CORK CITY EVACUATED.
LONDON, Aug. 10. The Central News reports that Ir-regular troops have evacuated Cork city. The report says that Victoria Hotel, military barracks, and the newspaper offices have been blown up.

THE BATTLE OF CORK.
LONDON, Aug. 10. The end of the war in Ireland is in sight and the fall of Cork is hourly expected, says a general headquarters bulletin from the Irish National Army troops recently landed near Cork; so says a despatch dated from Cork to the Evening News this afternoon. The troops numbering about one thousand, which were landed in the west passage at Young's and Union Hall are now within ten miles of Cork city adds the message. They are encountering stiff opposition and the battle is the biggest of the war on the island. In the opinion of observers, it may last several days. The Irregulars have a full squadron of cavalry to oppose the National's ad-vance.

FIRES IN CORK.
DUBLIN, Aug. 10. National forces entered the city of Cork today, according to an official statement here tonight. Patrick St. Victoria Hotel, military barracks, and newspaper offices are a flame, following dynamite explosions which blew up many buildings.

Episcopal Visitation to Stephenville Crossing.

His Lordship Bishop Renouf, ac-companied by Fr. DuBourdeau, paid his first official visit to the parish of Stephenville on the afternoon of the 2nd ult. At two p.m. he arrived at Stephenville Crossing, and was ac-corded a warm and loyal reception. The inhabitants of this settlement, in the past, so loyal to Church and State spared no effort in demonstrating their reverence and affection for him who visited them for the first time as their chief Pastor. Flags and stream-ers bearing appropriate mottoes gay-ly fluttered in the summer breeze singing their praises of welcome, a welcome reflected on the faces of all from the tiniest tot to the most aged. The pastor of the parish, Rev. Fr. Adams with his people received the Bishop at the entrance of the beau-tiful arch erected in front of the mis-sion chapel.

All being in readiness the Sacra-ment of Confirmation was admin-istered to forty candidates. In the presence of the largest congregation that had ever thronged the chapel. At the close of the ceremony the Bishop addressed them in words of fatherly wisdom, reminding them of the ob-ligations that henceforth were to be theirs, and exhorted them to always act as true soldiers of Christ, not only in youth, but in years to come when the duties of Catholic citizens would gradually devolve upon them. On leaving the church the Bishop and clergy were hospitably entertained at luncheon by Mrs. A. Nardin, after which the party proceeded by car-riage to Stephenville proper. The ill-effects of a dusty drive over a badly conditioned road were soon dispelled by the manifestations of welcome met with at all points through the town. The profuse display of bunting at every home, and the substantial arches were visible proof of the loyal feeling that surged within the hearts of these truly Catholic people.

Sunday, however, proved to be the red letter day in the annals of the parish. The inclement weather con-ditions of the early morning did not prevent a large congregation at all masses, and at the High Mass sung by the Pastor, the spacious church was filled by devout worshippers. In the afternoon the Sacrament of Con-firmation was administered to sev-enty-five children, and the prayers of their parents and numerous friends mingled with those of the Prelate, that having received the Holy Ghost in the impressionable age, these young soldiers may subsequently be-come fervent Catholics and conse-quently good citizens.

At its conclusion his Lordship ad-vanced to the Altar rails, and in fluent language exhorted the newly confir-med to ponder upon the fact that they are no longer children devoid of spiritual strength and without an ob-ject in life, but rather are in youth-ful soldiers with serious struggles to face, yet certain of final victory should they remain faithful to the leader in whose army they had been just en-dowed. This was followed by appro-priate words addressed to the adult members of the parish, who so unlit-erally took such pains to give their Bishop such a royal reception. Part-icular reference was made to the splendid condition of the parish in both the spiritual and material line, and special tributes of praise were offered to ponder upon the fact that they even though perform in his humility they caused him an uncomfortable moment. His Lordship felt, however, that one thing was required in our parish to secure best results, namely the refining influence of the Sister-hood, and he was pleased to announce that the near future would see the establishing of a Convent in Stephe-nsville. The religious functions of this important day were concluded, when Benediction of the most Blessed Sacrament was given by the Bishop as-sisted by the priests in attendance.

At eight in the evening a surprise awaited his Lordship when a squad of the Stephenville Cadets called at the honour of escorting him to the parish hall to attend a play produced by the Stephenville Dramatic Troupe in hon-our of the Episcopal visit. It is a mat-ter of tradition that the young people of the parish excel in the art of en-tertaining, and the success achieved in the singing of Kathleen Mavour-neen brought sincere meeds of praise to be added to the laurels gathered in the past.

The acting throughout was of a high order, hence to individualize would be but waste of space, yet an exception must be made in this case of the young lady who played the role of Kathleen. Her histrionic ability was given a severe test in the transi-tion from a simple country lass to a squire's lady, yet with a display of grace and talent somewhat unusual, she well accomplished her difficult task. Following the last curtain Mr. M. F. Hayes read an appropriate ad-dress of welcome on behalf of the parish, after which the pastor pre-sented the Bishop with the proceeds of the entertainment. His Lordship responded by thanking priest and peo-ple for this token of affection, and concluded by complimenting actors and all concerned for the splendid performance given in his honour. To the tune of a hearty send off from Fr. Adams, Bishop Renouf returned to St. George's on Monday.—Western Star, August 9.
