

IMMIGRATION WORK AS CARRIED ON

W. D. Scott, superintendent of immigration, gave the Toronto Globe an interview a few days ago, outlining the purpose and the method of carrying on immigration work. He said: "There seems to be a misunderstanding on the part of The Globe as to the immigration policy of Canada. The policy of the open door is not the case, and at the time it was supported almost unanimously in parliament, in the press, and throughout the country. The attention of the people of the chief emigrating countries was thus drawn to Canada. But some years ago the government cannot recognize that with the continuance of aggressive immigration effort there must also be a measurable degree of restriction and exclusion. This idea was embodied in the terms of the immigration act of 1894, and has since been developed and enforced from time to time by such regulations under the provisions of that act as the circumstances seemed to require."

"The impression that the census system is responsible for the congestion of labor and the presence of undesirable in some countries of population is a fact. Canada is not wanted in any degree. There is and has been several years past an outflow of people from Europe to both the United States and Canada. The movement to the United States has not only not been discouraged by that country, but has been actively encouraged. But notwithstanding the requirement of an actual cash payment to enter the United States, and throughout a decided policy of exclusion, it was found that probably forty-five per cent of the million immigrants into the United States in 1907 were of the classes which in Canada today are deemed undesirable. It is clear, therefore, that the United States were not used to draw them to the United States, neither were bonuses needed to attract the same classes to Canada. The favorable conditions of the labor market in both countries up to the end of last summer were the real cause; and so long as those favorable conditions existed no objection was raised in either country. It was the change in the labor conditions which constituted a large part of this immigration undesirable, not any change in the character of the immigration itself. It was because the conditions, which were necessary for their well-being in Canada and the United States had ceased to exist that this class of immigrants had become undesirable. And for this change in the conditions the immigration policy of neither country was responsible."

Payment of Bonuses. "So far as the payment of bonuses by the Canadian government is concerned, these are not a means of encouraging only desirable immigrants, and in no sense can it be construed that they are a bribe administered, any assistance or inducement to the immigration of undesirable immigrants. Let me here make it thoroughly understood that assisted immigration is in no form a part of the immigration policy of the Dominion government. At no time since the government took office has any money been spent, directly or indirectly, to assist immigrants to come to Canada, except, of course, in the case of those who were regarded as a persecuted people and were the objects of Canadian sympathy. Owing to the struggles for liberty which were then taking place in Russia, the action of the government was at that time directed by all parties. The government's policy and expenditure are simply directed to attracting desirable immigrants, and no dollar is spent for publicity, but not a cent for assistance. The publicity campaign carried on in European countries included the circulation of printed matter setting forth Canadian conditions, advertising those conditions in the newspapers, the employment of sales agents, and the sending of delegates to the fairs of farmer delegates from Canada, and the payment of bonuses to book agents on the basis of the number of emigrants to Canada. In connection with the publicity campaign, it should be distinctly understood that the only classes which the department attempts to secure for immigration are those who are bona fide immigrants, whose bonus is paid are those who come to the country to engage in farm work or to take up a business, and not those who come to Canada as domestic servants. At no time for years past has there been a shortage of positions for bona fide farm work, and the scarcity of female domestics is so well known that I need say nothing in that connection. No only does the department not encourage immigrants of occupations other than those already mentioned, it actually warns such to remain away unless they have secured positions or sufficient money to maintain themselves until such time as work can be secured. It will thus be seen that the unemployed last winter were not those on whom bonuses had been paid, neither did they come to Canada on the inducement of the Government."

The ticket agent, of course, anxious to see as much transportation as he can, receiving from the transportation lines over which he sells a small commission on each ticket sold. He probably holds agencies for transportation to all parts of the world. The greater the commission he receives on the ticket, so the greater his eagerness to sell such tickets. On a ticket to Australia he would get a higher commission than on one to Canada, and consequently he could use any influence in favor of Australia it would naturally be used. But to look at it in the more intimate relation of the United States as a competitor, there is naturally a larger movement to the United States than to Canada, therefore it is easier to sell a ticket to the former country, the commission from the transportation companies is higher, and it is not in the interest of anyone that any person should land in Canada who is dependent upon his labor for his support, unless he either has work in sight, has friends upon whom he can depend, or has money in his pocket to enable him to find his way for a reasonable time. The booking agent still has the bonus to induce him to influence the particular class of workers Canada wants, but there is no inducement for him to prefer Canada to the United States in respect of the other classes. These people, together with the exclusion of assisted immigrants, unless approved by our agents in England, fairly policy at the present time, and give no warrant for the suggestion that it is the policy of the open door."

