smile broke the set lines of the white lips. Doctor Thornton, sitting opposite her, noticed the change. "You are reconciled, Sallie?"