North Atlantic Co. Agreement

"Regarding immigration from the continent of Europe, the agreement between the North Atlantic Trading Company and the Dominion government, which expired on November 30th, 1906, was renewed for a period of two years. Under that agreement bonuses were payable on immigrants from certain countries only, namely, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Holland, Finland, Russia, Germany, Switzerland, and Austria-Hungary. During the years 1906, 1907, 1908 and the first half of 1909 bonuses were paid to the North Atlantic Trading Company on immigrants from northern Europe of the agricultural class, payment being actually made on seventy-two farm laborers and domestic servants. From November 30th, 1906, there was no bonus on continental immigrants, but in April, 1907, a regulation was made to provide for the same classes on the same classes upon which bonuses were payable in the British Isles. In January last this amount was increased to $5. The regulation also contained the provision that bonus was only to be paid on tickets sold to citizens of the country in which the booking agent operated, and, further, that the agent himself must have been selected by the Assistant Superintendent of Immigration in London. The purpose of this was to guard, as far as possible, against complications with the government of the several countries which were opposed to emigration. By paying bonuses to tickets sold by the government, the Canadian government was secured as to the character and responsibility of the person selling passages, and, on the other hand, the people emigrate is expected to be avoided."

European Immigration

"Booking agents have been selected in only the following countries: Norway, Denmark, Holland, Sweden, France and Finland. It will be observed that these do not include Austria-Hungary or Russia proper, but have been paid by the government of the country from which the people emigrate is expected to be avoided."

Depositing Undesirables

"There have been difficulties in carrying out the policy of the government in respect of undesirable immigrants. It was found that in the case of an undesirable coming from a country other than the United States, the country from which he came could not be required to receive him, and the transportation company, which had been paid for his passage, was not compelled to take him back to the country of his citizenship. So a regulation was passed in 1906, to the effect that, in the case of an undesirable arriving under such circumstances, this regulation was to be applied to the country of his citizenship. The net debt amount to $200,500,000, a decrease of a quarter of a million since February."

THE DEPARTMENT CAUGHT FRAUD

Immigration Agent Attempted to Work Graft But His Fraud Was Discovered.

Ottawa, April 10.—In the House this afternoon Mr. R. L. Borden, on a question of privilege, said the Victoria Times had reported him as having in the House expressed views in opposition to the idea of protection of white labor against Asiatic labor. He characterized the dispatch as being untrue.

On motion to go into committee of supply, H. C. Clarke (Cons.) of West Bank, brought up the case of Jas. S. Waugh, government immigration agent at Chatham, who billed the government for $12,282 of which he received $1,256 for placing immigrants as laborers on farms near West Bank. Waugh was paid for dollars for every immigrant placed, being paid the same for each member of family, so that on placing a family of husband, wife and six children on a farm, he received $16 commission.

Department Caught the Fraud

At the beginning of the year the immigration department, becoming suspicious, sent out circular letters to all farmers with whom Waugh claimed to have placed immigrants. During the last month of the year, Waugh was not placed on farms at all, but at railway work, road work, in factories, etc. In a large number of cases he had placed immigrants on farms, and the Canadian government was secured as to the character and responsibility of the person selling passages, and, on the other hand, the people emigrate is expected to be avoided."

Big Jump in Revenue

The finance department issued a financial statement for March, the month of the fiscal year, and figures will be subject to some corrections as the accounts will not be closed for about two months. In the statement the total disbursements stand at $93,218,927, and the total receipts so far have been $94,708,982. The net debt amount to $200,500,000, a decrease of a quarter of a million since February."

TIMBER LIMIT SALES

Ottawa, April 2.—The investigation into the sale of timber limits is now practically closed and the evidence will probably be reported to the House of Commons at an early date. The opposition have evidently closed their case, but at the last meeting of the public accounts committee, H. A. New Anglo-American Arbitration Treaty Takes Cognizance of Canada.

London, April 10.—The arbitration treaty between America and Great Britain, the text of which has been cabled over here, is well received. Politicians, particularly those inclined in colonial affairs, welcome the clause under which Great Britain reserves the right before concluding an agreement on any matter concerning a self-governing dominion, to obtain the concurrence therein of the Dominion. This clause, it is pointed out by colonial officials, is a tardy acknowledgment of the importance of the colonies and a wise departure from the old method of negotiating by the two governments conferred, consulting the interests of the colonies. There is also favorable comment on the provision that the treaty shall not be binding until they have been confirmed by the two governments in an exchange of notes. This clause is considered necessary in view of the time taken to submit American agreement to the Senate for ratification.
